Boer Delegates Agree to Terms of Surrender

MESSAGE FROM THE KING

Hoping For Speedy Restoration of were made to the coincidence of the Prosperity In His New Dominions-England Taken by Surprise, but Quickly Begun Celebrating

London, June 2.-Peace has been declared after nearly two years and eight months of a war which tried the British empire to its uttermost and wiped out the Boers from the list of nations.

The war has come to an end with Lord Kitchener's announcement from Pretoria that he, Lord Milner and the Boer delegates had signed "terms of surender." This announcement had been anticipated for several days, but its receipt Sunday afternoon took the nation by surprise, as everybody had confidently believed that the house of commons would hear the first news today.

The edge of the anticipation with which Great Britain awaited the promsed statement in the house of comnons from Mr. Balfour, the government eader, was still further dulled by a message from King Edward to his people. The message, which was issued after midnight, follows:

"The king has received the welcome news of the cessation of hostilities in | churches, the national anthem was South Africa with infinite satisfaction and hs majesty trusts that peace may speedily be followed by the restoration of prosperity in his new dominions, and that the feelings necessarily engendered by war will give place to earnest cooperation on the part of his majesty's South African subjects in promoting the welfare of their common country. How greatly King Edward's insistence that peace in South Africa be secured prior to his coronation influenced the present agreement will probably never be known until the private memoirs of the present regime are given to the public. According to a dispatch to The Daily Express from Utrecht, Mr. Kruger, shortly after 9 o'clock last night, was informed that peace had been declared. Mr. Kruger had been asleep. When he was told the news, he said: "My God, it is impossible."

The news which Great Britain was so anxiously awaiting came characteristically on a peaceful and-uninteresting Sunday afternoon, when London presents a particularly dead and deserted appearance. Very late Saturday night a dispatch was received from Lord Kitchener, in which he said the Boer delegates were coming to Pretoria; that they had accepted Great Britain's terms and that they were prepared to sign terms of surrender.

War Secretary Brodrick communieated this message to King Edward, who was at Buckinham palace. But the government declined to take any chances, and nothing concerning the receipt of this message was allowed to

At about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon the war office received the following cablegram from the foreign office. It dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Saturday, May 31, 11:15 p.

"A document concerning terms of surrender was signed here this evening at half past 10 o'clock by all the Boer representatives as well as by Lord Milner and myself."

The clerk on duty at the war office transmitted this message to Buckingham palace, where King Edward was lunching. At about 5 o'clock word was received permitting the publication of this message, and the small notice which was stuck up outside the war office consisted of a copy of Lord Kitchener's cablegram. A similar notice was put up outside of the colonial office.

This expedition had been especially organized by United States of vegetation. From this point Hellprin Consul Ayme and Mr. Heilprin, and was led by the latter.

The expedition left Fort de France ast Thursday at noon. Friday was the site of Lake Palmiste, Heilprin spent in studying the newly formed raters on the north flank of the mountain. Saturday morning Heilprin determined to attempt the ascent to the op of the crater, and with this purpose n view he set out at 5 o'clock. The volcano was very active, but amid a thousand dangers Heilprin reached the | thinks this change probably occurred summit and looked down into the huge rater. Here he spent some time in taking careful observations. He saw a auge cinder cone in the centre of the crater. The opening of the crater itself is a vast crevice 500 feet long and 150 feet wide.

While Heilprin was on the summit of the volcano, several violent explosions of steam and cinder-laden vapor took place, and again and again his life was in danger. Ashes fell about him in such quantities, at times, as to completely obscure his vision. One particularly violent explosion of mud covered Heilprin from head to foot with the viscid and semi-solid matter thrown out. He still persisted in his study and observations, however, and twice more he was showered with mud. He learned that there were three separate vents through which steam issued. Full details of the professor's observations cannot be had until he returns to Fort de France.

Professor Heilprin's journey down the side of the mountain was fully as perilous as the ascent. Mt. Pelee seemed to resent the intrusion of a puny human being into her most awful precincts and belched out huge volumes of steam, ashes and boiling hot mud.

Professor Heilprin made the important discovery that the crater at the head of the River Fallaise has synchronous eruptions with the crater at the summit of the volcano, and that it efects precisely the same matter at such times. The River Fallaise crater and Fort de France, June 2.-The Na- the crater at the summit showed, dur-Mud was thrown up in high columns. > Mr. Clerc furnishes the following further details of Heilprin's ascent. Upon reaching found it to be completely dried up. He crossed the bed of the lake and concrater was a high bluff or shoulder. This the explorer found had fallen inward into the great crater, and he at the time of the great explosion of May 20. This is the first important topographic alteration in Mt. Pelee which has been noted and verified.

> Professor Heilprin arrived at the edge of the summit crater at 1:30 and remained there for over two hours. When he returned to Vive he resembled a statue of mud. The weight of ashes and mud he carried on his person, the horrible atmosphere he breathed and the fearful difficulties he encountered reduced him to a condition of extreme fatigue, notwithstanding the fact that he ascended Mt. Pelee from the most accessible and easiest side. Heilprin will return to Fort de France as soon as he has sufficiently recovered to

Critical Point In Anthracite Coal Miners' Strike Is Reached

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 2 .- At 7 'clock this morning the order of the United Mine Workers of America, calling out all the stationary engineers, Gremen and pumpmen, unless the companies grant them an 8-hour day at present wages, went into effect, and no one can fortell the outcome of the new move. Farms to Be Restocked at Cost of $15,000,000 -Self-Government as Soon as Possible-Prisoners to Be Released and Rifles Returned

London, June 3 .- Judging from the opinions thus far given out by public men and from the editorial articles which have appeared in the London newspapers, the terms of peace appear to meet with approval from all sides, but the extremists of both the jingo and the pro-Boer parties find something to

The first lord of the treasury and government leader, A. J. Balfour, arose at reported. 2:40 p. m. in the house of commons yesterday and announced the terms of peace in South Africa, as follows:

The burgher forces lay down their arms and hand over all their rifles, guns and ammunition of war in their possession or under their control.

All prisoners are to be brought back as soon as possible to South Africa, without loss of liberty or property. No actions to be taken against prisoners, except where they are guilty of breaches of the rules of war.

Dutch is to be taught in the schools, if desired by the parents, and used in the courts, if necessary.

Rifles are allowed for protection. Military occupation is to be withdrawn as soon as possible, and selfgovernment substituted. There is to be no tax on the Transvaal to pay the cost of the war. The sum of $15,000,000 is to be provided for restocking the Boer farms. Rebels are liable to trial, according to the law of the colony to which they belong. The rank and file will be dis-franchised for life. The death penalty will not be inflicted.

A parliamentary paper, issued last evening, gives the correspondence preceding the peace agreement. From this it appears that General Schalk-Burger, acting president of the Transvaal, informed Lord Kitchener March 12 that he was prepared to make peace proposals. A month later the Boer delegates submitted propositions. On April 13, War Secretary Brodrick refused to entertain any propositions based on the independence of the re-

Subsequently President Stevn of the Orange Free State and Generals Schalk-Burger and Botha declared that the surrender of independence must be submitted to the burghers in the field. The British government expressed surprise at this attitude, but announced its willingness to accept the Boers' surrender on the same terms that Lord is ended, unvarying regret is expressed Kitchener had previously offered General Botha, and to give facilities for a has been learned that the British govconsultation of the Boer commanders. On May 17 General Schalk-Burger and Mr. Steyn informed Lord Kitchener that the burghers assembled at Vereeniging had empowered a commission to negotiate peace terms, subject to ratification at Vereeniging. Lord Milner, Lord Kitchener and the Boer commission met May 19. The latter offered to surrender the independence of the republics, as regards foreign relations; to surrender part of their territory and retain self-government under British supervision. These proposals were forthwith rejected.

The same day Lord Milner, General Smuts and Judge Hertzog drew up a form of agreement, to be submitted to the conference at Vereeniging for a yes or no vote. This was very similar to the final agreement and, with few alterations, was approved by Mr. Chamberlain, who, in giving notice of his approval, told Lord Milner he must inform the Boers that unless it was accepted within a fixed limit of time the conference would be considered ended and his majesty's government would declarations. The Boers asked to be allowed until Saturday night to give an answer and the result was seen in the termination of the war.

The last message of Lord Milner to Mr. Chamberlain, June 1, after the signature of the peace agreement, mentions that Mr. Steyn's name was omitted from the signatures because he was too ill to come up to Pretoria, adding that he had already taken his

After the first riot call, disturbances broke out over all the district bordering on the river and the northwest portion of the city. ## Keith's, Theatre.

Tremont Theatre.

The crowded and enthusiastic audiences that egardless of weather conditions, are attending the performances of "Prince of Pisen" at the Tremont theatre, furnish the best of evidence of the most important addititions to the musical comedy stage recorded in many seasons, and there is reason to accore them the first prize for excellence in their particular line of endeavor as against every other combination of genius known to the American stage. Mr. Pixley's admirable lyrics stand out conspicuously in the new piece, as well as his never-failing wit. Each of the numbers deals sensibly with the story, without losing poetic charm. Of Mr. Luder's music, it need only be stated that new lustre has been added to his name by every number in the piece. There are few, if any, of these catchy gems that will not readily find heir way to the street organs and the lips of the whistlers, and no greater tribute could be the direction of the attorney's office paid to the genius of a creator of this class of melody. For Action on Cuba and Canal at This Session

HE DISCUSSES LEGISLATION

With Senators Invited to White House Conference-Those Opposed to Cuban Concessions Offer Rebate Plan as a Compromise

Washington, June 3.-Senators Proctor, Nelson, Gamble and Kittredge called at the White House yesterday on invitation, and had a conference with the president in regard to pending legislation. The subjects discussed were the Cuban reciprocity bill and the prospects for canal legislation at this session. The object of the conference was to urge upon the senators the necessity for unanimity of action and the real necessity for legislation on these subjects at this session. Another conference was held last evening at the White House with other senators in the hope that the members of the senate can be got together on these matters and legislation speedily enacted. As to the canal bill, it is known that the president would reluctantly accept the responsibility imposed by the Spooner amendment, of selecting a route, but he would much prefer that congress select the route itself.

The president sent for senators who have been known in opposition to granting concessions on the ground that it will seriously iterfere with the beetsugar interests of the country. He urged upon these senators the importance of united action, if possible, and expressed the hope that the Republicans would act together. The president again assured these Republicans that in urging action on reciprocity he was carrying out the announcement of President McKinley uttered in his last speech, which had met with such popular approval throughout the country, also the promises that had been made concerning concessions to Cuba. The president indicated that the adoption of the Platt amendment made it obligatory upon the United States to treat Cuba differently from other

In one casual remark he said that events may show that it would have been better to allow Cuba to be absolutely independent as was Mexico. He told these Republican senators that the | was shipped away in the much-wanted party ought not to be divided on tariff | trunk issues, as it was entering the campaign, and he expressed the hope that a Cuban bill would be passed without the aid of Democrat votes. One result of the conferences held at the White House was a meeting in the committee room of Senator Elkins, where those senators who are opposed to granting concessions to Cuba, or who oppose the straight reduction plan of the majority, assembled to consider different propositions. Eighteen Republican senators attended the conference of those repre-Fairfield, Me., June 3.-The body of senting the beet sugar interests. The general sentiment was in favor of feating any proposition for Cuban reciprocity It was stated that the senators in conference were opposed to any tariff changes, especially of the piecemeal character, but that if any changes were to be made they thought that the whole tariff should be revised. It was determined that the utmost concession to be granted should be in the way of a rebate turned over to the Cuban treasury to be disposed of as the Cuban government thought desirable. This rebate, to be either 20, 25 or 30 percent of the duties collected on Cuban products, it was stated, was offered simply as a compromise by those who were opposed to Cuban concessions. The conference selected Senators Burrows, Jones of Nevada and Dietrich to confer with members of the committee on relations with Cuba and inform them of the attitude of the senators who participated in conference. The president last night discussed with senators in detail the outlook for Cuban reciprocity and especially the stand taken by the conference of senators which met in Senator Elkins' room. The senators expressed the opinion that the plan which the Elkins conference offers as a compromise will not meet the requirements of the situation. Continued efforts will be made to unite the Republicans of the senate on the Spooner plan or a 20 percent reduction for five years, with power given the president to annul the concession if it cough be found that it goes to any persons other than the Cuban sugar growers and

The places were immediately filled and among the new officers are three Watch and Ward men. # CHARGED THE CROWDS

Chicago Police Used Their Clubs Indiscriminately

MANY SENT TO HOSPITALS

As a Result of Rioting Growing Out of the Teamsters' Strike-Numerous Clashes With Crowds of Sufficient Proportion to Block Street Cars

Chicago, June 4.-Chicago's police were given a strenuous life yesterday by the striking packing house teamsters. From daylight until long after dark the bluecoats were kept busy dispersing trouble-makers, who congregated along the streets and in every conceivable manner placed obstacles in the way of the meat dealers who endeavored to move their supply wagons with non-union drivers.

In spite of the striking teamsters and their friends 33 wagon loads of meat were delivered from the stock yards to down town stations. Before the task was accomplished, however, a score of policemen and rioters had been injured and fully 50 persons had been placed under arrest. Several of the injured were in such a serious condition that they were taken to hospitals. Two of the injured may die.

When the procession of wagons left the packing district they were guarded by a heavy detail of police. As soon as the wagons emerged at the entrance of the yards fully 500 enraged strike sympathizers made a rush to overturn the conveyances

The policemen drew clubs and after a hard struggle succeeded in scattering the mob. A fresh start was made, but before the wagons reached the down town district the mob, augmented by hundreds of sympathizers, made another attack. In the fight that followed shot, the police instead using their clubs indiscriminately, and a dozen or more people were hurt before the march could be resumed.

When the central portion of the city was reached clashes between the police and the crowd became numerous. Street car traffic was an impossibility and it was necessary for several squads of police to charge the crowd with batons before the wagons had reached the various down town houses.

To add to the burdens of the police department, 1300 drivers and their helpers employed by the State street gen eral retail merchandise department stores went on strike yesterday. An attempt was made to deliver "department store" goods in the down town district in the afternoon with nonunion drivers under police protection, but so much disorder developed that the attempt proved futile. Before the project was abandoned several rioters were hurt and many arrests had been made.

An attempt by the Fair store management to deliver goods in the afternoon after their drivers and teamsters had struck resulted in a riot, several injured heads and bodies, a number of arrests and finally the failure of the project. Bricks and stones were the weapons used by the crowd and the missiles were thrown with such effect that after the fight was over dozens of big show windows in adjoining stores were shattered. In the attack which the police made upon the crowd a dozen men were severely injured by the police. Several of the strike partisans

An attack made last night on William Kiser, a non-union teamster, resulted in a small riot in which several shots were fired. Kiser claims he fired the shots in self-defense. More Engineers, Firemen and Pump Runners Join the Strikers Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 4 .- There were no developments or incidents of special mention in the authracite coal miners' strike yesterday. The mine workers tried hard to bring out additional engineers, firemen and pump runners, and the companies were equally earnest in their efforts to hold the employes that have been loyal to them. The union succeeded in getting out quite a number of men and the labor leaders assert that they are satis-

One or two collieries were compelled to shut down their pumps because of a lack of men, but in all other cases the operators were able to fill the vacancies by drawing on their reserve force of office and other employes. The mine owners claim that thus far they have employed a very few non-union |

In nearly every colliery temporary living quarters have been provided for those employed who do not care to leave the place. Colored cooks are being brought into the region to provide for the men.

BOSTON'S BEEF SUPPLY a Fifty Percent Below the Normal and May Be Further Reduced

Boston, June 4.-Local agents of the big packing companies are watching the developments in the teamsters' strike in Chicago, because if it spreads according to the program of the strike leaders it may affect the shipment of beef, which already is very small. Chi- FORTY-EIGHT TO THIRTY cago is a beef centre, and if its butchers can be drawn into a fight the whole country may feel the results. One of the Boston agents says that the amount of beef shipped to this city has fallen off 50 percent from the normal. This statement is partially supported by the statistics prepared by the Chamber of

The retail business is dull. It is elearly evident that a large proportion of the people is trying to get along with as little meat as possible. Wholesale prices went down last week $1 per 100 pounds, but rose again this week about one-half of that. The agents are figuring on 11 cents a pound for the whole beef, and what they lose on a slight reduction on forequarter beef they make up on the higher-priced cuts. Forequarters are selling at 91/2 cents a pound. Last week they were 9 cents, but a week earlier they were 10 cents. This variation is so slight, however, that it makes little difference in the re-

Providence Street Car Men Strike Providence, June 4 .- A strike of the notormen and conductors on the United Traction company's system in this city and vicinity was begun this morning, as an answer to the company's refusal to adopt a uniform schedule of hours and wages. The strike was ordered at a meeting of the union . 2 o'clock. It is expected that 700 of the 1000 employes of the company will obey the order, resulting in a fairly general tie up of street car traffic during the day. The demand of the men was made yesterday afternoon.

Three Accidents Result Fatally Boston, June 4 .- Three fatalities re sulted here last night from accidents that occurred during the day. Mrs. John McElhenney 40, was cleaning a bed with naphtha when the fluid was ignited and the woman was terribly burned. Frank W. Hewett, a carpenter, fell from the fifth-story of a building on which he was working and broke nearly every bone in his body. Mrs. jumped from the roof of her home and was frightfully hurt. She had been ill and had threatened to take her life. Worth $9000, Yet Lived In Poverty Boston, June 4 .- When Bridget | Malted Vinegar, Lawler died at the city hospital last week it was supposed that she had been White Wine Vinegar, week it was supposed that she had been in absolute poverty. For the last four years, although over 60 years of age, she lived in an attic room, without a fire, without any regular meals, without taking off her clothes at night, without saying a kind word to any one, and professing all the time to be in the most abject poverty. In an old trunk in her room five bank books have been found, representing nearly $9000.

Coal Prices Again Advanced Boston, June 4.-The retail prices of coal in Boston have again been advanced 50 cents a ton, taking effect vesterday. The Quantity Small But Hopes of Many Are Raised.

Gold quartz found in Quincy! Just think of it! To be sure, but a small quantity has been found up to the present time, and the exact spot where the valuable mineral was unearthed is not known. He is foreman for the National Construction Company which is building sections of the Metropolitan sewer. Reeves is his name, and the piece of quartz he found was in a pile of gravel that had been excavated off Adams street. Just where that particular gravel came from he does not know, but thinks it came from the excavation on the Brackett estate, or it may have come from the excavation along the railroad track. Mr. Reeves was walking by and saw For the second time, Tuesday Miss the gold glisten. It might he a good idea for Badger Bros. to put the Elliot machine, in which so many citizens invested, in order, and set it to work on that pile of gravel. It might prove its worth and pay the stockholders a dividend.

However, it is a fact that Mr. Reeves found a piece of quartz with gold in it and the gravel came from somewhere

The man who asked for that ride has told the police that he is positive the driver of the wagon was Blondin. He further states that there was a

The Blondins had three trunks and a tool chest. These have all been accounted for except one yellow covered trunk. This was traced to the North Union station and from there was sent to Lexington. There is no record, however, to show that it was received there. Lexington is directly on the carriage road to Lowell and the police claim that Blondin got the trunk there and carted it to Chelmsford.

The officers engaged upon the case say there is still a question whether Blendin shall be tried in Suffell or in Middlesex county, but in the light of the new developments it is claimed that there is no question but that the trial will take place in Boston.

Many Victims of Riots In Chicago's Streets

POLICE FAIRLY WORN OUT

Unable to Resist Shower of Missiles Hurled at Non-Union Teamsters and Themselves-Packers and Teamsters May Reach a Compromise Today

covered with dust and blood, many of them barely able from exhaustion to hold the reins in their hands, 36 meat wagons entered the main gate of the Union stock yards last night, amid a shower of stones, bricks, bottles and sticks. The wagons, guarded by five police wagons filled with bluecoats and two omnibuses, crowded to the fullest capacity with policemen, were on the return from a delivery of supplies to down town provision houses, after one of the fiercest days in the strike of the beef packers' teamsters.

Many of the drivers, who are officials at the packing houses, were cut and bruised from head to foot. The police were in even worse condition.

The wagon drivers had been working from 5 o'clock in the morning and their progress from the stock yards into the city's business district and back again had been contested bitterly by mobs of strike sympathizers. At the very entrance of the stock yards last night, after all seeming danger had passed, George June, an employe of the Anglo-American Packing company, was struck by a baseball bat and knocked from his wagon seat. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and may die from his injuries. Many others were struck at the same time by a shower of stones. but the police were too worn cut to offer resistance.

More than a dozen battles were fought during the day between the rioters and the ponce, and the nospitals are over crowded with the injured.

The fiercest battle on the day took place at Sixteenth street and Michigan avenue. The rioters stood on the viaduct and hurled rocks at the meat wagons passing underneath. The throng was the most formidable in crowds that gathered during the day. Before this mob could be dispersed the police were compelled to use revolvers More than 50 shots were fired, the bullets passing over the heads of the crowd, which finally became frightened and scattered, but not until many of the rioters and policemen had suffered serious injuries

A conference was held last night be ween representatives of the packers and teamsters, looking to a settlement of the strike. Chairman Job of the state board of arbitration brought about the meeting. A settlement of the strike of the drivers of delivery wagons of the retail State street department stores earlier in the day formed the basis on which the opposing elements hoped to effect a compromise.

After four hours of consultation in which the question of recognition of the union was thoroughly discussed, an agreement regarding wages and hours was decided on. The representatives of the packers conceded the de mands of the strikers on these two ques tions, but were obdurate in their refusal to recognize the strikers' union. It is believed that a compression way he believed that a compromise may be reached today.

After 30 hours, during which the delivery of goods from the big down town stores was stopped, the strike of the Department Store Delivery Drivers' union, affecting 1300 men, was settled at a conference held yesterday afternoon. The demands of the men in regard to wages were granted and the stores agreed not to discriminate against union men and to furnish uniform coats and caps when required. The agreement was brought about largely through the efforts of Chairman Job of the state board of arbitration. The men have returned to work.

THE ANTHRACITE STRIKE More Union Men Quit Work, but

Many Places Are Filled Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 5.-More engineers, firemen and pump runners obeyed the call of the Miners' union and struck yesterday, but in most instances the coal company officials were able to fill the places of the strikers. The Susquehanna Coal company's colliery at Naticoke was the worst sufferer, all the firemen refusing to go to work, which compelled the company to shut down the engines. This colliery furnished the power for the water supply of Nanticoke and unless the engines are again started the borough will have a water famine to contend

There was the usual gathering of crowds at the several collieries at starting and stopping time yesterday, but nothing of a serious nature occurred. The fear of bodily harm is causing more men to quit work than are the arguments of the strikers.

The strike was declared because of the refusal of the traction company to grant the demands of the men for a 10-hour day and against Lieutenant F. P. As to Leakage of Documents In War Department

STATEMENTS IN SENATE

Thought to Have Been Based Upon Report Furnished by Miles, Who May Be Retired If He Is Found to Be Responsible In the Matter

Washington, June 5 .-- An investigation is now in progress at the war department to determine if possible who was responsible for the publication through Senator Culberson of the letter of Andrew K. Weir and the report of Captain P. W. West.

In the debate on the Philippines on Tuesday Mr. Culberson intimated that the war department was endeavoring to suppress information concerning mat ters in the Philippines. He then presented the charges of Private Wier the report thereon by Captain West, alleging cruelties against Filipinos.

Mr. Culberson, when taxed by Sen ator Beveridge with having received the documents from General Miles, declined to answer. A long time later he made the voluntary statement, with great care in the choice of his phrases, that the papers had not come to him directly and, as far as he knew, not indirectly, from General Miles. All this may be true, and yet the opinion widely entertained at the war department and among army officers, that General Miles was responsible for the papers becoming public, is not refuted by it.

The facts, as nearly as they can be as ertained, are that the papers passed in this country through only four sets of hands, those at army headuarquers, the judge advocate general's, the adjutant general's and the secretary of war's. As the judge advocate general would naturally be the officer most concerned, there is no reason to suppose that he would have let them out if they contained anything which might be the basis of a court martial: the secretary and the adjutant general are the officers who would suffer all the blame if the delay of the department in acting had done any harm, so that they are not suspected.

Taking Tuesday's disclosures as a sequel to the premature publication of the rejection of Miles' proposal to go to the Philippines and end the war, there is a widespread disposition to hold him accountable, either directly or indirectly, for the leakage of copies of the papers while passing through his office. It is understood that the originals are now, and have been for some time in the Philippines, where the charges are under investigation. Positive information on this point is not obtainable, as Secretary Root is absent in New York. The complaint of the leakage is not on account of the contents of the papers, for others equally damaging have been sent voluntarily to the Philippines committee of the senate. What is deemed so reprehensible is the manner of the disclosure, as such papers are considered confidential until released by the secretary.

If the report of the investigation at the department convicts General Miles of any responsibility in the premises, there is no question that the president will order his retirement instanter, and the syndicate of senators who stood Drake. sponsor for him a while back when his place was in danger will be discharged from further liability for their trust.

Wood Had Extra Salary Washington, June 5 .- The report of the military committee against the reso lution calling for an itemized account of the expenditures of Cuba says that previous reports to congress have shown that the secretary of war had made an allowance of additional salary to the governor general of Cuba of $15,000 per annum and that the salary was continued until the close of our occupation; that $50,000 has been spent in getting up these itemized accounts to April 30, 1900, and that a large force is now engaged in bringing the report down to the date of our departure from the island. Under these circumstances the report says, the proposed resolution would be in the nature of an attack on the administration and the war department.

The action of the Legislature pro and con on the Luce bill for direct nominations is keeping the local politicians a guessing. The experiment is one, however, that voters generally would like to try. ;

Inasmuch as the four playgrounds are in the north, east, south and west of the city, the suggestions of North fields, East fields, and South fields and West fields for names would be appropriate and readily distinguished.

The legislation for the widening of the approach into Washington street at its junction with Hancock street was we expect to see a grand transformation scene in a few days. The slowly learned and difficult art of self-government, an art which our people have taught themselves by the labor of a thousand years, cannot be grasped in a day by a people just emerging from conditions of life which our ancestors left behind them in the dim years before history dawned. We believe that we can rapidly teach the people of the Philippine Islands not only how to enjoy but how to make good use of their freedom; and with their growing knowledge, their growth in self-government shall keep steady pace. When they have thus shown their capacity for real freedom by their power of self-government, then, and not till then, will it be possible to decide whether they are to exist independently of us or to be knit to us by ties of common friendship and interest .- President Roosevelt in Memorial day address.

Enabled Professor Heilprin to Witness Nature's Secret Interior Work-Period of Violent Eruptions Probably Passed-Scientific Facts

Fort de France, June 5.-Professor Heilprin, president of the Philadelphia Geographical society, who is here for the National Geographical society, has returned from his explorations of the crater on the summit of Mt. Pelee. The following important points have been settled by Professor Heilprin:

The location of the new crater has been accurately determined; it is positively known that there has been no overflow of molten matter from the lip of the crater; there has been no subsidence of the mountain and the height of Mt. Pelee is unchanged; the crater does not contain a cinder cone; there has been no cataclysm and no topographical alteration of the country. The period of violent eruptions has probably ended, although the volcano may continue to be quietly active for a long time to come

Referring to his expedition, Professor Heilprin, after detailing the perils of the ascent of Mt. Pelee on May 31, gave the following story of the second ascent, with George Kennan, on June 1:

"The ascent made with Mr. Kennan the one I had previously made with Mr. Leadbetter. The day was intensely hot and it was raining. When we reached the old crater it was again enveloped in vapor. The temperacourt at Jefferson City has overruled ture of the basin of Lake Palmiste, taken three inches below the surface rected a writ of ouster to issue against | see the new crater. Suddenly the vapor cleared away and we made a dash forward. We reached the edge of the new crater, and from where we stood we could have dropped stones into the white-hot mass within. The new crater is a crevasse running north and south, and expanding into a bowl. This crevasse nearly rifted the mountain; it

"As we stood on the edge of the crater lantic service, which shall be entirely a sublime spectacle began. I now have British owned. We were assailed with noise; far below there was a hissing of the mousand locomotives, as well as violent detonations.

"The principle output of the crater, while we were there, was steam. The phenomena were limited and were not for sheriff. The last ballot stood the lease of Great Britain from her en- volcanoes in action. Positive assuressentially different from those of other | same as the first one: Rev. C. S. Several observations taken with the aneroid barometer showed that the height of Mt. Pelee had not been changed. I agree with Professor Hill that Mt. Pelee has erupted no lava, and that there has been no cataclysm nor any serious topographical alterations. No cinder cone was visible in the crater: what was taken for a cone is a pile of ejected rocks. Perhaps the bottom of the new crater may contain a cinder cone, but we could see down only about 150 to 200 feet. I believe, however, that the crater is very much deeper New York, June 5.-The American | than this. I do not know the exact materials of which the pile of rocks in the centre of the crater is composed, but it seems to be matter which has been ejected from the crevasse. I think Mt. Pelee has freed itself from the interior pressure and the volcano is not liable to further violent eruption. It is not safe, however, to make predictions about volcanoes. "The eruption of Mt. Pelee of May 8 was unique in that it resulted in the greatest destruction of life and property ever known by direct agency of a volcano. The phenomenon of the explosion of flaming gases is probably new, but a careful study of observations is necessary before an opinion can be reached. The electrical phenomena are also new. They probably did not play the chief role in the destruction of St. Pierre, but were developed by and aided the other forces. I have specimens which show the effect of the bolts of lightning. The latter were small and intense and penetrated within the houses of the city. For rapidity of action and for lives destroyed, Mt. Pelee holds the record among volcanoes.'

How Liquor Business Was Carried on at Portland

PLUMMER'S CASE COMES UP

Witness Ford Tells of Bribery Dealings With the Deputy Sheriff-Leach Is Missing-False Testimony Given Before Grand Jury

Portland, Me., June 6.-The testimony presented by the prosecution yesterday at the preliminary hearing in the case of Charles A. Plummer, one of Sheriff Pearson's liquor deputies, charged with accepting money for proection of liquor dealers, was even more ensational than had been expected.

The courtroom was crowded. The most prominent absentee was ex-Deputy Leach, who recently confessed to having accepted money from liquor dealers and who was expected to be a witness. Leach left the city Sunday and has not been seen since. Deputy Plummer was represented by ex-Judge Foster, County Attorney Whitehouse represented the prosecution, and John F. A. Merrill was present as counsel for Ford. Plummer pleaded not guilty.

The star witness of the day was Frank D. Ford, who furnished the county attorney with evidence which led to Plummer's arrest. He occupied the stand for nearly the entire day and deputy for the protection of his place and as treasurer of a pool of liquor dealers for the protection of their he said, he was permitted to sell liquor without being molested by the depu-

During the cross-examination Ford stated that during the "protected" period he sold on an average of four or five barrels of beer a day at retail. in a single day. His gross receipts for retail business amounted to between $50 and $60 a day and wholesale $750 a month. He employed four bartenders, he said, and had seen his barroom so crowded that it was almost impossible to move. "At that time," said Ford, "you could not buy a drink anywhere else in Portland."

Ford arranged a "deal" with Plum mer for protection of his saloon soon SHOW after the latter was appointed, he said, and made regular payments. About March 1, 1901, consented to include John A. Feeney and W. H. Farrell to sell only hard liquor for $15 a month each. Feeney and Farrell made their first payments about Sept. 1. Ford suggested that others be let in, but Plummer did not want to take the chance on any more saloons, though he agreed to let in a few drug stores and hotels. So William F. Stone, a druggist; Charles S. Swett, James A. Sullivan and Thomas J. Cronin, hotel proprietors, and Michael J. Callahan, local agent for the Portland and Portsmouth Express company, began making payments to the deputy. Ford said Plummer frequently came to his place and played pool in a room directly over the barroom where liquor was being sold.

Judge Foster, counsel for Plummer, attempted to draw an admission from Ford that he bad offered an official $1 or $1.50 per barrel for permission to sell beer in this city, explaining that he wished to discredit a statement made by the witness that he had paid Plummer a commission of only 30 cents a barrel, but the county attorney ob-

When Callahan admitted on cross-examination that the testi nony he gave before the grand jury was false, Judge Foster made a motion that Callahan be arrested on a charge of perjury. The motion was denied.

THE COST OF WAR

England's Dead and Permanently Incapacitated Men Number 28,434 London, June 6.-An official statement issued by the war office last evening shows that the total reduction of the British forces in South Africa, up to May 30 of the present year, was 97,477. This includes killed, wounded, prisoners, deaths from disease and men invalided home. Of these many have recovered and rejoined their regiments, leaving 28,434 dead or permanently incapacitated. The total number of troops killed in action, or who died of wounds, is 7792, while the total number of deaths from disease is 13,250.

In a dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Pretoria, Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent, expresses the opinion that if the British authorities display tact and forbearance, the reconciliation of the Boers will not prove difficult. "Lord Kitchener's admirable conduct of the negotiations," says Mr. Burleigh, "has done much to create and encourage a spirit of mutual trust and friendliness. I have talked with many of the Boer leaders. They all assured me that they had submitted in good faith and that with tolerant administration Great Britain could hereafter depend upon the loyalty and fidelity of the Boers."

All British columns have been ordered to "stand fast" until the surrenders of the Boers are completed.

A REIGN OF VIOLENCE In Connection With Street Railway

Providence, June 6.-Rioting mobs of thousands hooted and jeered at the At officers and passengers of passing cars, hurled missiles of every description through windows, cut trolley ropes and otherwise defaced with knives the interior fittings of cars here last night. All the officers from the suburban stations were brought to the scene of ac tion in the centre of this city, and reserves were finally called out. Club were used freely in half a dozen individual riots, mounted men charged the crowds, and 25 arrests were made in

Strike at Providence

The crowds grew to such proportions that in the early evening all cars in the city proper were removed as a matter of precaution and until morning none of the traction company's equipment was in operation.

the many fruitless attempts to preserve

The initial cause of the disturbance was the parade of about 350 striking conductors and motormen. The line of march led them up Westminster street, where a crowd soon gathered. Motorman and conductors on the cars which followed were hissed and jeered at until a blockade gave opportunity for a demonstration.

There was instant response. The trolley was pulled off, missiles soon filled the air and for half an hour thousands shouted themselves hoarse. The police were unable to gain the mastery until a number of arrests were made, which started the crowd in another direction. A series of similar outbreaks followed, which grew so serious that all the available police in the city, together with reserves, were called into the business section where the trouble was in progress. In the various combined mobs there were about 20,000

Towards midnight the excitement quieted and the crowd dispersed, the absence of cars eliminating the chief cause of irritation.

The suburban lines in some directions were badly crippled for want of men, but no violence was offered elsewhere during the day.

No Discrimination to Be Made Against Unions, but Wages Are Two Cents Lower Than the Scale Demanded-Providence Teamsters Give Up

Chicago, June 6.—The packing house

teamsters' strike, which has disturbed the peace of the city for nearly two weeks and which on Wednesday caused the most serious rioting that has occurred since the American Railway union strike in 1894, came to an end yesterday as the result of a conference between representatives of the packers and the teamsters. The agree ment reached at the conference is a partial victory for the teamsters, in that the packers have declared that they will not discriminate against members of the union. The scale agreed upon is 2 cents lower than that demanded by the men. It is as follows:

Cart drivers, 18 cents an hour; single wagon, 20 cents; two-horse, 221/2 cents; four-horse, 271/2 cents; six-horse, 30 cents. The men are to be paid full time from the time of leaving the barn until they return, with a deduction of half an hour for luncheon. They will not be required to work on Labor day.

Five hundred teamsters assembled at Corcoran hall and ratified unanimously the agreement made between their representatives and the packers. The utinost harmony prevailed, the occasion assuming the character of a jollification over the settlement of the

The meeting lasted over two hours, much of the time being taken up in waiting for laggards to arrive. As was noticeable among the police, there were numerous bandages and plasters on faces otherwise peaceful.

The agreement was read to them and was greeted with cheers. The concessions made to the packers were ex- | special car attached to a Lehigh Valley plained and the explanation was aptrain. As the men passed out of the hall, a auge van carrying meat and driven by a clerk rumbled past. The men cheered again-cheering a man who, the day before, would have found a far different reception at their hands. The driver answered with a wave of the hand and the truck lumbered on, typical of the peace of a city where but 24 hours be-

Scrimmages In Anthracite Region Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 6.-Yesterday was an uneventful day in the anthracite coal miners' strike and probably the quietest since the engineers, iremen and pumpmen were called out last Monday. There were several scrimmages in several parts of the Wyoming valley, in which workmen who refused to desert the companies generally got the worst of it. No one was seriously hurt. The work of the niners' pickets and the stoning by boys and young men is having its effect. Each day a fewer number of men leave their homes for the mines, fearing they may not again get home alive.

Trouble In Soft Coal Regions

Roanoke, Va., June 6.-From present indications it is believed here that the general strike among the soft coal niners of Virginia and West Virginia which has been scheduled for next Saturday will go into effect and that practically all the fields will be tied up on that day. W. R. Sheets, a purchasing agent, says that the trouble is being brought about by men from the anthracite regions who wish to tie up the soft coal mines and hasten the end of the anthracite strike.

After Five Weeks' Idleness

Providence, June 6.-After having waged a struggle for five weeks to the limit of their resources, the 1200 striking teamsters in this city yesterday concluded to return to work. In thus submitting they withdraw their entire slate of demands for recognition of the union, increase in pay, and a regulation and rearrangement of hours, and agree to return to their former positions on the terms of the master teams

A survey of the field for a Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor by the Herald, places Quincy in the Myers column rather than with Gen. Guild, but admits it will be close. It is not the old contest of Bates vs. Guild where many Quincy voters found it difficult to decide between the two. Gen. Guild is better known in Quincy than Speaker Myers and very favorably known, and a majority probably regard Bates and Guild as an ideal ticket for the Republicans this year.

The New England conference of American Methodist churches showed better judgment than some of the other gatherings of ministers of late, who have denounced the government relative to the Philippines without a good knowledge affairs. It is easy to criticise but too often unjustly. The Methodists give President Roosevelt the credit of being honest in his purpose, and believe that the government should not be condemned because of exceptional cases of barbarities. Bishop W. B. Contemporaries are saying some nice things about the Boers at this time, and are suggesting that the men of the conquered nation come and make their home with the American people. The idea is not a bad one, This land of the refuge of the oppressed and of those who desire liberty, and none of the oppressed lovers of liberty of recent time has made such an impression on the American people, generally speaking, as have the South African warriors. Ex-Congressman Atwood's position is a trifle uncertain. His political enemies predict he will enter the fight but Atwood has not yet made any habit has been developed in Dorchester of mentioning Mr. Atwood as backing one thought too friendly to Mr. Atwood and the result is said to have been that Mr. Atwood's name has been used to defeat men with whom he had no bona fide political alliance.

It is considered probable that Mr. Atwood will be a candidate again this year, but as yet he is dumb on all things pertaining to the fight. Meanwhile he is being talked of as backing several men.

The State leaders are endeavoring to bring harmony into the turbulent district but their efforts so far have een unsuccessful. The State machine will give a "helping hand" when the fight opens. Estimates as to how much the "helping hand" is worth in dollars and cents vary from $3,000 to $10,000. The national congressional committee is also planning to extend a 'helping hand'' so that there is exected as plentiful a spread of mone n the district next fall as there was

But a few weeks more of school and Description of a Race Wiped Out In St. Vincent.

NOTED FOR PECULIAR SPEECH.

Both an Ancient and Natural Language Used as Well as a Bastard Speech-Women Spoke Differently From the Men-Their Customs and Superstitions.

In a book called "The Storied West Indies," written by Frederick A. Ober and published by D. Appleton & Co., there appears descriptions of the Caribs, the last survivors of which race in St. Vincent island have been wiped It will be Children's day Sunday at out of existence by the recent volcanic

"In the last decade of the fifteenth century," says the author, "the area occupied or controlled by the Caribs in the West Indies extended, roughly speaking, from 10 degrees to 20 degrees north latitude, or from Trinidad to Hispaniola. Their original home was probably in the northern part of South America, from the Amazon to Venezue la. Caribs being still found in a state of savagery in the Guianas. The Spaniards have left but scant material for an estimate of these people, but preferably from a quaint book called the 'History of the Caribby Islands,' published in England more than 200 years ago, we may learn much of their ap-

As to division of labor, the men make the hats, procure fish and game, and some also labor in the fields. The women attend to the domestic duties, paint their husbands with "roucou," spin yarn and weave hammocks. "This author mentions a peculiar fact which I also noted when I was living with the descendants of the Caribs and that is the Caribs have an ancient and natural language, such as is peculiar to them, and also a bastard speech, with foreign words, chiefly Spanish, in ermixed. Among themselves they always use the natural, but in conversng with Christians the corrupt speech The women also have a different speech from the men."

In a chapter on Barbados, Tobago and Trinidad Mr. Ober says:

"On the windward side of St. Vincent reside the last remnants of the black Caribs, who a hundred years ago gave battle stoutly to the British invaders of their tropical domain. They differ from the only other family of Caribs (in Dominica) in being very dark of hue, and this is explained by the wrecking of a slave ship here in the latter part of the seventeenth century, the survivors of the disaster having intermarried with the native Indians. In the year 1785, after committing great cruelties, the black Caribs were subdued, the major portion of them expatriated chief, Black Bulla, gibbeted alive in

The Pingpong Ankle. And now the pingpong ankle Is scaring faddists gay Who gather round the table And there pingpong away. 'Tis latest of the ailments That fads have brought about, And those who've been against it

Say it's as bad as gout.

We've had the golfing shoulder, We've had the biking back, We've had the tennis elbow And other ills that rack. But worse than all the others That fads have brought along
Is this queer ankle trouble

Connected with pingpong.

It twists the nerves and muscles Concealed in players' shins And spoils the curves of beauty In fairest sets of pins. It swells the neatest ankles That e'er made owner vain, And when they're thus expanded It loads them up with pain.

Among the English faddists This ailment first appeared, And soon a lot of players Were by it badly queered. 'Twas hoped that Yankee ankles Would not be thus made lame, But on this side the trouble Is spreading with the game.

Now, if our fair pingpongers Must thus afflicted be, There's one sure plan of action On which we'll all agree. We want neat Yankee ankles, Of that there's not a doubt, And if their curves are threatened Ve'll just cut pingpong out.

Truth.

The cornerstone of character, that on which the whole edifice is to rest, must be truth. Be truthful in word and deed and act, faithful to your conception of right, and you can no more help build ing a noble character than the earth can help moving in its orbit. A boy who has the courage to tell the truth under all circumstances, even when it may appear to be to his own disadvantage, will never do a mean, unmanly or dishonest thing. This is the expectation of those members who have discussed the subject with him most confidentially during the last few days. Affairs have reached a stage which fate of the proposed legislation swings on a finely pointed pivot of chance, and may make its final move either way. The president has been advised by some of his most trusted friends in the senate that about the only hope of getting a reciprocity bill through this session rests with his handling of his share of the business, and they consider that the time has come for him to make a public appeal to the conscience and patriotism of the lawmaking body.

Of the 18 senators who attended the conference the other day, widely advertised as a meeting of recalcitcants, only Messrs. Pritchard and Gamble were very prompt to disavow the extreme views attributed to them. They declared to their friends that they attended the gathering simply for the purpose of seeing whether something could not be done to reconcile the discordant views of the Republican senators, and frame a substitute measure which would not only command the support of the Republican side of the senate and pass there without the aid of Demoeratic votes, but so far "save the faces" of the beet sugar Republicans in the house as to be accepted by them when

Of the remaining members of the conference, there is a fair chance that Messrs, Scott, Mason, Kearns, Deboe, Foster and Mitchell will meet the administration senators at least half-way; while Burton, the rankest of the beet sugar set, stands irresolute in spite of many protestations. Unfortunately, however, about every proposal for a joint basis of agreement which has found favor with the senators not yet quite fastened down by the opposition has tended to drive off others who would support a plain, straightforward

He will probably content himself, on that score, with a quotation from his message of last December; and then, in full recognition of the difficulties confronting many members in their home states and districts, apas solemn in its way as our pledge of the independence which was to follow our deliverance of the island from

The message is looked for by a good many Republican congressmen as a most valuable document for them to use in the campaign this fall. In the districts where reciprocity is favored and where the members have been elected on the understanding that that was a part of the party policy, it will be used as evidence that there has been no retreat. CANAL DISCUSSION

sideration of the isthmian cana! project the senate heard two speeches yesterday, neither of which was completed. Mr. Hanna spoke in favor of the Spooner amendment, conferring on rights of the Panama Canal company if a valid title could be obtained, otherwise he shall decide upon the Nicaragua Public Appeal Considered the Only route. Mr. Mitchell supported the Hep-Method to Get "Recalcitrants" to burn bill for the construction of the canal by the Nicaragua route.

Seldom has a senator been accorded more attentive hearing than that given Mr. Hanna. The Panama route he considered much to be preferred to Washington, June 6.-Unless the Cuthe Nicaragua route, as it provided an inter-oceanic waterway much shorter and one that could be traversed at less may look for a special message from expense than the Nicaragua route. Nicaragua route was determined upon may fairly be described as a crisis. The definitely by congress it would n ean the indefinite postponement and perhaps the ultimate defeat of any canal legislation. He insisted that the Nicaragua route was entirely feasible and practical, while the Panama route involved difficulties which were scarcely to be surmounted. The general debate in the house on the anti-anarchy bill yesterday was devoted to legal arguments.

INSTRUCTIONS TO FAFT

In Dealing With Vatican Regarding Friar Lands

NO CHURCH INTERFERENCE

With Government Affairs Will Be Tolerated Wherever American Jurisdiction Extends-Landed Proprietorship of Religious Orders to Cease

Washington, June 7 .- Secretary Root yesterday sent to the Philippine commissions of the senate and house textual copies of the instructions given by him to Governor Taft for his guidance in dealing with the Vatican respecting the acquisition by the United States of the friar lands in the Philippines. Mr. Root's instructions say:

"In any conferences you will remember the following propositions which are deemed to be fundamental and which should be fully and frankly stated to the other side in the negotia

"1-One of the controlling principles of our government is the complete separation of church and state, with the entire freedom of each from any control or interference by the other. This principle is imperative wherever American jurisdiction extends and no rodification or shading thereof can be a subject of discussion.

"2-It is necessary now to deal with the results of establishing a government controlled by this principle in the Philippine islands, which have for centuries been governed under an entirely different system, with church and state closely united, and having functions of the one exercised by agents of the other; where the church las long controlled and acted virtually as the agent of the state in the field of public institution and public charities, and bas from time to time acquired harge properties held by it or by its subordinate corporations or officers for these public

"3-By reason of the separation the religious orders can no longer perform in behalf of the state the duties in relation to public instruction and public charities formerly resting upon them; and the power which they formerly exercised through their relations to the civil government being now withdrawn, they find themselves the objects of such hostility on the part of their tenantry against them as landlords, and on the part of the people of the parishes against them as representatives of the former government, that they are no longer capable of serving any useful purpose for the church. No rents can be collected from the populous communities occupying their lands unless it be by the intervention of the civil government with armed force. Speaking generally, for several years past the friars, formerly installed overthe parishes, have been unable to remain at their posts, and are collected in Manila with the vain hope of returning. They will not be volu cepted again by the people and cannot be restored to their positions except by forcible intervention on the part of the civil government, which the principles of our government forbid.

"It is manifest that under these conditions it is for the interest of the church, as well as of the state, that the landed proprietorship of the religious orders in the Philippine islands should cease, and that if the church wishes, as of course it does wish, to continue its ministration among the people of the island and to conduct in Its own behalf a system of instruction with which we have no desire to interfere it should seek other agents there-

"4-It is the wish of our government, In case congress shall grant authority. that the titles of the religious orders to the large tracts of agricultural lands which they now hold shall be extinguished, but that full and fair compensation shall be made therefor.

"5-It is not, however, deemed to be for the interests of the people of the Philippine islands that in thus transforming wholly unproductive tracts of land into money capable of productive investment, a fund should thereby be created to be used for the attempted restoration of the friars to the parishes from which they are separated, with the consequent disturbance of law and order.

"6-The titles to the great amount of church lands and buildings in the islands, other than those of the religious order and now apparently owned by the state, should be settled fairly.

When the ball at last was ready to be batted, bounced and thrown, It was larger than a pumpkin and as hard as any stone

It was made of solid rubber, wound with miles of worsted yarn, And the bat was quite a wonder; it was taller than the barn. When Ah Grim, the baby giant, gave the ball a playful knock, Bang! it went against two houses with an awful, awful shock, And the houses fell to pieces, folks around in terror fled, And without a bite of supper poor Ah Grim was sent to bed.

Topic For Week Beginning June 8. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-How the weak may become trong.-II Cor. xii, 9, 10; Isa. xli, 10; Iviii,

It is usually the ambition of the weak to become strong. The physically weak resort to medicine and health resorts and to exercise that their weakness may give way to strength. The ignorant, who may be classed as the intellectually weak, read and study or pursue courses of study in educational institutions that their defect in this particular may be overcome. But men are also morally and spiritually weak. Sin has made terrible havoe in the world. The ideals of men have been debased, their powers of resistance weakened and their susceptibility to the temptations of life increased. And when men realize their weakness they are ofttimes led by the spirit of God to desire and to attempt to overcome weakness and to cultivate strength. Every person who has been converted, every true child of God, is anxious to grow in strength and in power, and such an aim is Scriptural and praise-The method of converting weakness nto strength is an important one. If there are ways by which it may be done,

we should want to know them, and it should be a matter of comfort and inspiration to us that it can be done. In spite of the power of Satan and of sin, they are not all powerful. Their olans and purposes may be overthrown, and, regardless of all they can do, weakness may be turned into strength. Before the weak can become strong hey must realize their weakness. "When I am weak," says the apostle, 'then I am strong." What he means is that when he realizes his personal weakness he is strong, because then he trusts in God rather than in himself. The man who is ignorant of his weakness and the one who in his presumption and pride thinks he is strong when he is not have little hope of im provement in spiritual graces. Igno rance and pride result in weakness rather than in strength. We need, then, to divest ourselves of all pride and presumption and to see ourselves as we are, weak and frait and sinful. Then we will be in a fair way to change weakness for strength by trusting in God rather than in ourselves.

Trust in God is absolutely necessary to improvement in moral and spiritual power. We are weak and helpless in ourselves, but if we will trust in Him His grace will be sufficient for us, for He says: "I am with thee. Be not dismayed, for I am thy God. I will strengthen thee-yea, I will help thee; ea. I will uphold thee with the right and of My righteousness." Trusting in God for strength, we should hold constant communion with Him in prayer, in meditation and through His word, and thus by waiting upon Him increase our strength, for "they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their eth, they snall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not BIBLE READINGS.

Cheap Religion.

I entreat you, do not covet a cheap religion. What costs nothing is absolutely worth nothing. To become a new man and a better man and a strong man and an heir of glory means more than signing a card or "rising for prayer" or to go into an inquiry meeting. It means the thorough uprooting of old sins and the implanting in you of a new nature. The whole question of your salvation must be settled between you and your Saviour. The inquiry meeting you need most is an honest hour with the loving Jesus. No book, no sermon, no friend, no pastor, can save you; Jesus can. Whatever He bids you, as He speaks through your conscience, do it. The loving Saviour, who has waited for you too long already, says to you, "Follow Me." Start at once, and you will find the path of obedience is the one straight road to heaven.-Theodore L.

The Better Way.

To walk when we intended to run, to work when we intended to play, to give out when we intended to take in, to labor when we intended to rest, to postione when we expected to achieve and to do these things gladly and willingly for God and love's sake-this is to meet the requirements of the Christ life.-Forward.

A COAL INVESTIGATION

Will Be Made by Labor Commissioner Wright

AT INSTANCE OF PRESIDENT

Going to Field of the Labor War and Advise Whether It Would Be Wise For Executive Branch of the Government to Take Action

Washington, June 7.- A report gained some circulation in labor circles here yesterday that Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, was in the coal fields investigating the strike situation in behalf of the president. This is premature. Colonel Wright has been at Marblehead Neck, Mass., where he has his country home, but will be in Washington probably today, and it is regarded as probable that he will do something of the kind suggested. The president has great confidence in Colonel Wright's familiarity with the labor question in all its aspects, his disposition to see that full justice is done to the employed as well as the employer, and his disbelief in needless strikes.

In the law creating the department of labor, the commissioner is "specially" charged to "investigate the causes of, and facts relating to all controversies and disputes between employers and employes as they may occur, and which may tend to interfere with the welfare of the people of the different states." The general purpose of this clause was to procure, for the use of congress at stated intervals, reports on events which had passed, but the language is so broad that it would authorize an inquiry by the commissioner while a controversy was still in progress.

The president has no desire to interfere in ordinary trade disputes which the parties, with the aid of umpires, or referees selected by themselves, can better settle without his assistance. The appointment of a board of inquiry or an investigating commission, with all the formality and red tape usually attaching to such a proceeding, is avoided by him, when practicable. It is more to his taste to select some person whom he believes capable and desirous of giving him a correct report. and turning him loose upon the case in dispute. It seems very probable, therefore, that Colonel Wright may be sent, on his return, to look over the field of the coal war, and advise the president what action, if any, it would be wise for the executive branch of the government to take.

Mitchell Says "Everything Is Off" Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 7 .- Thursday's shooting had a sovering offeet upon the idle men and boys in Wyoming valley, and as a result, the region was a place of almost absolute peace yesterday. The Stanton colliery, where the shooting occurred, is closed down as a result of the disturbance there. Even the ccal and iron police, with the exception of President Mitchell says that the strike of the engineers, firemen and pumpmen is practically complete. He positively denies knowledge of any negotiations for peace. So far as he knows, he says, neither the Civic Federation nor any other organization or individual is at present negotiating for a settlement of the anthracite strike. "Everything is off," he said.

Officials Burned In Effigy

Harrisburg, June 7.- The Liners in the Lykens Valley region threaten to knots. make trouble if the pumpmen and engineers do not quit work. During the past 24 hours operators and other mine officials have been burned in effigy in Lykens, Williamstown and Wioonisco. When the men at work left their posts at quitting time yesterday and started for their homes they were hooted and jeered by the strikers and spoiled eggs were hurled at them.

In West Virginia Coal Fields Wheeling, June 7.-The general strike of the coal miners in West Virginia for higher wages, which was inaugurated today, will be directed by President Mitchell from Wilkesbarre. Mr. Mitchell says there are 29,000 men in this field; that 18,000 will stop work today and that he expects the others will all be out in the course of a few days. Objections From Railroaders Hazleton, Pa., June 7 .- Being short of mine firemen Coxe Bros. & Co., yesterday pressed two railroad engines into use for steam generating purposes to keep the pumps in operation. The railroaders do not take kindly to this plan and will bring the matter before a meeting called by them for tomorrow. Would Not Keep Up Steam

Shamokin, Pa., June 7 .- The Locust Gap and Locust Spring collieries, when boys, began flooding yesterday because of the sub-bosses quitting work rather than keep up steam for the pumps.

Refutes Testimony of Those Who Said That He Received Bribes

Portland, Me., June 7.-Less than three hours of yesterday's session was required by the prosecution in the Plummer alleged bribery hearing to complete its case, and the remainder of the day was taken up by the examination of the accused deputy. He was still on the stand undergoing crossexamination when the court adjourned for the day.

The prosecution called a number of messenger boys when the hearing was resumed yesterday, to testify regarding the delivery of messages from Ford to Plummer, and then brought its ease to a close by presenting in evidence the municipal court records for the time included in the alleged protected period. These records show that very few seizures were made at the places included in the list of those who allege they paid for "protection," and that Plummer took an active part in only a small percentage of these seizures.

When Plummer took the stand he made a complete denial of the charges, contradicting in every case the testimony of Ford and Callahan in regard to the payment of money for "protec-

Our Debt to Our Mothers.

Ian Maclaren in The Christian Endeavor World paid the following beautiful tribute to mothers:

She endured more for you, served you more patiently, loved you more fondly, thought of you more bravely, than any other person you have known on earth or will ever know. night, said that peace had not been | deed they can always be excepted. If your mother be spared to you, then are you bound to make her a first charge on your life, as you desire a peaceful conscience and as you shall answer before the judgment seat of God. She must be encompassed with every observance of comfort and honor and gentleness and love, with sacrifices also, if so be it will please her, of tastes and occupations and time and even friendship, and after you have done all that you can think of and any one can suggest you will still remain a hopeless bankrupt for the love wherewith she loved you."

The Warhorse.

The horse in war is expensive, fragile and a fool. He is greedy, and his food is as bulky as himself. He requires an expert to keep him efficient under hard work and a miracle to keep him alive under heavy tire. He must be watched and guarded more carefully than the lines of communication both in action and in camp. He is a coward. The race of them that snorted "ha! ha! among the trumpets, the noise of the captains and the shouting" is dead, if it ever lived at all outside the inspired mind of the plague stricken poet. He is a traitor and will desert to the enemy at the first opportunity, probably with three days' rations in his saddlebags and a useful rifle in the bucket .- Spectator.

Drift of Opinion.

This question of corporal punishment will always get votes on both sides. The difference of opinion that exists between the two representatives of the Massachusetts state board of education is typical of the general difference of opinion that has always been found. The secretary expressed himself as not approving of corporal punishment at all, while one of the agents of the board said he believed the teachers should have the power to inflict it but that it should be resorted to only on very rare occasions. Agassiz Boys of Jamaica Plain Do City of Quincy.

Pilgrimages to Quincy are frequent these days and all seem to find much of interest. Historical sites, granite quarries, our ship yard and our seashore all have attractions for them. The party of boys from Jamaica Plain, recently, evidently received good impressions for we read in the News: At 7.30 o clock, A. M. on Saturday,

May 24, there gathered at the rendezyous, the crossing of Morton Street, and Blue Hill avenue, a jolly company of Agassiz observers, an equal number from each sub-master's class, mounted upon his best wheel and burdened only with one ration each.

The first object of note was the new Roger Wolcott Grammar school. Passing the immense chocolate works at Milton Lower Mills and climbing (many afoot) the long steep grade of Milton Hill they were rewarded with a charming view of the lower Neponset valley and the bay beyond.

They left the highway at Wollaston o get the extensive view from Forbes Hill surmounted by its spacious reservoir and fine Norman tower. The visit to the granite quarries nearby was collections.

A mile farther on at Quincy Point lay their next objective point, the Fore River Engine Co.'s Works. Hearing that a number of the schoolboys desired to examine this renowned ship yard a pass and guide were readily granted them. Wonderful works of machine production met their gaze on every hand. Ships for the Government, guns, etc., are in process of construction as well as jobs for private concerns. The cruiser Des Moines and the seven-masted schooner owned by T. W. # PLANS OF BUENCAMINO

In the Philippines

EXPOSITION $100,000

Year to Send Students to the United States-Other Recommendations

Washington, June 7 .- Senor Buencamino, having finished his testimony before the house Philippine committee, has written a long letter to the secretary of war, repeating in his own English the general purport of his evidence and the program he had tried to promote, and offering his services "to prepare a statement of the events of importance which has taken place in the Philippines since American occupation, purging it of the lamentably mistaken ideas which some Americans entertain, and rectifying the opinion of America with regarding to said events and the intervention which the government of the never-to-be-forgotten President McKinley had therein."

If this is not deemed necessary, he wishes permission to return home after making the round of several cities in the United States, and visiting the Filipino students at Michigan university. "in order to give them correct data with regard to the Philippines, and prevent them from falling into the same errors as the Democrats."

He wishes $100,000 to get up a small exposition in Manila, "similar to that held in Charleston," intending to employ in its direction "Malvar, Trias, Mascardo, Alejandrino and other prominent ex-insurgents under American control. They would be very useful and active on account of the numerous data which they have with regard to our secret wealth, and they would furthermore be distracted from the theoretical political ideas they entertain and can practically know all the benefits of American civilization.'

Senor Buencamino says that the following are the most urgent requirements of the Philippines:

"A civil government with full powers for the reconstruction of the ruined government organisms of the Philippine people.

"A legislature composed of a high and low chamber in accordance with the provisions embodied in the bill reported sympathy with the Olneyville, R. I., by the committee to the house "The appropriation of $50,000 per annum from the Philippine revenues for the purpose of sending Philippine students to the United States, giving preference to those who wish to study industry, commerce and agriculture.

"Full amnesty. Increase of the num ber of teachers to 6000, with an increase of their salaries to double what they are now receiving."

He concludes with the statement that "there is a real complaint in the Philippines from the owners of houses and other buildings occupied by the American forces, because in some cases these owners receive no pay and in other cases an unduly low rental. I respectfully request, Mr. Secretary, that you see to it that justice is soon done the owners who complain, among whom are persons very loyal to the government, although this distinction of loyalty and disloyalty has disappeared forever, because they are all now loyal."

In Congress

Washington, June 7.-After transacting some routine business yesterday the senate resumed consideration of the isthmian canal bill, Mr. Hanna continuing his argument in support of the Panama canal. He declared that no political considerations were involved in the canai problem and urged that the construction of the Nicaragua canal was beset with unknown difficulties, while the construction of the Panama canal was "an open book." He laid particular stress on the danger to the Nicaragua route from volcapoes.

General debate on the anti-marchy bill closed in the house. The incident of the day was a speech by Mr. Richardson (Ala.) condemning the president in severe terms for the references in his Memorial day oration at Arlington to the epithets applied to Lincoln and Grant during the Civil war and for his allusions to lynchings. He declared that the president's remarks violated the proprieties of the occasion.

Not Recalled by Government Washington, June 7.-It is stated that no person connected with the administration has sent any order to General Miles from Washington since his departure on his present trip, nor has the war department communicated with him. The intimation is that any recall must have come from some of his personal friends or family

Cars Called In at Night

Providence, June 7.—The street railway strike was last night robbed of any special feature which might offer opportunity for a repetition of the scenes of violence incident to Thursday night's demonstrations by the timely withdrawal of all cars from the United Traction company's system. As in Providence, all the cars were called in. Nearly half the usual number of cars were got on the road during the day.

an You Solve It or Prove That It

Cannot Be Solved? At a lecture at the Royal institution on the fascinating subject of "Magic Squares" Major P. A. MacMahon, F. R. S., reminded his audience of the existence of a curious problem which, de spite its apparent simplicity, has never yet been solved. He commended it to amends the Sherman act by making the attention of any one present who desired to exercise his ingenuity and

The problem is as follows: There are thirty-six officers of six different ranks and drawn from six different regiments, and it is required to arrange them in a square of thirty-six compartments, so that in each row as well as in each column there appears an officer of each rank and also an officer from each regiment.

Euler's "Recherches Sur une Nouvelle Espece de Quarres Magiques," which appeared in 1782, discusses this problem, but gives no solution, and the late Professor Cayley, writing more than a century afterward, confessed that it was beyond ms powers.

Major MacMahon, who has added so much to our knowledge of the theory of groups-a fascinating branch of mathematics which has an important bearing on many branches of physical science-has not yet found a key to the mystery.

Whoever can solve this problem or prove that it cannot be solved will achieve immortality on the lips of mathematicians and perhaps open a door into a new realm of the scientific wonderland which is called pure mathematics .- London Post.

Naming the Hymn.

A story is told of a negro evangelical minister who held night services in a chapel formerly used by the Anglican church. In a hymnal which had been left he found an old familiar hymn suitable for his sermon, but the Roman number CXIX somewhat confused him, and he was embarrassed as to how to announce the hymn. As was the custom, he read the stanzas through, seeming still confused. He then reseem to aid him in helping the congregation, now very much bewildered. Proving redoubtable, he straightened himself up and seemed to grasp the situation at a glance and in a stentorian voice exclaimed, "Brethren, let us sing

VIOLA ALLEN'S PLAY, "THE ETERNAL CITY."

E. M. Holland Will Enact the Role of the Pope-Charles Frohman's Plans.

Liebler & Co. recently signed E. M. Holland to "create" the part of the pope of Rome in Viola Allen's forthcoming production of "The Eternal City," the play being Hall Caine's dramatization of his own story of that

No little interest will center about this characterization, for it is practically the first time that this great church dignitary has conspicuously ful of this fact, the author in his story, the playwirght in his dramatization They will be here before you are and the managers in their production ready unless you call and get your bave handled the character with exfather's character is mainly dealt with, season. although it also involves a struggle between parental love and clerical duty. pope's private apartments in the Vatican, and he also appears in at least two other scenes of the play, both of them important ones.

The pope represented is a prelate of the future, the story dealing with the forces and circumstances which may unite in producing a regenerated, a republican, Italy, Properly handled, the theme constitutes a powerful sermon and a fascinating story.

The engagement of Mr. Holland ought to make for success. A tall, slender, grave and impressive yet unassuming man, whom the passerby would be much more likely to take for a minister than an actor, a man whose private life has never been besmirched by the slightest breath of suspicion, and yet an actor withal who stands high in his profession-that is E. "Charles Frohman has announced his

There would ordinarily be no novelty in this statement, for that manager, who appears to be able to make the American public accept stars at will, has "announced his plans" about a dozen times since he has been in Europe, to say nothing of what he did beest pronunciamento there appears to be something of the definiteness which is usually lacking from his eagerly sought interviews. In short, Mr. Froh. Y.) boulevard man promises that the Empire theater, in this city, shall open, as usual, with John Drew in a new play, as yet unnamed. W. H. Crane is to stick to "David Harum," with which he will open the season at the Criterion, to be followed after a brief run by Virginia Harned in "Iris," Arthur Wing Pinero's latest play. Julia Marlowe will follow Miss Harned at the Criterion, while the Madison Square theater will be given over entirely to productions of comedy and farce. It will be observed that it is not stated who will follow John Drew at the Empire, whether or not Miss Marlowe will have a new play or what particu lar works will be put on at the Madison Square theater. Collegians Against A. A. U. At a meeting of the Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association held in Chicago recently it was decided that the college conference has reached maturity and that it will be able to determine all questions of eligibility of its athletes without direction or even assistance from the Amateur Athletic union. The conference determined not to recognize any decision of the A. A. U. as binding upon itself and will look into the matter independently.

For the places in singles, however, there is likely to be some close competition between three or four players, two of whom have held or are holding championship honors. These men are William A. Larned, Malcolm D. Whitman, J. T. Little and W. J. Clothier.

If chosen, Larned will be the veteran of the quartet. For nine years he failed to reach that point in the national tournament which entitled him to meet the champion. In 1900, how ever, he reached the challenge finals, but was defeated by Whitman. In 1901 he won the title and now holds it. Larned is also the present holder of the new Longwood cup.

Malcolm D. Whitman held the championship for three successive years and by so doing became the possessor of the National Challenge trophy. He also successfully defended his title to the old Longwood cup three times, which is now his personal property.

The absolute integrity and indomitable perseverance of this gray haired wizard of the turf have done incalculable benefit in the line of elevating the racing game in California, and it is to be hoped that his years may be many in the vocation that lies nearest his heart.

The climatic superiority of California as against the winter racing resorts is somewhat offset by the expense of shipment of horses from eastern points. The statement made early last fall that neither the Columbia, the Constitution nor the Shamrock &I. would be fitted out this season has been verified by the recent statements of Commodore Ledyard and the cable message recently sent to Boston by Sir Thomas Lipton, which read, "Useless to fit out, with no yachts of her class to race against."

This means that the "big feur" will remain as they are for another year, when the greatest yachting season ever known on either side of the water will be on. Sir Thomas will be over here with a new Fife boat, and, if rumors are true, the Gould brothers may build a defender. There is also some talk of James Gordon Bennett doing the same thing.

It is known that Sir Thomas has under consideration the idea of manning the Shamrock II. with an American sailing master and crew, as he believes that this move would sharpen the rivalry and bring into the trial practice spins a bit of international rivalry which must result in good to the challenger. This would indeed be a unique gasoline and electric vehicles over a thing to do, and it would certainly put course which is ideal for a contest of both crews on their mettle. As Sir this character. ## A CARELESS CONSUL.

The Way Bret Harte Came to Lose His Position at Gasgow.

When Bret Harte was consul at Glasow, he was seldom to be found in that city, as he spent most of his time in the London drawing rooms, where he was a general favorite, and delegated the onsular business to assistants. One day while making one of his rare visits to Glasgow he scraped acquaintance with a stranger on the train. Each seemed fascinated by the other's personality, and time passed quickly. At last they reached the outskirts of a

"What place is this?" inquired the stranger.

"I haven't the slightest idea," replied Harte, after looking out of the window. A few minutes later the railway guard opened the door of the compartment and announced that they had arrived at Glasgow.

When Harte showed up at the consulate the next morning, the first person who advanced to greet him was the agreeable stranger, who introduced gain. himself as a special agent of the home government sent to investigate charges of neglect of duty on the part of the

The agent may have been affable, but he was lacking in a sense of humor, for he evidently cabled his government an account of the train incident, as Harte's successor was soon after appointed.

Food and Character.

One might almost say that the recipe for a happy home was what has been aptly called a "bland" diet. While it is not literally true that eating hog makes a hog of a man, yet it is true there is a large connection between it and character. Bloodthirsty, lustful races are those that eat meat-largely, rare meat-freely, whereas the gentle, industrious, persistent races are mostly grain and fruit eaters.

While the controversy over vegetarianism is one for scientists to settle, even the humblest of us can afford to try for himself the advantages of a "bland" diet. It is a most interesting experience to see how acute and sensitive the sense of taste can become by, avoiding food that has a strong taste.

No one knows the delicate sweets and acids, oils and bites in our common cereals and fruits who eats huge chunks of fish, flesh and fowl highly flavored and deluged with biting sauces. Simplicity of life can be as much a part of diet as of furniture or clothes. - William Noyes in Good Housekeeping.

Though the beauty of the rose is brief, yet the perfume may be preserved, like the memory of a kiss, forever.-Schoolmaster.

Food and Colds.

A writer in The Lancet says: "Since I began to study diet I have been astonished at the number of cases of which I have heard, even of medical men, who by eating less and not so often have found that their susceptibility to colds has quite gone. Such facts as I have met with point to the conclusion that it is the system overcharged with the products of food which was not required and can act only as a poison to every organ in the body which is most susceptible to colds."

A Diligent Police Official.

A man who was "wanted" in Russia had been photographed in six different positions, and the pictures were duly circulated among the police departments. The chief of one of these wrote to headquarters a few days after the Sunday School at 12 M. Evening service at issue of the set of portraits and stated: 7 o'clock. All are cordially invited. "Sir, I have duly received the portrait of the six miscreants whose capture is desired. I have arrested five of them, and the sixth is under observation and will be secured shortly."

According to Gunter.

The phrase "according to Gunter" remains in our language as a perpetual memory of Gunter, the English mathematician, who was born in 1581 and died in 1626. Almost to the present time the works of Gunter were considered standard. He was the inventor of the surveyor's chain, of the logarithmic line, of the quadrant, of the scale bearthrive. The bark is used as a dyestuff ing his name, and anything in mathe matics to be right must be "according to Gunter."

Wheeling, June 9.-The strike or dered by the United Mine Workers of America to take effect in West Virginia was much more complete in some districts than was expected, and less of fective in others than expected. The incomplete reports are conflicting, but it is evident several thousand more men went out than was anticipated The strike effects not only the industries of this state, but also railway and river navigation. As a rule, the miners quit without much demonstration, but in some places they were marching with bands. In a few piaces the striking miners were served with notices to vacate the houses belonging to the companies. While the strike in this state is generally regarded as sympathetic with that of Pennsylvania, there is a general impression that the bituminous coal interests of other states have had their influence in bringing on a crisis in West Virginia.

tarium conducted by St. Luke's society. The society occupied the building which was long known as the Hotel Woodruff. By far the greater portion of the patients were those seeking cure from the drink habit and those who were addicted to the use of drugs.

When the fire broke out there was or the fifth floor a number of patients suffering from delirium tremens and some who were deranged by drugs. Several of these were strapped to their beds and it was found impossible to save them, so rapidly did the fire spread through the building.

As the cry of fire rang through the building, patients sprang from their beds and before they could be prevented several had jumped from the windows to the pavement

A scene that wrought to the pitch of madness the great crowd that had gathered around the building was en-Escape in other directions was imand was steadily eating its way toward standing. The one chance for life for that crowd of men lay through that screen and barred window. The men losest to the screen tore and tugged fastenings and the men behind them ought madly to get close enough to he screen to fasten their fingers in it. So fiercely did the prisoners pull at the screen that from the street below were plainly visible tiny streams of blood that trickled from lacerated fingers and hands and flowed over the window sill. A number of the men at the window were in straight jackets and manacles, and those not being able to help themselves or others were the wildest of all in their frantic efforts to break through the bars.

The crowd in the street watching the desperate situation of the men behind the screen was simply an insane mob. As the flames came steadily toward the men the people in the street jumped up and down and screamed in helpless age. It seemed as though nothing ould be done and that all of the men would die within six inches of free-

That any of the men escaped at all, s owing to the work of W. E. Davis, patient in the institution. He inluced the men to cease their disconnected pulling at the screen and to unite their efforts. After a long and desperate struggle it finally came down, the men in their desperation pulling with it large pieces of the mortar in which its sides had been encased.

The screen was gone but the bars renained, and they were heavy, placed here for the purpose of withstanding all the efforts of insane men, no matter low strong they might be. As many nen as could place their hands on the ower bar took hold. It bent and six nen went to the floor with a crash, holdng onto the iron bar which they had orn from its fastenings. Another bar was soon torn away, and the path to afety was opened.

The first man through was Dr. Anderson. No ladders were in front of the window, and Anderson's one hope was to reach the platform of a fire escape in front of a window just west of where he was. He hesitated for an instant, then sprang for the fire esape, clutched it and was saved. The next man through the window was G. S. Gott. Anderson was not able to drag Gott after him and Gott was not ble to make the leap himself. Clinton Osborn crawled out beside Gott and old the men inside to grasp his feet. This they did, and telling Gott to take hold of his wrists and drop over the window sill, Osborn, hanging head downward, swung Gott to and fro, until he had acquired sufficient momentum and then swung him up and onto the landing of the fire escape, where Dr.

Anderson seized and held him.

He and Gott then formed a chain, ott holding to the fire escape and Anderson, tightly held by Gott with one hand, reaching out toward the window. so that the men, one by one, as they Bath, Me., June 10.-Rosie Starrett erawled through, were able to take a tep on a ledge and make a short leap to the platform of the fire escape, down

Too many have been willing to be lieve the deputy sheriffs of Maine guilty of bribery and to condemn an honest attempt by Sheriff Pearson to enforce the Prohibition laws of his state. There is one singular thing about the move for ice privileges at Quincy reservoir: that it should come before the City Council upon an order rather than a petition. There seems a tendency to do away with petitions, and it is to be deplored. Where citizens desire street improvements, sidewalks, street sprinkling, lights, etc., they should petition. It is not for Councilmen to introduce all new business, adopt it as a pe scheme and engineer it through. Sidewalks with their assessments have been ed upon streets where a majority of the abutters were not anxious for them. Orders are sometimes passed the night offered and regrets come too late. Upon petition there is time for con-

We speak of a broad education Let us realize that a broad education is a consistent education, the ex pression of a man's full development of intellect. Under such an education man's sociology, his politics, hi religion, his philosophy, his ethics and aesthetics should be all inter-dependen consistent with the intellectual stand ards of the man. I lay down no law, believe what you may, only make you thoughts consistent, your principle co-ordinating. The work of the Tech student in life is not alone to construc bridges, nor to determine reactions no percentages of ore as such, nor is i simply to live. The work in life is to live well to broaden one's sympathies and enlarge one's horizon.

Secretary Howes of Boston Board of Fire Underwriters has advised Orders by mail or telephone promptly cessive use of water in recent fires has caused more damage than the fires themselves. This is an old complaint, yet we think it one which is less and less made, as the extinguishment of fires becomes more and more reduced to science and is conducted more and more as a business and less as a means of pleasureable excitement for firemen. It will never be entirely possible to determine what the amount of damage by fire would have been if less water had been used; but it is practicable in many cases to keep the damage by water lown to a minimum, while at the same time the fire is successfully fought. There was a time when firemen did not see this as they do now, and it is well to make much of the improvement while asking for more improvement. New Bedford Standard.

That was the simplest solution of the trouble, but with a careless boy and several servants going in and out for water this could not be done. Malta was on the watch, and the moment the door was left open she leaped to her favorite place.

Then Susie, who was also watching at once lifted her out and set her down in the entry, shutting the bathroom "Naughty Malta!" she cried. Then she picked her up again and carried her into the sewing room, where, gently stroking her, she read a serious lecture on the naughtiness of her bathtub ways. # NINE GIRLS CREMATED

Could Have Been Saved If London Had Adequate Fire Equipment

London, June 10 .- The inadequacy arm upon the president or any person of the fire equipment of Loudon has again been demonstrated by the fatalities which attended a comparatively small blaze in the centre of the city yesterday. The fire occurred in the upper portion of a five-story building in the busiest section of London. The first extension ladders to arrive could not be elevated to the height of the fourth story and immates of the upper floors were compelled to jump down into a tarpaulin taken from a passing fruit van. Several of those who jumped were badly injured and others who refused to take this risk disappeared within the smoking windows.

Several hours elapsed before the casualties were ascertained. It was then found that nine young girls had been burned to death and that 15 per sons had been injured, one probably fatally. The bodies of the dead were all badly burned, and two could not be recognized.

Gold Certificates In National Treasury Exceed Notes

THE RECORD IS BROKEN

By Gross Gold Having Reached the Sum of $554,000,000-Tremendous Production of Mines More Effectual Than Any Financial Legislation

Washington, June 11.-United States Treasurer Roberts calls attention to the fact that for the first time the outstanding gold certificates exceed in volume the United States notes, which remain fixed at $346,861,016. The gross gold in the treasury has also eached a record breaking point, standing at $554,000,000, as against $97,000,-000 at the end of January, 1895, and $186,000,000 just before McKinley's inauguration in 1897.

St. John, secretary of the American Unitarian association, in answer to Secretary St. John's letter transmitting to the president the vote taken at the annual meeting of the American Unitarian association concerning the situation in the Philippines. It is as follows:

"I beg to thank you for your very kind letter of the 31st ultimo, enclosing the memorial of the American Unitarian association passed at their annual meeting on May 22, 1902. I am happy to be able to say that the bill which has just passed the senate will, if enacted into law, enable us to proceed even more rapidly and efficiently than hitherto along the lines of securing peace, prosperity and personal liberty to the inhabitants of the Philippine islands.

"There is now almost no 'policy of coercion' in the islands, because the insurrection has been so entirely overcome that save in a very few places peace, and with peace the 'policy of conciliation and good will,' obtain throughout the Philippines. There has never been any coercion save such as absolutely inevitable in putting a stop to an armed attack upon the sovereignty of the United States, which in its last phases became mere brigandage.'

Not Considered Necessary by Labor Commissioner

INVESTIGATION IS ENDED

Letters of Coal Operators Made Public, Showing That They Considered It Impracticable to Formulate Wage Scale In Anthracite Region

New York, June 11.-Late yesterday afternoon Commissioner Wright had a two hours' conference with President Baer of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, President Olyphant of the Delaware and Hudson company and outlined. President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad.

Mr. Wright said that the books had been opened and he had secured all facts and figures and now had sufficient information of both sides which would probably not necessitate his going to the coal fields. He declared the investigation as practically over.

The presidents of the coal roads immediately affected by the strike of the anthracite coal miners made public letters which have passed between the operators and President Mitchell and other representatives of the United Mine Workers in reply to the invitation of Feb. 14 to the operators to a joint conference to form a wage scale.

The operators say they have heretofore hesitated about making public this orrespondence. "The President of the United States," they add, "having requested Mr. Wright to investigate the strike, the presidents of the coal companies have given him such facts as he desired, including this correspondence.'

The first letter in reply to the invitation on the list is that of President Guaria, Venezuela, Monday, and the Baer, declining to join in the confer-German cruiser Gazelle sailed for the ence, dated Philadelphia, Feb. 18, 1902, same port yesterday, under hurried and addressed, as were all replies, the operators say, to "John Mitchell, president, and others" at Indianapolis. Mr. Baer contends that it is impracticable to formulate a wage scale in the anthracite region, as in the bituminous, because of the marked difference between the two methods of mining. Mr. Baer goes on to say that the company he having its relations with the miners disturbed every year. "There cannot," he says, "be two masters in the President Truesdale of the Lackawanna replied in the same strain and declined to attend the conference,

President Thomas of the Eric replied most emphatically, repudiating the right of the union to interfere. He says the effect of the action of the miners' organization has been to create a spirit of unrest and a marked depreciation in the quantity of work. There have, he says, been interruptions of work oceasioned by unwarranted demands and agitation resulting in the loss of over 900 days' work and over 600,000 tons of production from April to Oct. 1. The replies of Presidents Fowler of the Ontario and Western, Olyphant of the Delaware and Hudson, and Walter of the Lehigh Valley are brief, and in line with the others

The first discussion, the adjournment for 30 days, and the two futile and final discussions between the union leaders and the operators, represented by Messrs. Thomas, Truesdale and Baer, are mentioned. Mr. Mitchell's dispatch of May 8 is given, in which he proposes that, in view of the failure of any agreement resulting from the discussion up to that time, the industrial branch of the Civic Federation select a committee of five to arbitrate and decide all questions in dispute, the award to be binding upon both parties for the period of one year. Another proposition in this telegram is that a committee composed of Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Potter and one other person whom those two may select, be authorized to make an investigation into the wages and conditions of employment existing in the anthracite field. To this telegram Messrs. Truesdale, Baer and Olyphant reply, declining to entertain either proposition and giving as their reasons the failure to reach an agreement after previous exhaustive discussion and conference. Here the long presentment of the operators closes with the statement that no further communications have been re-

This union was now more necessary than ever, in order to tending to destroy or enfeeble the Republican union. The coalition which the country had just condemned did all it could in recent years to change the national character of the army and divert it from its sole and noble mission. "A portion of the clergy tried to confound the cause of the Catholic church with that of the religious congregations and entered the electoral arena. Such acts are intolerable and the government will examine whether the existing legislation suffices to prevent their repetition.

M. Combes then referred to the law of associations and said the government would see that none of its provisions remained sterile. It would also revoke the law of 1850, dealing with secondary education.

The premier then spoke of the difficult financial situation, which, he suggested. was largely due to the crisis and the increase of burdens common to all European countries, and promised several economies in public expenditure and a candidate for United States senator to general income tax which would give great relief to the Democracy. The next budget, he said, would be one of relentless economy.

The ministerial declaration has been received by the supporters of the government with general approval as a clear, firm and conscientious expression of the will, wishes and aspirations of the majority of the French nation as manifested in the recent elections.

The consensus of the opinion of the government supporters is that the new program is an honest one. The work outlined in the program is to be carried the united strength of all Republicans. SCENE OF DESOLATION

Marks the Path of Cyclene In Central Illinois

TWELVE PERSONS, KILLED

While Scores Were Seriously Injured -Damage to Buildings and Crops Will Amount to Millions of Dollars -Many Counties Are Affected

Bloomington, Ills., June 12.-Stretching across a pathway 100 miles in width and devastating a territory fully 200 miles long, extending from Livingston county on the north to McCoupin county on the south, and leaving its mark clear across the face of central Illinois, a cyclone inflicted a property loss which will aggregate millions of dollars and cost a dozen lives.

The brunt of the storm fell upon Me Lean and adjoining countles. Lightning was incessant for two hours, but was marked by absence of thunder claps. Wind reached a velocity of 100 milès an hour and in its track were left destruction and death.

The visitation was the worst ever recorded in the history of central Illinois. Almost complete interruption of telegraph and telephone lines for 12 hours has made it impossible to secure the full details of the disaster. It is now known that while the fatalities in McLean county were but three in numer, scores of persons were seriously njured and hundreds of narrow escapes from death were reported.

Not a village or city of McLean county escaped, and from every district comes the same report of destroyed buildings, injury to growing crops and razed fruit and shade trees. The aggregate of loss in McLean county, not including three lives at Merna or thousands upon thousands of levelled shade and fruit trees, by a rough estimate, will be between $300,000 and $400,000. Claims for tornado insurance among local agents have already reached $50,000, and it is believed that this sum will be doubled. This amount represents only loss outside of Bloomington in McLean county farming districts.

The heaviest loss in proportion to the population fell upon Merna, where the town hall being used by a party of 250 by falling timbers. When the storm struck the building its swaying alarmed the party of merry makers. All made a rush for the exits and a fierce struggle ensued, in which the three women were killed. At Merna, in addition to the town hall, many other structures were destroyed.

A new Methodist church at Twin Grove was completely demolished by a huge tree. The loss will be $10,000. Illinois Wesleyan university suffered damages of $25,000.

Street car service in Bloomington was resumed last evening, but it will be a week before the electric light plant can resume its service. Buildings at the power house were unroofed and the loss to the municipality will be many thousands of dollars.

At Stanford a box car on a side-track was lifted from its trucks and carried 300 feet. At El Paso the town hall, containing all the fire department apparatus, was destroyed with its contents. The tower on the building, 80 feet high, was blown off and carried 100 feet.

Salem, Ore., June 12.-Tracey and Merrill, the convicts who escaped from the Oregon penitentiary Monday after killing three guards, are surrounded in a tract of timber, probably 200 acres in companies of National Guard and about 100 citizens, all heavily armed, surround the timber and the escape of the convicts now seems impossible.

the Prohibitory Law Portland, Me., June 12 .- The Republi-Governor John F. The temperance plank was the subject of a warm debate between members of the committee on credentials and finally those who championed sterner measures succeeded in having the resolutions as originally drafted amended to read "demand" instead of "favor." The amended plank was adopted by the convention without dissent. The plank favoring direct primaries also was added at the last moment and its incorporation in the platform came as a surprise to many of the delegates, but it received no opposition. Aside from these two items, the only interesting feature of the convention was the presence of the Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, who pre-cicted a loud Democratic cry against The two men ran across South Main

There was little interest in the rain issues, as it was a foregone conclusion that both Governor Hill and Congressman Allen would be renominated by acclamation.

"Demand" Faithful Enforcement of In Which Soldiers and Police Figured In Streets of Fall River

Fall River, Mass., June 12.-Scrgean can convention yesterday renominated | Harrington, U. S. A., located 2: Fort Rodman, and Albert Richards. a private, stationed at Fort Preble, were arrested last night after a series of exciting occurrences in the centre of the city. Harrington had been sent to this city to capture a deserter who had been overdue at Fort Rodman for some time. Late yesterday afternoon, while walking down Pleasant street, he saw a man in the uniform of a private soldier, and was certain, from the discription he held, that the soldier was the man he wanted.

His loud command to halt attracted the attention of the soldier and people on the street. The soldier gave one glance at the officer and fled, although the latter was in citizen's clothes. As the private started the officer gave a second command to halt, and as it was not obeyed he drew a revolver and fired two shots, neither of which took ef-street and down Pleasant street, followed by a thousand people. The officer then fired a third shot, again without result, but before he could fire a fourth time he was seized by two police constables, who took the revolver from

The private continued to run, but seeing a police officer ahead of him he suddenly turned and ran back up the street. The policeman, knowing that something was wrong, gave chase and captured his man in the rear of the city

Both men were taken to the police station, where they were held until their stories could be straightened out. Private Richards produced papers which showed that he was away from the fort on leave of absence which did not expire until some time after his arrest. When asked wh he ran he said that Harrington and himself had previously had some trouble over a woman and he thought that Harrington was trying to kill him. Both men were then released.

A Victory For Quay

Harrisburg, June 12.-Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker was nominated for governor over John P. Elkin by the Republican state convention by a vote of 206 to 152. Senator Quay was unanimously chosen chairman of the Republican state committee. The platform endorsed the administration of President Roosevelt, reaffirms loyalty to the principles of protective tariffs, declares for pure and honest ballot reform, condemns trusts, approves the action of the president and attorney general in proceeding against the beef rust and makes no mention of the state administration. Pennypacker's nomination is a personal victory for Quay.

An International Banquet

London, June 12 .- The visit of the king and queen to Ambassador and Mrs. Choate's dinner last night was one of the most interesting incidents of the resent reign. The police had to clear Carlton House terrace of the many spectators who had congregated there, anxious to witness as much as was possible to see of the remarkable tribute paid by their majesties to the United States. Greetings had scarcely been exchanged before dinner was announced and Mr. Choate found himself leading the queen into the dining room ahead of the king, who had Mrs. Choate on his arm.

If this evidence is established Harvard will lose Schick's six points and the meet will go to Yale.

Calvin P. Titus, who distinguished himself at Pekin, was called from the ranks to face the president, who pinned a medal for bravery on the youth's breast and spoke a few words to him. Immediately after luncheon the hundreds of visitors sought Memorial hall, where the exercises were held. The hall was packed with a brilliant throng, to 1842 and the undergraduate cadets. Colonel Mills made an address of welcome and then introduced President Roosevelt. The president said:

"I am glad to have the chance of saying a word to you today. There is little need for me to say how well your performance has compared with prophetic promise made on your behalf by the greatest of Americans, Washington. This institution has completed its first 100 years of life. During that century no other educational institution in the land has contributed as many names as West Point contributed to the honor roll of the nation's citizens.

"That is not surprising. That is what we have a right to expect from this military university founded by the nation. Finally, I see the younger men as well as the older ones, the men whom I have seen myself take part in the war with Spain, and it was my good fortune to see in the campaign in Cuba how the graduates of West Point handled themselves and to endeavor to profit by their example. In a battle hereafter each man is going to be to a considerable extent alone. It will be so that the youngest officers will have to take much of the responsibility that in former wars fell on their seniors and many of the enlisted men will have to do most of their work without any supervision of any officer. The man will have to act largely alone and if he shows a tendency to huddle up to some one else, his usefulness is pretty near at an end. Washington, June 12.-Just before adjournment yesterday the senate agreed to vote finally on the Nicaragua canal bill and all pending amendments on June 19, the voting to begin at 2 p. m. Mr. Fairbanks argued yesterday for the construction of the isthmian canal by the Panama route.

The house dispatched the Corliss Pafific cable bill by the same method it adopted in the case of the forest reserve bill. It struck out the enacting clause of the measure, thus giving no opportunity to test the streng substitute which authorized the president to contract with a private company for the laying of a cable.

FOUGHT WITH BOERS Colonel Lynch Arreeted Upon His Arrival In England

London, June 12 .- Colonel Arthur Lynch, who fought with the Boers in South Africa, and who in November last was elected to represent Galway in the house of commons, was arrested yesterday on his arrival at Newhaven, from Dieppe, France. Subsequently ened on the charge of high treason, and was remanded until June 14, after formal evidence of his arres had been presented.

Colonel Lynch is accused of having fought with the Boers in South Africa. In November, last, however, he was elected to the house of commons to represent Galway. It was announced in London, Jan. 6, that he would be prevented from taking his seat in the house. and that as soon as he set foot on English soil he would be arrested on a charge of treason. Colonel Lynch has been living in Paris some time. He is an author, a journalist, an engineer, and a soldier. He owns a small estate at Quilty, County Downs, Ireland, and lives in Paris. He was near Ballarat, Australia, in 1861. He was educated at Melbourne university, at Berlin university, and at Paris. He first practiced engineering in Australia and subsequently lectured on scientific subjects at Melbourne. Taking up his residence in Ireland, he stood as a candidate for parliament and was defeated. He then went to Paris, where he wrote several Looks, and entered a journalistic career. He visited the United States, and after his return entered the journalistic field in London. He wrote more books, and by way of digression accompanied Sir Garnet Wolseley on the Ashanti expedition, thereby getting his first experience in actual warfare. After this expedition, Mr. Lynch divided his time between London and Paris, When the Boer war began he went to South Africa, ostensibly as a correspondent for Le Journal of Paris. Arriving in the Transvaal, he took up arms for the Boers and was given command of the

For Advocating Reduction In Duties For Cuba

SENSATION IN THE SENATE

Testimony That Between $8000 and $9000 Was Paid Out of Cuban Treasury by Military Government-Havermeyer Also Contributed

Washington, June 12 .- F. B. Thurber, resident of the Exporters' association, the witness that has been wanted by the committee on Cuban relations, was before the committee yesterday. Senator Teller produced a copy of a voucher for $2880, showing that that sum had been paid by the military government of Cuba by authority of Governor Wood to the United States Export association, of which Thurber is president. Thurber acknowledged that he had received the amount, and said it was one of three payments he had received from the same source.

The receipt was dated April 2, 1902, and stated that it was for "advocating a reduction in the duties on Cuban products going into Cuba." The witness said he thought $20,000 worth of literature had been circulated. He said he had received a contribution of $2500 from Mr. Havemeyer of the Sugar Refining company when he solicitated that gentleman for a subscription.

The testimony showing that between $8000 and $9000 had been paid out of the Cuban treasury under the direction of Governor Wood for the promotion of the effort to secure reciprocity between the United States and Cuba, caused a sensation in the senate. Opinions as to the ultimate effect of the testimony are as varied as the predilections and prejudices of the senate, but the immediate results are seen n the decision reached during the fternoon to have two caucuses in the early future. The first of these will e held by the beet sugar Republican enators today and the second by all

This committee will state that the Cuban committee has declined to consider all the propositions looking to a compromise which have been made, and it robobly will ask to be discharged The propositions that have been made are two-the first for a rebate and the second for a commercial treaty with

The full conference will be in the nature of a caucus, and some of the beet sugar men say they will enter it only with the understanding that they shall not be bound by any conclusion that may be reached. The advocates of a ection say that no action by a Republican senatorial caucus is binding, but they add that defections have occurred only in rare instances.

Senator Aldrich expresses confidence in being able to secure fully 45 Republican votes in favor of any bill that may be reported by the Cuban committee. This is a majority of the senate and the friends of reduction express themselves as hopeful of passing a bill satisfactory to them. They say the testimony of Mr. Thurber does not effect the merits of the question in the least, and they contend that, even admitting that the course of the Cuban government was censurable, it cannot and should

If there is weakness of heart or lungs, liver or kidneys, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this socalled "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the ise of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their

that the course was improper. Some of the beet sugar senators profess to believe that the revelation will have the effect of at least causing a halt in the proceedings in the interest of reciprocity. They think the report made by Mr. Thurber will be accepted by the country as going to show that entirely too much interest has been manifested in the subject in Cuba. Some of them go so far as to claim that there will be no reciprocity legislation, at least during the present session.

A VEXATIOUS SITUATION

Has Arisen In Regard to Cuban Reciprocity

BEET MEN ENCOURAGED

By Thurber's Statement, but the Vote Is Unlikely to Be Changed-Statement Coming on Wood's Action In Giving Cuban Funds For Literature

Washington, June 12-The disclosures of President Thurber of the United States Export association, regarding the subscriptions of the president of the American Sugar Refining company and of General Wood in behalf of the Cuban government, toward influencing sentinent in favor of Cuban reciprocity, are not likely to change a vote at either end of the Capitol; they are liable, however, to intensify the feelings of the beet sugar insurgents of the house by giving them something to go before the public with, in apparent support of their claim that the proposed legislation would benefit the sugar trust. The situation is vexatious. Soon after the president reached the White House last night, on his return from West Point, Senator Platt of Connecticut, chairman of the committee on Cuban relations, called by appointment. The announcement was made at the White House that a statement regarding General Wood's action in givng Cuban funds for the circulation of iterature favorable to reciprocity legisation probably would be issued today. It is now recognized that a mistake has been made by some of the friends of Cuban reciprocity in asserting so sweepingly as they have done that the socalled sugar trust had no interest whatever in the proposed legislation. Cuban cane is the great source of sugar supply to our refiners on the eastern coast. and they have the same natural interest in it that a leather company would have in commercial arrangements with any country from which our great supply of hides came, assuming that these were chiefly a foreign product. Had this view of the refiners' relation to proposed legislation been acknowledged there would have been no surprise occasioned by such testimony as that given out Wednesday, and consequently no capital for the insurgents. It must also be acknowledged that General Wood and Mr. Thurber have acted indiscreetly in view of the focussing of gislative conflict around the sugar course than to have tried to influence it by the issuance of "literature." There has never been any trouble with American sentiment; it has been on the side of Cuban relief from the start, and according to all accounts, is remaining

In the senate there is an obvious purpose among the leaders to go ahead is a prominent business man. with the Cucan reciprocity bill undisturbed by the happenings over which the beet sugar element is rejoicing so openly. They say, however, that there is no hurry about having a final conference since the canal bill will not be out of the way till next Thursday, and the senate will not do much for the rest of the week. It is remarked half facetiously by veteran Republican senators Elkins and Burrows would think they could run the senate. Questions of prestige, as well as of public policy, are thus at stake. In the house the insurgents are particularly noisy.

The Republican senators who are friendly to beet sugar and who oppose the proposed legislation for a reduction of the tariff on Cuban products duration yesterday and decided to continue their opposition to the reciprocity proposition. They will do this by anduction that they will cast their votes for the reciprocity bill as it passed the house of representatives, including the Morris amendment for the abolition of the differential duty on refined sugar, and that they will resist all amendments that may be offered to it. They will propose two alternatives. One of these is to drop the subject and make no further attempt to secure reciprocity legislation. The other is to accept the rebate plan.

What It Presents as a Field For Endeavor. The work of preparing all measures

Signor Terrazas Says His Country Offers Great Opportunities In the Next Twenty Years-Development Boundless Eternity, the winged sands In Industries In Chihuahua-Possibilities of Trade With the East.

Juan Terrazas of Chihuahua, Mexico.

who is one of the best known men of the republic in business and financial circles, was recently interviewed by a the Waldorf in New York. What he conditions may be regarded as nearly ex cathedra as the statement of an individual often is. At his hotel he said: "I can truthfuly declare that if a bright young man wants a field that offers him plenty of opportunity and a good reward for honest work there is Heaven speaks once more in thunder; no better field than Mexico. The growth of Mexico in the last twenty years has been great, but the resources of the country are only beginning to be dereloped. The country in the next twenty years offers a great opportunity. Thine age is youth, thy youth is hoary Take the case of the state of Chihuahua, which now has about 500,000 inhabitants. Twenty years ago there were not more than a fifth of that number, I should say. Along the big river bottoms of that state is splendid agricultural land. In the north is grazing country that supports at least one herd | Myself before thee, dread Eternity of 300,000 cattle and another of 80,000. besides smaller herds in numbers. Then there are flocks of sheep, one numbering 200,000 head. The wool from these sheep is milled right in Chihuahua city. In the west of the same state are the mountains, with their rich veins of ore, silver, copper, lead, antimony and some gold, where Americans have already entered the field with profit. You can see what the country can do from what this region. "Only a few days ago," he said, "eighty thousand head of cattle were sent north to Texas and Kansas, where they will be fattened and and in Chicago. We can use many of them in Mexico, of course, but the bulk will go up to Kansas City and Chicago. However, there is already in Chihuahua city a plant that can slaughter 200 head a day and pack the beef as well as dress mutton. In the City of Mexico a similar plant is about to be established. The cottonseed industry is a still better illustration of Mexico's development. Some time ago the cotton seed was thrown away. Then, aftor its value was realized, it used to be made into oil and the pressed kernel sent to England for food to fatten cattle. Now there is a plant in the state just south of Chihuahua, the cotton district, the managers of which have secured the right to all the cotton seed for twenty-five years and which utilizes about as much as can be reasonaown Mexican cattle, and finally the shells are used for fuel, and the ashes, rich in potassium, are sold for fertilization purposes. A large block of capital is invested in the enterprise, with excellent returns. In Mexico it must not be forgotten that labor is cheap, averaging a dollar a day in Mexican money, and, while I won't say it is so good as American labor, it is very good. There are no labor troubles to contend with. While it may be true that English and American agriculturists have not done so well in Mexico as their fellow countrymen who have gone into mining, that does not argue that the field is not a profitable one,

Senator Culberson and Charles Francis Adams had hoped to be present, but were detained at the last moment. Referring to this The Tribune says to-

The significance of the meeting of so many prominent anti-imperialists seems to be this: The luncheon was arranged to make impossible in the future any dissension among the leaders of the opposition to the government's Philippine policy. They met to discuss every phase of the eastern situation, and they left the table feeling that they understood each other. Several members of the party were asked if any immediate step would be taken by the leaders present. One of the senators replied: "We came up from Washington to meet the anti-imperialist leaders of New York and Boston. Mr. Shepard invited us to the University club. There we found that every man endorsed the action of the minority, which recently offered a bill in the house asking for complete independence for the Filipinos. The majority had passed in the senate a bill giving the Republicans notions of rule in these islands. We presented a substitute bill which was defeated. The majority bill is now in the hands of the house committee. The important point in today's conference was the unmistakeable support which we received to the substitute bill which, though de feated, brought out the existence of thorough harmony between the Democrats of both houses of congress."

MATTER OF PLAIN DUTY

President Waived All Political Considerations

HIS MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Means an Early Precipitation of the Struggle In the Senate Over the Cuban Question-Regrets Taking Position Hostile to Warmest Supporters

Washington June 14.-The crisis in the Cuban reciprocity matter has been reached by congress having received a message from the president. This itedicates to most observers here that there will be an early precipitation of the struggle in the senate, probably immediately after the canal bill is out of

The hint thrown out by the beet sugar senators that, now that General Wood's use of money from the Cuban revenues to push a measure through congress had been brought to light, they need not hesitate to join with the Democrats to defeat the reciprocity bill, is supposed to be the immediate stimulus for the president's resort to a message. It has been Mr. Roosevelt's idea, throughout this controversy, that as the Republican party is in full power in the government, it is that party, rather than congress at large, whom the people would hold responsible for the defeat of this legislation, demanded by our honor as a nation.

Hence all his efforts have been directed toward preventing in the senate a repetition of what he regards as a renegade performance by the beet sugarites in the house. As long as there seemed to be any hope of holding the party together by a moderate measure. he was willing to make sacrifices. The Wood exposure and its threatened sequels apparently left him only one course to pursue.

The president's action, it may be stated from sources close to him, was influenced by the broad question of the duty of the United States to Cuba and of the fairness to the new republic. It has been pointed out to the president that his warmest political support is in the section of the country where there is the greatest opposition to reciprocity, the west and northwest, and that he should remain content with the stand he had taken without accentuating his views in a special message. It is known, however, that the president did not hesitate to arrive at the conclusion that he would not let his political prospects interfere with what he regarded as his plain duty.

It is further known that he told his friends that it was a source of great regret to him to take a position hostile to the wishes of his warmest supporters, but that he felt it would not be in keeping with his own nature and his position of chief executive to longer remain silent on this subject, and thereby give an opportunity for false spec ulation as to his attitude. The president was further led to conclude that the relations of the United States and Cuba must necesasrily grow closer, and that the United States should not at the outset of its declared purposes toward the to; and thus agose the suspicions of the Cuban government as to our real intentions toward it. It is stated that the president's positive declaration in his message as to the duty of congress probably will end his active efforts to bring about reciprocity.

The president was advised by some of his most trusted friends in the senate that about the only hope of getting a reciprocity bill through this session rested with his handling of his share of the business, and they considered that the time had come for him to make a public appeal to the conscience and patriotism of the law-mak ing body.

The message is not sent for the purpose of making any clearer the attitude of the president, for that has not changed from start to finish.

Over the heads of congress itself, of course, it is hoped that the president's good-tempered but urgent appeal will reach the people who make and unmake congress, and, by stimulating the right feeling of the constituents, save those members who do right from suffering punishment through local misjudgment of their motives. The message is looked for by a good many Republican congressmen as a most valuable document for them to use in the campaign this fall. In the districts where reciprocity is favored and where the members have been elected on the understanding that that was a part of the party policy, it will be used as evidence that there has been no retreat. In those districts where former elections have been won on the issue of "no tampering with the sacred tariff," it will explain the final attitude of the members toward this single exception to the general rule.

CHOLERA AND SMALLPOX

Prevailing to an Alarming Extent and Causing Many Deaths at Manila Washington, June 11 .-- A rather alarming situation with regard to the epidemic of cholera in the Philippines is set out in a report from Leutenant Colonel Heizeman, in charge of the medical department of the army in the islands. The appearance of the disease at Manila in March is attributed in some quarters to vegetables coming into the islands from infected Chinese ports, and in others to the arinking of Pasig river water, foul with the sewage of the city.

> How Tropical Fruits Are Protected. It may have struck you that most tropical fruits have thick or hard on nauseous rinds, which need to be torn off before the monkeys or birds for whose use they are intended can get at them and eat them. Our northern strawberries, raspberries, currants and whortleberries, developed with a sin gle eye to the pretty robins and finches of temperate climes, can be popped into the mouth whole and eaten as they stand. They are meant for small birds to devour and to disperse the tiny undigested, nutlike seeds in return for the bribe of the soft pulp that sur rounds them. But it is quite otherwise with oranges, shaddocks, bananas, plantains, mangoes and pineapples. Those great tropical fruits can only be eaten properly after stripping off the hard and often acrid rind that guards and preserves them.

> They lay themselves out for dispersion by monkeys, toucans and other relatively large and powerful fruit eat ers, and the rind is put there as a barrier against small thieves who would rob the sweet pulp, but be absolutely incapable of carrying away and dis persing the large and richly stored seeds it covers.-Cornhill Magazine.

> Dr. Johnson's Marvelous Memory. Dr. Johnson, the Ursa Major of Eng. lish literature, had a prodigious memory and at one period of his life employed it in reporting parliamentary debates. Once Dr. Hawkesworth read to him a poem which he intended to publish and asked his opinion of it. "Why, sir," said Johnson, "I cannot well determine on a first hearing. Read it again." Hawkesworth complied. The next morning, the subject of the poem being resumed, Johnson said he had but one objection to it, that he doubted its originality, and to prove his statement repeated the whole poem with the exception of a few lines which so alarmed Hawkesworth that he declared he would never again read anything of his composing to Johnson

CLASSIC ENTRIES FOR AMERICAN DERBY.

Greatest of Western Races to Be Run at Chicago June 21-Abe Frank Is the Favorite.

The American Derby, to be run at Washington park, Chicago, June 21, will be the greatest event of the year in western horse circles. Turfmen everywhere have been looking forward to the running of this race, and the starters will carry large sums of money.

Abe Frank, G. C. Bennett's chestnut colt, still holds favorite in the advance betting and according to form should "turn the trick," but the uncertainty of horse racing has shown conclusively that the most favorite of favorites can go wrong when put to the final test, and some unheard of outsider may get first money just as did Alfred Featherstone's four-year-old chestnut mare Reina in the recent Brooklyn handicap.

In the west McChesney and Cruzados record aggregation, great things may are highly thought of by the "hot stove" circuit, but neither has been asked to display anything. Hildreth, who at the best is not communicative, says he is satisfied with McChesney, but knows no more than any one else how good the colt now is. He refuses to hurry him, although it is quite likely McChesney will be given a breezing before the Derby. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, by curing the womanly diseases which undermine the health and sap the strength. "Favorite Pre-scription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weak-

"When I first commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. George A. Strong, of Gansevoort, Saratoga Co., N. Y. "I was suffering from female weakness, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains, weak and thred feeling all the time. I dragged around in that way for two years, then I began taking your medicine. After taking the first bottle I began to feel better. I took four botles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' also used one bottle of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Now I feel like a new person. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice and the good your medicine has done me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

Which gives the vigor necessary for the proper performance of all the bodily functions, and establishes the conditions of health, manifested by good color and ample flesh; overcomes the effects of having "done too much," as well as of anxiety and worry; and gives strength for the duties and pleasures of life.

This New Iron Tonic

Combining the great oxidizers and vitalizers of the blood, iron and manganese, with the best substances for nourishing and strengthening the nerves and the brain, and for perfecting the digestion, absorption and assimilation of food, happily meets the requirements of the delicate, tired, overworked and worn-out, and is especially recommended for giving health and strength to these and all nervous and debilitated sufferers, abounding, as it does, in the elements of health and strength for either sex at any age. Peptiron in pill or liquid form is both medicine and food, agreeable to the taste and acceptable to the most sensitive stomach, and as a preparation of iron has the great advantage of not causing constipation, nor injuring the teeth, nor leaving any inky or metallic flavor in the mouth.

Realizing Great Benefit. "I have now been taking Peptiron six weeks," said a grateful lady the other day, "and am realizing great benefit, eat more and my stomach digests better. was to be the mildest possible form of the folly-an elopement reduced to the absolute minimum of indiscretion. The two young people had planned it with such self denying care that, in the twords of the prospective bridegroom, there was "nothing left of it except the minister's fee." No thrilling flight, no penitent return, no fear of paternal wrath or joy of forgiveness formed any part of the prospect. The secret was never to be revealed at all.

Some years later there would be a sumptuous wedding, one of those soclety events whose distressing publicity steals half the sanctity from marriage, since those who are united before the brazen face of fashion may well forget into what Presence they have really come to make their vow. No one except themselves would know that this second ceremony was super fluous in the sight of heaven.

The young lady was the daughter of Morton Prior, recently retired from the Rowan was just out of college, where he had been a fair student and a great swell at the sports. His manner had the keen savor of early success and the assurance that comes of triumphant popularity. Prudence thought him the greatest creature ever born.

Now, the judge's mind floated in serene heights of scholarly and pure research, but he had an eagle eye to see the flat earth's surface and especially that portion of it where his daughte walked with innocent feet amid the roses and the thorns of youth. He beheld young Mr. Rowan and not without a certain approval, but he was in no hurry to have him for a son-in-law.

So the judge issued an injunction restraining his daughter and Mr. Rowan from considering themselves engaged. He ruled that no contract existed between them or could exist for a period of two years. The Prior family was going abroad in the fall and would spend at least eighteen months and perhaps twenty-four in foreign lands.

Rowan stated that this fact was already known to him; that he would be quite satisfied to be engaged to Miss Prior meanwhile and would not insist upon marrying her immediately. But the judge would not grant or even consider this plea. Instead he peremptorily adjourned the hearing for two

The result of this was panic. Coupled with some hint of Mrs. Prior's preparation for social conquests abroad, it bred in Rowan's excited mind the conviction that Prudence was to be taken over seas to be the prey of some dissolute and bankrupt noble. Out of this absurdity grew the plot of a secret marriage, and Prudence was beguiled into acquiescence by such arguments as we forget the force of when we grow old.

The plan was simplicity itself. They were merely to skip across lots in the edge of the evening from the Prior residence to a house where a young cler. of Prudence-er-under all circum calamity of a spoiled hat, how could gyman, a newcomer in the town, had taken lodgings. Prudence hesitated, standing in the arbor door and trying to read the secrets of the dull, drifting clouds. There was just light enough to see her upturned face, and this time Rowan did not waste a kiss upon the blue hat. "I left my umbrella in the library," whispered Prudence. "Perhaps I could

"I'll have it in three seconds!" he cried. And the girl stood alone in the

The library was quite dark, as Rowan had had every reason to believe that it would be. He gained easy access through a window, but it was a rather more difficult matter to find the umbrella. The young man stumbled over chairs and knocked his elbows against the corners of bookcases. He had made three-quarters of the circuit of the room when a door opened, and some one entered.

Rowan, crouching close to the wall, crept softly toward a window, but he had taken not more than half a dozen steps when the room became in an instant dazzlingly light, and there stood Judge Prior, with his hand upon the electric button.

The young man was fortunate enough to be one of those persons for whom time moves slowly in emergencies. He seemed to have hours for reflection while the judge was turning around. "Judge Prior," he said in a singularly

"Be seated, sir," said Prior courteously. And they took chairs upon opposite sides of the big table in the center

As Rowan sat down there came a sudden shock of rain against the eastern windows. The sweat of agony broke out upon him as he thought of Prudence in the arbor, and he rose from the chair involuntarily.

"I have but a single word to say," he began, without a notion as to what that "I would willingly grant you the entire evening," said the judge urbanely. "Pray resume your seat and speak without haste.

the judge, taking her hand and drawing her into the library. "Why, you're "And just look at my hat!"

She held it at arm's length, and the sad blue mass dripped audibly upon the hardwood floor.

"Why didn't you come with the umbrella?" she demanded suddenly of Rowan.

His voice stuck in his throat. He waved his hand feebly toward the udge. "Father," continued Prudence, "I am going to my room to change my dress. As for Mr. Rowan, I am done with him forever." She cast one awful glance upon the speechless and trembling youth, and then, with all the dignity which her bedraggled gown permitted, she swept out of his sight.

"I will trouble you for an explanation, sir," said the judge.

He got it, straight out, without the slightest taint of equivocation, for Rowan had reached a point where it was a positive pleasure to accuse himself. Indeed he dealt with his own folly so frankly and displayed such a perfeetly just yet obviously new appreciation of it that the judge's resentment was transformed into something very near to admiration.

"My young friend," he said, "I think you have learned a valuable lesson. Do not forget it. Reflect frequently upon the extreme simplicity of the thing which you attempted to do tonight and the dire failure that you made of it. Believe me, every day of married life is full of problems far more difficult. If you could not devise a way to get I am too young. I really think you un- my daughter out of that arbor and she was not strong enough to bear the you hope"

"One moment, sir," cried Rowan. Tell me what you yourself would have done in my predicament."

Topic For the Week Beginning June 15-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Why total abstinence is best .xiv, 13-23. (Temperance meeting.)

There is one of three attitudes we may take toward intoxicating drinks as a beverage-we may totally abstain drink moderately or drink to excess No one will argue that drinking to excess is the best attitude to take. Drunkenness would find few open advocates even among those who decry most sav agely all temperance efforts or move ments. The question, therefore, nar rows down to a choice between total abstinence and moderate drinking, and it certainly should not take long for any Christian Endeavorer to decide that total abstinence is preferable to moderate drinking, even supposing that one could drink to moderation without drinking to excess.

Total abstinence is best because drinking even in moderation is unnec essary. Intoxicating drinks in no form are necessary to health or to powers of physical endurance. They are all stimulants, and, while stimulants invigorate for a time, the stimulation is only temporary, and the reaction is always in proportion to the stimulation. As a medicine, at proper times, no one car question the usefulness of alcohol in its various forms, but as a beverage it is absolutely unnecessary for health or for physical endurance. It is, rather, positively injurious and should be absolutely avoided.

Total abstinence is best because it is safest for ourselves. Who knows that he can drink in moderation and not go on to excess? Every drunkard at one time thought he could. No man ever deliberately intended to become a drunkard. He expected to be only a moderate drinker; but, alas, how many millions have had their hopes of moderation blasted to the ruination of body, mind, soul, character, position, home and everything! And how do we know but this would be our experience? Every man has in him an appetite for drink that, if awakened, will lead to his destruction, or else he has no such natural appetite. Until we test it we cannot tell which it is; hence why test it at all? Why should we unnecessarily run the risk of awakening a devouring beast within us or of developing within us a ruinous appetite that we do not naturally possess? Safety lies in total abstinence alone. The man who never drinks is in no danger, but the man who drinks even ever so moderately knows not what awful consequences may result from such a course.

Total abstinence is best because it is safest for others. We should always consider our example in deciding upon any course. We are our brother's keeper and must not put "a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in our brother's way." Suppose we could drink in moderation, but that our example would lead another to drinking who would go down to a drunkard's grave and eternal destruction. Would it pay us to do so? Would it not be infinitely better to He stepped toward the door, while abridge our personal liberty and to moderate drinking for the eternal welfare of our brother's soul?

The only wise course in relation to intoxicating drinks as a beverage is total abstinence. It alone is safe for ourselves and for those who come under our influence. How can one who sees the awful, damning consequences of intemperance put even one glass to his lips? It should be impossible, and as Christian Endeavorers let us advocate and practice total abstinence.

BIBLE READINGS. Lev. x, 8-11; Num. vi, 1-4; Deut. xxi, 18-21; Prov. xx, 1; xxiii, 29-35; Isa. v, 11; Luke xii, 45, 46; I. Cor. v, 11; Gal. v. 19-26.

Words of Wisdom. More men are injured by having things made easy for them than by having their path beset with difficulties, for it encourages them to stay themselves on circumstances, whereas their supreme reliance needs to be on their own personal stuff.

Every man will count for all he is worth. There is as much a science of success as there is a science of hydraulics. We are more likely to find a good destiny by going afoot than by riding.

The man whose entire capital is one of enthusiasm will be conspicuous for his abundance of torch, at the same time lacking the timber which the torch exists primarily to enkindle.-Dr. Park-

As the Love of God Rules the Soul. Sin or righteousness does not consist in an act or a series of acts, but in the heart condition of the actor. In this sense a good tree cannot produce evil fruit. The fruit does not redeem the tree, but the tree redeems it. We judge men by what we see and hear. Our limited knowledge shuts out all else. There are no human scales in which to weigh the heart. Religion goes deeper than that. It is false or true in proportion as the love of God rules the soul.-Presbyterian Journal.

Making the Most of Ourselves. It is a solemn duty devolving on all to make the utmost possible out of themselves. Men seek the highest development of their flocks and herds and grain and flowers. The result is the improved flora and fauna of these days over those of prior ones. But should this evolution cease with the lower order? Should the body of creation improve and not the head, which is man?-Christian Standard.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS DEPART

Those Inclined to Be Riotous-Mayor to Swear In Sufficient Number of quit. Police to Guard Street Cars

Pawtucket, R. I., June 14.-Action which the authorities hope means the beginning of the end of the reign of lawlessness in Pawtucket was taken yesterday by the several officials whose duties it is to see that order is main tained and property protected at all times. Early in the day the force of deputy sheriffs, which has been obnoxious to a large proportion of the residents, was withdrawn from the cars of the only line in operation, and were called to Providence by High Sheriff | International company. White. The claim was made that the presence of deputies on cars accomplished no good purpose, but incited the rowds to acts of violence.

Since the withdrawal of these men the city has been comparatively quiet. The 1500 troops ordered out by Governor Kimball Thursday morning are still on duty, although it was decided esterday that if conditions warrant hey will be withdrawn gradually, the first instalment to probably be withdrawn today.

There was no rioting yesterday. In he forenoon seven men were arrested or minor misdemeanors committed on Pawtucket avenue, the thoroughfare over which runs the cars on the route from Providence to this city. None of the lines of the Pawtucket city system of the United Traction company were in operation and the lines in Central Falls, Cumberland and Albion, suburban towns, were tied up. Today it is proposed to reopen the city sysem under the protection of the police, Essisted by the militia.

When the first car on the Pawtucket avenue line reached the city at 10 'clock yesterday it was flanked and marded by companies of militia and cops of cavalry, with machine guns railing along. The crowds were kept the move, and soon as there was a Eign of a demonstration the troops took gorous steps to make it known that their rule was law. It was at this time that the arrests were made, the prisoners all being taken to the state armory and locked up. They will be turned over to the police, who have sworn out warrants charging the defendants with revolting. Throughout the remainder of the day cars on the avenue were

RICHFORD MOURNS For Those Who Were Killed and In-

Richford, Vt., June 11 .- The catastrophe at the veneer mill of Manuel & Son Thursday night, in which two men were killed and many other employes were injured, has caused great grief in this town. Most of the afflicted families are in poor circumstances. The firm is paying the bills and the townspeople are doing all they can to relieve The surgeons have been busy attending the injured persons. Mrs. Mc-Gowan has a badly factured ankle. Pearl Boomhower is so badly hurt that there is question of her recovery. A very pathetic case is that of Rose Cross, a cripple, who had her soung leg broken and her crippled leg badly bruised. On arm is also crushed, and the mutiple injuries are likely to prove fatal. Lon Demarrah, who was with

Harvey and Wilson in the elevator freight compartment, or "follower." was driven through the plank bottom. It seems remarkable that he was not killed outright. When found in the wreck he was trying to extricate himself, with a broken clavicle and a bad scalp wound. Not one of the elevator's passengers escaped injury, and several who thought they had only bruises have since found out that they have fractures of small bones.

An examination of the wreck of the elevator was made yesterday to ascertain wherein was the cause of the accident. The mechanism was supplied with safety dogs, which were supposed to be capable of sustaining great weight independent of the cables. It appears that one of these dogs cut through the wall of the elevator well and turned over, thus freeing the elevator car and allowing it to fall. Moreover, this dog acted as a reverse clutch, so that immediately after the accident it was impossible to raise the car in order to remove quickly the bodies of the men under it. #### Castle Square Theatre.

The announcement that Boucicault's famous drama "The Colleen Bawn" will make the Castle Square theatre attraction the coming week will be a welcome one to the local patrons of the theatre and will afford an opportunity to enjoy one of the best Irish plays by this talented author. "The Colleen Bawn" has had few performances in recent years and will have much the character of a dramatic novelty for the younger generation of play-goers. The fascinatng story of the play, the typical scenes and characters of life in Ireland in earlier times and the opportunities for elaborate scenic and mechanical effects, all combine to make "The Colleen Bawn" a drama of as great interest today as when first produced under Boucicault's own direction. The scene of the rescue of Eily will be made most realistic in the coming production, which will be given under the direction of Mr. J. R. Pitman who was identified with the earlier performances when Boucicault played in it. Following "The Colleen Bawn" on Monday, June 23d, comes a production of "The Rivals." The distribution of boxes of choice chocolate bonbons will be continued at the Monday matinees until further notice.

After Rioters Held Sway [at Central Falls

TROOPS WERE HANDICAPPED

Because of Demonstrations Extending Over a Wide Area-Tracks Ob structed and Railway Employes Assaulted-Machine Gun Made Ready

Pawtucket, R. L. June 16.-The pres ence of 700 armed men sent by Governor Kimball to restore order here had little influence except in the central parts of this city yesterday, where the soldiers formed an invincible guard, and yester day afternoon rioting broke out anew in the suburbs and spread to the neighboring city of Central Falls.

The resumption of street car service which had been abandoned since Thurs day, was the signal for a dozen or mor demonstrations at points where neither soldiers or police were stationed, and the character of the atta ks grew constantly worse until the traction company was forced to abandon the car

The disorders extended over so grea an area that the troops available were unable to handle the situation and i was said that before the usual ca traffic can be resumed it will be neces sary to place Central Falls and parts of Cumberland, Lincoln and North Prov idence under military control. To do this an increase in the number of troops will be necessary. It was demonstrated that the cars could not be operated over the lines in safety under the present condition The tracks were obstructed and cars were pelted vigorously with stones by the mobs which lined the routes of progress not only in the suburbs of this city, but in Central Falls as well. Many of the employes were struck and in jured by missiles and rolling stock was

A mob of 3000 gathered around one car in Central Falls and their attitude was so threatening that a machine gun was loaded and two companies of marine were ordered to charge the crowd. This prompt action allowed the car to proceed, but the line was then abandoned

The marines then marched through the city and at another point the machine gun was made ready for action when it became apparent that an outburst was imminent. Mayor Fales of Central Falls, not having requested military protection from the governor, asked that the troops be withdrawn, and this was done after two hours of

The attacks on the men were even more determined in Central Falls than in Pawtucket, and in one instance a torpedo was placed on the track and exploded under a car with such force that the forward trucks were raised from the rails.

At a conference held yesterday in the state armory it was decided that the militia would not be sent to Central Falls until their services were requested.

The militia unintentionally invaded Central Falls to quell a disturbance be gun over the line and the conference was for the purpose of preventing such a repetition.

No disturbance occurred during the forenoon, and the troops patrolled even a greater stretch of territory than be fore in preparation for the resumption of traffic

The city was practically turned ever to Mayor Fitzgerald who, as the head of the police department, thought the local police, reinforced as they were by the state troops, could preserve

As soon as the crowds heard that cars were started out at 1 o'clock on all lines, the demonstrations commenced and were continued with ever-increasing violence. Sufficient men could not be procured to protect the suburban lines and the cars were accordingly withdrawn before 6 o'clock.

It is openly stated by participators in the attacks that if the troops are taken away such cars as are sent out will be summarily disposed of ..

The troops guarded the inter-city line until 11 o'clock, when they returned to the armory, and at midnight all of the companies who had been on duty the greater part of the day were called in for the night.

STEAMERS IN COLLISION Injuries All Above Water Line and Passengers Are Not Hurt

New York, June 16 .- With 1009 passengers aboard, coming from Coney collision last night with the steamboat H. F. Dimock, which had just arrived from Boston. It was a head-on collision and the bow, deck and rails of the Cygnus were tor and shattered. Fortunately she was not seriously damaged below the water line and so escaped sinking.

Fright prevailed on the Cyguus at the moment of the collision. The women and children became hysterical with fear, and cool work on the part of the deckhands and male passengers was all that prevented many of the passengers from jumping overboard. All of the passengers were landed safely. The Dimock escaped with slighter inuries than the Cygnus received, though her steel bow was stove in.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought

DE WET TO BURGHERS Jays God Demands That They Be

Faithful to New Government London, June 16 .- A dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated June 14, says June 13, and that everything is proceeding most satisfactorily.

Dispatches from South Africa show that the surrender of Boers are pro coding with the greatest good will. The total of the number who have already surrendered numbers 16,500, and the British are extending every possible kindness to the men who come in.

The appearance of General DeWet at the camp at Winburg was the signal for a great display of enthusiasm. When he arrived at the camp, General De Wet was at once surrounded by thousands of Boer men, women and children, who struggled and clamored to shake the hand of their hero. General De Wet delivered an address, warmly applauding the staunch support that the women had given the burghers during the war which, he sald, bad greatly encouraged the men in the field. Continuing, General De Wet recommended his hearers to be loyal to the rew govern ment and said:

"Perhaps it is hard for you to hear this from my mouth, but God has de cided thus. I fought until there was no more hope of upholding our cause, and, erowded with speeches on the bill, the however bitter it may be, the time has come to lay down our arms. As a Christian people, God now demands that we be faithful to our new government. Let us submit to His decision.'

Sneer as you will, laugh at the incompleteness of their productions, declare that they are as at present conducted a hindrance rather than an aid to the American drama, ridicule the hoary chestnuts which are too often presented, there can be no gainsaying the fact that the stock system has grown wonderfully in this country dur-

What New Yorkers run sented to all children of the church wild over rarely pleases the denizens of the smaller towns, for the reason that the surfeited citizens of the metropolis require highly seasoned and fleshy entertainment. This sort of thing serves but to disgust the quiet and reposeful inhabitants of the smaller cities. Miss Thurston's success then establishes a precedent which other managers than her own should follow. If they have good plays and clever players, the "provinces" will find them out and reward them accordingly.

YACHT RACES.

Two Local Clubs Have Contests for Championship.

The large number of yachts to participate in the race under the ausweather literally forces them to close this wholesome sport. The breeze was Without doubt a closer and more in- their doors. A notable feature of the not quite as strong as many would have liked. What there was came from the east and there was enough to make a pretty race. Unfortunately none of the yachts had been measured, so the actual time only could be given. The yachts, however, will be measured on Tuesday, and the results may be changed.

Four classes participated in the race. Ten started in the first class and all finished but the Olive, which withdrew for no apparent reason. The Eclipse was an easy winner.

The most interest perhaps was in the race of the special 21 foot class between Frank F. Crane's Cleopatra and W. P. Barker's Omeme. The race between these two boats was a close one, the Cleopatra finishing with a lead of only 24 seconds.

PLOT TO KILL THE KING

May Have Been an Excuse to Withdraw From Public Functions and Seek Safety In Windsor Castle-No Official Confirmation of Rumors

London, June 18 .- A sensational story is current in London of the discovery of a plot to assassinate King Edward. This story has created considerable discussion in newspaper and other circles, but it is lacking in anything like official confirmation.

According to the current report, King Edward's sudden illness at Aidershot was not due to a cold, but was merely an excuse for withdrawing his majesty from public functions, owing to the discovery by Scotland Yard of a plot plot have not yet been arrested.

It is cited in confirmation of this story that King Edward's recovery, when he was ensconced at Windsor eastle, was as complete and speedy as his attack had been sudden.

On the other hand, it must be pointed out that if his majesty's illness was nerely diplomatic the officials certainly took a great deal of trouble in Laking, physician to the king, was summoned by telegraph to Aldershot; his prescriptions were hurriedly filled and of disrespect to superior officer. everything about the king's apartments indicated that genuine nature of his liness. Furthermore, King Edward's ourney from Aldershot to Windsor in his motor car, and his subsequent drive yesterday in Windsor Park, do not seem to indicate any fear of a violent attack upon his person.

At Scotland Yard the atmost retrumors. It was noticeable, however, return home at night, were all on duty there last night, and while they redeclined either to deny or confirm the above the 200 mark.

In a dispatch from Geneva, the correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says he continental police are co-operating with the English police to prevent anarchists and evil doers from smuggling themselves into England while the oronation festivities are in progress. Numerous anarchists have recently disappeared from Zurich and Geneva, says the correspondent, and they are supposed to be waiting in Paris for a favorable opportunity to cross the channel. King Edward's drive to Frogmore late yesterday afternoon in a closed carriage, attended only by a gentleman of the household, was quite unexpected and a great surprise to the spectators. The sun shone brightly at the time and his majesty appeared delighted to be out again, and bowed smilingly in return to the salutes from the crowd.

Cost $10,000 to Release Cattle Halifax, June 18 .- Acting under instructions from the Canadian government customs inspectors proceeded to as James Brown, with no home, said the northwest territories to investigate the extent to which American cattle were being run into the territories from the United States to stock ranches on the Canadian side of the line. As a result, on one of the ranches Officer Bourinott seized nearly 6000 head illegally brought in. They were returned yesterday, the owner paying to the Canadian government $10,000 for their release. Trouble Likely to Come

Pocatello, Ida., June 18 .- Exactly at she got there the child was dead. 12 o'clock yesterday 1300 men and boys rushed across the line of the ceded Fort Hall reservation and disappeared in a cloud of dust in their mad rush for homestead and mineral lands. Most of them were mounted on horses, and ponies, a majority heavily armed. Probably 1000 persons departed later with pack animals. Many signs of trouble are apparent. In scores of instances three or more men intended to locate on the same piece of land.

TURNER BROKE DOWN When Arraigned In Court on Charge

of Murdering His Son Webster, Mass., June 18.-Trembling violently, and with tears rolling down his face, Charles F. Turner, who shot and killed his son, Rudolph, on Saturday jast, while the family were gathered at the dinner table, stood before Judge Clark yesterday, charged with murder.

The man was incapable of supporting himself, and had to be almost carried into the court by Sheriff Clare. After the hearing had been delayed about 20 minutes, to give the defendant a chance to control himself, the charge was read. No plea was entered. The only witness called was Sheriff Clare, SICKNESS AT ALDERSHOT who arrested the man. Probable cause was found and the defendant was held without bail until Aug. 17. Among the spectators at the hearing was Mrs. Turner, wife of the defendant, who was affected to an even greater degree than her husband. She finally had to be removed from the court room, as she was unable to control her feelings. The family are Germans, and all have been employed as weavers in the American Woolen company's mills in this section, but they had been idle on account of the strike against the corporation. The boys, aged 10 and 20 years, had secured work, and it is said that their refusal to give the father their wages led to the shooting.

Pawtucket, R. On the contrary, provisional companies to relieve those now on duty will soon be called out.

REPUBLICANS TO CONFER

On the Spooner Reciprocity Propost tion-Renewed Talk of a Treaty With Cuba-Congress May Adjourn Without Action In the Matter

Washington, June 18 .- The Republion Cuban relations yesterday finally agreed to the acceptance of the Spooner bill providing for reciprocity with Cuba and decided to hold a conference of Republican senators tonight to consider

The beet sugar men have been so much encouraged by recent occurrences that many of them claim that the conference decision will be averse to any legislation whatever in the interest of Cuba. They still claim 20 Republicans who will oppose any effort at legislation on the floor of the senate and they assert that there are many others of their colleagues who are in sympathy with them and will so express themselves in the privacy of the conference room: This showing, they believe, will be such as to convince the advocates of reciprocity of the futility of their move and cause them to abandon | Year. the effort without taking the question

The friends of the measure, however, say that there can be no doubt that the conference will pronounce for the Spooner bill and that it will be reported to the senate by the committee baving

There is some renewal of the talk of a treaty with Cuba and it is stated that It is quite probable that it will be sent to the senate before the adjournment of the present session. It is therefore probable that at tonight's conference the beet sugar Republicans will be asked to say whether they would support a treaty on the lines of the Spooner bill. The impression is strong that legislation either in the form of an act or a treaty is quite out of the question for this session.

Senators Elkins, Burrows, Dietrich and Foraker called at the White House yesterday and discussed Cuban reciprocity with the president. The attitude of the president now is regarded more as that of a listener than an advisor, he having expressed himself in his special message as to the duty of congress | traces of her. toward Cuba. As to "Reciprocity" Expenditures Washington, June 18 .- Secretary Henderson. Just beyond the Cedar Cliff mill is the Rynewarner mill. The doors were burst open and the men and girls there were found ready to go out. When this was seen the rioters did nothing but wait until the mill was closed. The next place visited was a cotton oraid factory. It seemed to make no difference to the mob whether it was in any way connected with the silk trade or not. The women became hysterical as the howling rioters climbed n windows and burst in the doors. Mr. Reinhardt, the owner, ordered his employes to quit for the day.

The mob rushed through the cotton works and did much damage and then oured on down the street to Bamford Bros.' great mill in Cliff street. Here four patrolmen had taken a stand. They faced the mob for five minutes, telling them that the employes had gone out by the rear and the works were closed down. Some one threw a brick through a window and stones rained against the side of the mill and the windows in a perfect shower. From the mill volleys were hurled at the officers and all four were struck several times.

A section of the mob made for the Bamford home close by. The police sought to head them off and did so. but a shot was fired and a bullet went through Officer Robinson's right arm. It staggered him and as he was regaining his feet a jagged rock hit him on the head, laying open the scalp. Dr. Crothers spoke on "Intellectual pleasures." Actors and actresses say that if one of their number faints cold water is poured on the wrists. The result is always immediate recovery. Athletes engaged in feats of endurance understand the importance of keeping the wrists cool in summer and warm in winter, but the general public goes on wearing tight gloves and heavy cuffs during the dog days and then wonders why it is hot. Taking off one's gloves, especially in church, makes quite a surprising difference in one's temperature. Tight sleeves, above all things, make the wearer hot in oppressive weather.

She never scolded Amy, not a word, but just left her alone to think over her naughtiness all by herself.

But Bobby Shafto didn't approve of these mild measures. He thought Amy needed a good hard scolding, so he made up his mind to give it to her. "Amy, Amy, Amy Brooks!" he would

How glad mamma always was to go to her little girl, cuddle her close and listen to the whispered words: "I'm sorry, mamma, and I won't run

Cuban Reciprocity Proposa! Fails at Conference

BEET SUGAR MEN OBDURATE

Nineteen Senators Unalterably Opposed to Reduction of Duty on Cuban Sugars-Congress Likely to Adjourn Without Desired Legislation

Washington, June 19 .- The Republican senators held a conference last rocity and after a flood of short speeches adjourned until next Friday without action of any sort. Seventeen senators, one after another, announced unalterable opposition to a reduction of the duty on Cuban sugars, and announcement was made that two others not present stood with them.

Senators Platt and Spooner took the lead in behalf of the proposed legislation and endeavored to convince the beet sugar senators that the measure they had framed jointly would not injure any American interest, but the speeches made no impression on the opposition and the conference adjourned until Friday at the desire of the friends of Cuban reciprocity in order that they might have a last opportunity to try to agree on a measure that the beet sugar senators will accept.

It was the general opinion after the conference that this session of congress would adjourn without Cuban reciprocity legislation of any sort.

The conference was preceded by two meetings to which some significance gathering of the Republican steering given by Senator Burrows in his com- orders not to return without them. mittee room to the beet sugar senators.

The steering committee discussed nothing but the order of business in the senate, and decided to recommend that the reciprocity bill be made the unfinished business after the disposal today of the isthmian canal bill, subject, of course, to the action of the confer-

The Burrows' dinner was attended by 17 of the 19 senators who are pledged to opposition to the reciprocity bill. A poll led to the announcement that onethird of the Republican membership of the senate was present at the dinner; that 11 states were represented and that they were as firmly united as they ever had been.

NOT SELF-SUPPORTING

Apaches Must Continue to Be Provided For by the Government

Washington, June 19 .- The war department has received information that trouble is threatened among the Apache Indians on the San Carlos reservation in Arizona, on account of the proposed shutting off of beef and other rations after July 1, next. Gen-university, to succeed Rev. B. L. Whiteral Funston, commanding the department of the Colorado, says the Indians posed action of the government, and predicts that if the rations are discontinued they will take beef and other supplies wherever they can get them, regardless of consequences. The secretary of the interior yesterday telegraphed Agent Carson of the San Carlos agency to make a full report on the matter and directed that issues of rations to the Indians will not be stopped on the 30th instant, as planned, but will be continued until further direction.

General Funston's report is based on a report from Colonel Lebo of the Fourteenth cavalry, commanding at Fort Grant, Ari. General Funston says the Apaches are not self-supporting and will not be for many years, if ever, and that the discontinuance of issues to them will be followed by serious trouble. There are about 2200 Indians on the reservation.

THE VERMONT CONTEST

THE CLEMENT MEN BOLTED

When Proctor Withdrew and Threw His Strength to McCullough, Who Was Nominated on Third Ballot-Bolters Hold a Snap Convention

Montpelier, Vt., June 20.-Amid cenes of marked disorder and tur ulence the Republicans of Vermont nated General J. G. McCullough of Bennington for governor on the third ballot, from 130 to 140 delegates supporting Percival W. Clement of Rutland narching out of the hall in a body as a protest against the action of the ma-

The revolt was the outgrowth of the most bitter political contest ever waged in Vermont, and at one time last night it looked as if the open split in the party would exist until voting day. The bolting delegates late in the afternoon at an impromptu open air demonstration at Mr. Clement's private car, where he had his own headquarters, ominated him for governor on an independent ticket, but later developments indicated that the high license nen would devote some days and pesof the political outlook before string in independent ticket in the fist. Mr. Clement himself last night advised his ollowers to go home and think it over fore taking any hasty action.

The climax came at the end of the econd ballot late in the afternoon when the name of the third candidate for governor. Fletcher D. Proctor of Proctor, was withdrawn, and his strength thrown to General McCal-

Before the formal ballot which naminated the general could be taken, C. W. Peck and J. C. Jones, both Clement leaders from Rutland, loudly denounced McCullough's methods, and amid a dramatic scene, Mr. Jones called upon his men to bolt.

The uproar was so great for a time that the Clement leaders could not be heard, and they were hissed off the loor by the majority delegates. Amid a whirlwind of hisses, shouts, stamping of feet and flying paper, from 130 to 140 Clement delegates, mostly from Rutland and Washington counties, H. R. Crosby of Dia

When the outbreak taken, General McCullough carrying the day by an overwhelming vote. A new state committee was elected, with Ira D. Allen of Fair Haven chairman and A. E. Watson of Hartford secretary. These are re-elections.

The withdrawal of Mr. Proctor, the Prohibition candidate, was ordered be cause he did not desire to be out of line of the party organization. The high license, local option men profess to be satisfied with the referendum plank in the platform, which was adopted after a wrangle, and General McCullough has agreed to obey the expressed will of the people on the question of the repeal of the prohibitory law when the question comes up for settlement.

The platform warmly endorses the position of the adminstration on the Philippines and other national affairs, and on the liquor question says:

"The Republican party of Vermont adheres to its long cherished belief that unrestricted traffic in intoxicating liquors is a public evil and the material modification of the existing law on that subject should be made only after thorough discussion and mature deliberation by the people, and we request the state legislature at its next session to make provision for ascertaining the will of the people by direct vote upon the acceptance or rejection of a license and local option law regarding the sale of intoxicating liquors, and further providing that upon popular vote in favor of such a law being duly ascertained, the same shall become a statue law of the state in force."

When the bolters left the hall they were joined by the Rutland band, which escorted them to Mr. Clement's private car near the depot. Here a snap vote was taken in favor of the Rutland man

Clement spoke briefly, saying that he would leave the question of an independent ticket in the hands of his delegates. He advised them to go home and think the matter over, as he considered that he did not have enough votes to elect him at the present time.

KING ALBERT DEAD tot an Empire Maker, but Extremely Popular Among His Subjects Dresden, Saxony, June 20 .- King Albert died at 8:03 p. m., last night. His majesty passed away peacefully at the castle of Sibyllenort.

King Albert was born April 23, 1828. He was the oldest son of King Johann ind of Queen Amalie. When he was called to the throne of Saxony, the kingdom was sorely taxed with a war Paterson, N. J., June 20 .- In the main debt of 10,000,000 thalers. The new king's wisdom gradually removed this debt, and his many noble qualities endeared him to the people.

The king was childless and will be succeeded by his brother, Prince George. His queen is a much beloved princess. King Albert of Saxony was the last of the generals who commanded the German army of 1870. He could hardy be called one of the empire makers, for it was his father, King Johann, who brought Saxony into the empire, but with her own active assent. King Albert contributed to the foundations of the empire, and although he fought against the Prussians in the war of 1866, he immediately reconciled himself to the situation and supported Prussia's political and military as-

His sober life produced few incidents in the Protestant-Catholic country which he ruled. and his unobtrusive support of his own church, the Roman Catholic, never caused a conflict with popular opinion. The vast majority of the inhabitants of Saxony are Protestants.

Emperor William always referred to King Albert as a fatherly friend. It is understood that the emperor will at once suspend his tour of the Rhine and return to Berlin to take part in the funeral of the dead king. The death of King Albert will certainly limit the regatta festivities at Kiel the latter part of this month

Believed by the Police to Have Been Kidnapped---Parents Not Wealthy.

Beverly, Mass., June 20.- The excitenent continues over the strange absence of Wilbur Clark, 3 years old, who disappeared near Chebacco lake Wednesday afternoon. There are many theories regarding the disappearance, some holding to the belief that the boy's body will be found in the lake. Others are of the opinion that he perished in the swamp, while a majority of the people are confident that the boy has been kidnapped. Why this boy should be taken from his parents, who are not wealthy people, cannot be explained by those holding to the kidnapping theory, anless it might be the hope of even a small reward might have tempted someone to keep the boy in hiding until the offer was forthcoming.

Wilbur is of light compexion, with light hair, blue eyes and a full forehead, the eyes dropping a trifle at the corners. Ais hair is cut short, his nose is thin, and a little broad at the base. When he disappeared he was dressed in a tam-o-shanter hat of ooze leather, a blue chimbray shirt waist, dark brown woolen trousers, black stockings, black aced shoes, with spring heels, and a white-ribbed undershirt with low neck and short sleeves, over which was a white jean waist, to which the trousers

An Unusual Complaint

Boston, June 20.-In the case of Jeremiah R. Dowling against William H. The ground of the suit was that soot, dust and cinders fell from the chimney in the defendant's greenhouse into a pond from which the plaintiff got ice for his customers.

MR. ADAMS' ADDRESS

Interesting Comments on His Public Relations.

Whenever Mr. Charles Francis Adams June 17, colminating in the prediction active working of the tilt over which he that the "bronze effigy of Robert E. Lee, mounted on his charger and with ous resemblance to one of Don the insignia of his Confederate rank Quixote's windmills. will from its pedestal in the nation's Capitol look across the Potomac at his old home at Arlington, even as that of Cormwell dominates the yard o Westminster upon which his skull once ooked down, is certain to give rise to as much debate, as the one he gave at Harvard a score of years ago, in which e denounced the study of Greek as a 'College Fetich.'' It is a fine thing lirect "play of the higher mind upon he lower mind," if only once a year. Mr. Adams says: "As to participa ion of those who sympathize in these rebel) views and this policy in the onneils of the Government, so further ng schemes for its overthrow while worn to is support, I hold it unnecessary to speak. Such were traitors As such, had they met their deserts. they should, at the proper time and on due process of law, have bee arrested, tried, convicted, sentenced and hanged. That in certain well re membered instances this course wa not pursued is to my mind even ye much to be deplored. In such cases lemency is only another form of ant," This can mean nothing less than the execution of all the cabine nembers, congressmen and Federa officials of the South who had become nvolved in the political prepossession and passions of their sectional environ ment in the Civil War.

But Mr. Adams condones Lee' postasy because he was a Virginia anded gentleman, with Virignia there ic relation. Ah ha, then, Mr. Adams s a State's Rights man, the reade hinks-until he is referred by Mr. Adams to the course of his ancestor John Quincy Adams: "Because h was a Union man and held country higher than states or party, John he himself was forced into what at the nore explicit: "Confronted with the Massachusetts taken the course then

Mr. Charles Francis Adams's well remembered simile in the days of 'Liberal Republicans' and "Mugwumps," placed the independence in the potential position of the man who tue middle of the tetter-board of politics by taking a step, toward the tilt go as he likes. The post is a commanding one but necessarily soliary. It permits no rest, either; to fulil its obligations one must be continually stepping over from one side to the ther. In all his public relations Mr. Adams seems to have kept his weight shifting as he does in the above cited characteristic dicta. He will go a little ways he will "be bold" and again bold, -but "not too bold," At the outset of his public career, as railroad commissioner of the State of Massashusetts-and practically the commission in himself -- he introduced and fastened upon the State and, as Massachusettts leads, in due time upon the Federal Government, the principle and beginning of public control of the railroads. Yet later he became presi dent of Jay Gould's transcontinental railroad-a railroad "every step of whose construction had been taken in fraud" according to the findings of the congressional inquiry. As Governor Bay with the "unearned increment" tinguished of the persuasive Mr. Filleturn all such increment into the

He was fortunate enough to be in a position to sell a vast tract of unimproved house lots on the Back and now he figures as the most disbrown's array of influential local backers of local option as to Henry George's "Single Tax" which would public treasury. Among the original founders of the Anti-Imperialist League Mr. Adams publicly repudiated it, somewhat as his father drew himself out of "that crowd" headed by Carl Schurz which had attacked the cor ruptions of the Grant regime, Again,

Unite In Effort to Draw Factions Together

Says New Issues Can Be Dealt With ty's Doctrine-Ex-Senator Hill Tells that won the admiration of all those What Democracy Stands For

New York, June 20.-Democratic unity was the keynote of a great gathering of representative Democrats who had come to attend the opening of the handsome new quarters of the Tilden club last night. To Democrats the event was one of the most memorable for many a day, as Grover Cleveland and David B. Hill, two of the most prominent leaders in the country, met in harmony, seeking to draw the factions of their party together. It was the first public political appearance of the ex-president in five years. He spoke first. Ex-Senator Hill spoke after him and then Governor Montague of Virginia and Colonel Gaston of Boston delivered addresses.

William J. Bryan had been invited to attend, though not to speak, but no reply was received from him. President Dowling of the club, in introducing ex-President Cleveland, said: We have with us here tonight the greatest of living Democrats. The first speaker I have the honor of introducing to you is the successful candidate of two national campaigns, ex-President Grover Cleveland."

There was tremendous applause as Mr. Cleveland ascended the small platform. He said;

"I have been urged to participate in this occasion by those who have assured me that this handsome structure is to be dedicated tonight to the rehabilitation and consolidation of the Democratic party, under the inspiration of a name which, during the days of Democratic strength and achievement, vas honored in every Democratic house

"Such an assurance made to one who ollowed with hearty devotion the leadership of Samuel J. Tilden, when living, and who has since found in his career and fame the highest incentive to Democratic steadfastness, could hardly fail to overcome the temptations of my contented retirement from political activity. Perhaps there are those who could define my position as one of banishment instead of retirement. Against this I shall not enter a protest. It is sufficient for me in either case, that I have followed in matters of difference within our party the teachings and counsel of the great Democrat in whose name party peace and harmony are tonight invoked.

"In dealing with new issues, we of the Democratic faith are extremely fortunate in the simplicity of Democratic standards and the ease with which new questions can be measured by those standards. A party based upon care for the interests of all the people, as their aggregate condition demands with no unjust favoritism for any particular class; a party devoted to the plan of popular government as out fathers ordained it and for the purposes which they sought to establish; a party whose conservatism opposes dangerous and un-American experiments and yet puts no barrier in the way of genuine and safe progress, ought to be able to deal with new questions in a manner quite consistent with Democratic doctrine, and stimulating to Democratic impulses and instincts. "My days of political activity are past, and I shall not hereafter assume to participate in party councils. I am absolutely content with retirement; but I still have one burning, anxious political aspiration. I want to see before I die the restoration to perfect health and supremacy of that Democracy whose mission it is to bless the people -a Democracy true to itself, untempted by clamor, unmoved by the gusts of popular passion and uncorrupted by offers of strange alliance, the Democracy of patriotism, the Democracy of safety, the Democracy of Tilden and the Democracy that deserves and wins success."

At the point in his speech where Mr. Cleveland announced his absolute retirement from politics the crowd yelled, 'No. No. No.'

Senator David B. Hill, who spoke next, was received almost as enthusiastically as Mr. Cleveland. Mr. Dowling in introducing him said: "Mr. Hill is today the recognized leader of his party in New York state and under his guidance and leadership we are confident of

THUNDER MOUNTAIN ROAD. Much Needed Thoroughfare to New

El Dorado Soon to Be Built. A Nampa (Ida.) letter in the Seattle Times says the vexed problem of a wagon road to the Thunder mountain mines, which has been agitating the minds of the people of the southern portion of Idaho ever since the New El Dorado was discovered, has been settled definitely, and active work on J. M. Clark of the Idaho Northern and B. N. and O. railways has returned from a tour of inspection of the Nampa-Emmett route via Garden valley or Long valley, and E. H. Dewey, western manager of the Thunder Mountain Gold and Silver Mining company, has announced, as before intimated, that the wagon road will be built this way. Colonel W. H. Dewey of Nampa, who purchased the original Thunder mountain ore discoveries from the Caswell brothers, has recently completed a new of members of both parties ratified the distance of thirty miles, and it is from this terminus that the Thunder mountain wagon road will be built. The total distance from Emmett to the mines by this road will be 120 miles, going by way of Gold Fork. A stage line will be operated from Emmett. On account of the enormous cost involved and the evident superiority of the route selected in the matter of distance and good roads this will probably be the only Thunder mountain wagon road from southern Idaho. Boise City will build up and connect with this road at Pen Basin, and Weiser and Council will build and connect with it at a point near Emmett. Mr. D. S. Murray, manager of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company, now has men in the field building a telephone line from Emmett to Thunder mountain. The great rush is expected to begin the first of July.

One of the places visited by the Dixle party on reaching the ruins of St. Pierre was the clubhouse, says the Washington Post. Here was a scene of desolation such as inspired the conqueror of Constantinople when he rode into St. Sophia over the piles of slain. The clubhouse interior was just as the inmates had left it when the terrible rain of fire that destroyed St. Pierre came on.

> Cooper Defends Administration Washington, June 20.-The opening day of the week's debate on the Philippine government bill in the house was signalized by a strong and exhaustive speech by Mr. Cooper (Wis.), chairman of the committee on insular affairs. He contended that the problem of the Philippines should not be a party ques tion; that both political parties brought treaty which made the islands American territory. The most telling portion of his speech was the parallel he drew between the present attitude of the opposition and the attitude of the opposition during and immediately succeeding the Civil war. ## CRITICISM OF GARDENER

In General Wheaton's Report to the War Department

HE ASSISTED THE ENEMY

By Allowing Appointive Officers to Be Selected by Guerilla Leaders-Bell Set a Model For the Suppression of Similar Insurrections

Washington, June 21.-The war department made public yesterday one of the most important reports yet received from the Philippines in regard tacilities for the conducting of my Real Estate to the methods used to suppress insurrection in the recently hostile provinces. General Lloyd Wheaton, who makes the report, writes comprehensively regarding the charges of Major Cornelius Gardener and does not hesitate to say that Major Gardener's administration was of great assistance to the enemy.

After describing fully the methods by which contributions were levied upon friendly natives by ladrones and insurgent leaders, the completeness of Malvar's organization of 5000 guerillas, which operated in a country largely made up of deep volcanic ravines, thickly-wooded mountains and tropical jungles, General Wheaton says:

In the province of Tayabas couditions were as bad as in any province in Luzon. The civil governor, Major Gardener, had been either deceived or had not informed himself of the conditions throughout his province. The state of affairs in the town of Tiaon, as found upon investigation by officers of the Third brigade, showed that in May, 1901. delegates of insurrection conferred with Major Gardener and were instructed to return to Tiaon and prepare for election. For the appointive officers of the town such men were selected as were designated by the guerilla leaders.

Wherever investigation of organization of municipalities under the civil government was made, a similar state of affairs was found to exist. The principal and most important duty of the police force was to give the insurgents notice of the movements of the American forces. Another duty of the police in this province was to furnish misinformation to the commanding officers of American forces relative to the operations of guerillas. In Tiaon insurgent officers and soldiers were in and about the town whenever they chose to be.

People were arrested in the outskirts of the town and turned over to insurgent forces nearby and murdered. An order of Malvar, dated September, 1901, directed the insurgent chiefs to have one or more candidates for president in the different muchles gave to the American forces. In the vicinity of this town of Tiaon there were 270 rifles in the hands of guerillas.

It was due to the efforts of General Bell that the insurrection was brought to a close, says General Wheaton, and the methods followed should be a model in suppressing insurrections under like circumstances. He gives in detail that report of General Bell, who explains that the only way possible to put an end to the insurrection was "by cutting off the income and food of the insurgents and by crowding them so persistently with operations as to wear them out." He says that a policy of permitting no neutrality was adopted and zones of protection established. The people were not compelled to enter these zones, but the opportunity was offered them to decide for themselves whether they would be friends or enemies. General Bell pays his respects to Major Gardener by saying that he persisted in representing that no insurrection existed in his province and that there were no disturbers of public order abroad except a few ladrones. whose number was belittled. General Wheaton, in resuming his report, says:

There has been harmony and co-operation, excepting that in one of the provinces under civil government the governor has endeavored to seek cause of dissatisfaction with the military officers stationed or operating therein. In the province of Tayabas the civil r 9 12 abc 9 32 10 28 fedeba 10 33 10 50 ibgfedeball 19 1 10 08 abcdef 10 32 11 28 cba 11 49 1 Dec. 16, 1901, that "true loyalty and contentment can come only under a benign civil government." It was, however, necessary that something should be done to enable the establishing of such a government, which was impossible during the time this officer was governor, as the insurgents were in arms in Tayabas, we having caused since Dec. 1 the capture or surrender of 44 officers, 365 soldiers, 11 bronze cannon, 644 rifles and 159 revolvers in that province.

In conclusion General Wheaton says: I authorized the policy and fully approve of the methods by which the insurrection in the provinces of Batangas, Laguna and Tayabas was ended. The human code of the laws of war, as published during the administration of President Lincoln, was followed in all operations against semi-civilized insurgents, habitually violating every law of war known to civilized nations and treating their own people with every barbarity than can be inflicted upon

ITALY PROTESTS

Against Publication of Crowinshield's Reflection on Venetian Justice

Washington, June 21.—The case of the American naval officers imprisoned at Venice was discussed of the cabinet meeting yesterday, but the officials decline to make any statement in regard to it. It is known, however, that Secretary Moody, for the navy, has assured the Italian ambassador that the publication of the findings of the court of inquiry was entirely unauthorized. It is probable that the affair will be smoothed over by an explanation to the effect that the navy department does not share in the criticism expressed of the Italian jails.

The Italian ambassador, Mr. Planches, was again at the navy department yesterday. Secretary Moody expressed his earnest regret to the ambassador that the findings of the court of inquiry had been made public, and assured him that the efficials at Washington were in no way responsible for and did not approve of it. The ambassador inclines to the view that both governments should make public the records of proceedings in the case. Secretary Moody, however, already has expressed his desire not to make the American court's record public, and here the matter hangs in the balance. The ambassador will call at the state department today to confer with Secretary

In view of the attitude of the American press in regard to the imprisonment of the officers at Venice. Ambassador Planches some days ago cabled his government for all the official reports possible concerning the arrest, imprisonment and treatment of the officers. These are now at hand, but the ambassador declines to make them public at present.

The ambassador cabled yesterday to Rome, informing his government of the character of Admiral Crowninshield's review of the naval court proceedings.

The husband was out of work and the couple were poverty-stricken, unacquainted with the English language and without friends in this country. Krizan was 33 and his wife 28.

PANAMA CANAL VICTORY

ANALYSIS OF THE VOTE

Shows That Four Preferred to Defeat Legislation Because Displeased by Defeat of Nicaragua-House Will Undoubtedly Accept Panama Route

Washington, June 21.-The Republican senators held another conference yesterday on the question of Cuban reciprocity and after three hours' disussion adjourned, subject to the call of Chairman Allison, without action, Almost all the Republican senators who are in the city were present. There were eight or nine speeches made in support of reciprocity, and only two in opposition to that policy. This vas in accord with a previous understanding that, as the beet sugar senators had monopolized the attention of the conference on Wednesday night, their opponents should have the greater share of the time yesterday.

Senator Foraker opened the proceed ings with an appeal to his party colleagues to get together in support of this measure. He said that men could not be with the party at one time and against it at another and maintain their prestige.

Senator Lodge dwelt with especial emphasis on the importance of having Republican senators stand together at this critical point in the party's history. Much of prestige and future national standing, he said, might depend on the step now taken, for all the world was watching with interest our treat ment of the Cuban people. He declared that opposition would not suffice to prevent the continued presentation of this matter until success should be attained, and was quite positive that if reciprocity with Cuba was not secured now it would be at a later date.

Senators Beveridge and Warren spoke briefly in support of reciprocity Senator McComas declared his adherence to the senate reciprocity bill.

Senator Hale said that it should be distinctly understood that in supporting this measure he did not surrender his principles as a protectionist. He was inclined, he said, to hesitate somewhat before accepting the modern day reciprocity idea, but reciprocity with Cuba he regarded as entitled to somewhat different consideration from reciprocity with other countries because of the obligation we had assumed towards that island.

Senator Aldrich dwelt with especial emphasis on the necessity of the party's presenting a solid front at this time and with respect to this measure. He reiterated the statement which had been made by other speakers that the question was a party question and pleaded with the opposing senators to recognize this fact and accept the situation. He ridiculed the idea that the proposed reduction would injure the beet sugar interests, saying that as sugar now receives protection amounting to about 100 percent on the cost price, the reduction proposed in the bill Washington, June 21.-The senate suggested by the Cuban committee still would leave a Senator Hanna spoke of the question adier general. The vote on the motion of extending the proper aid to Cuba as a moral question, saying that our obsion of the nomination was again led ligations to the Cuban people were such that we would not be true to ourselves, as a nation, if we should fail to give them an encouraging hand at the beginning of their national career.

The meetig had almost concluded when Senator Burton made an eloquent speech in support and defense of the attitude of the beet sugar Republicans He spoke especially with reference to an intimation that the beet sugar senators were not loyal to their party. It is side, he said, stood for the support of one of the most promising, as it was one of the most deserving, of infant industries. He said that it was not true that the beet sugar men were not willing to extend a helping hand to the people of Cuba if they needed belp, but he contended that there was no need for assistance to the people of that island at this time. Mr. Burton said Senator Platt, in defending the committee's action in striking out the house provision for the extension of our labor laws to Cuba, had said that Cuban labor is as well paid as is farm labor in any part of the United States. Mr. Burton said that if this were true the Cuban laborer certainly was not in need of alms from the people of the United States. His conclusion was that it was unjust to ask the farmers of this country to sacrifice their own interests for the purpose of granting an annuity of five of six million dollars.

Senator Burrows spoke very briefly

SHE GOT A SEAT.

Not Through the Instrumen tality She Had Invoked.

Humor does not abound in the vigorous atmosphere of the London twopenny tube between 7 and 8 p. m.; therefore the passengers jammed up near the fat, irate woman one evening last week greatly enjoyed the follow-

"Thomas (this very loudly while jogging a mild little husband as they both swayed, clutching the leather loops overhead), get a seat for me, I tell yer.' Conciliatory whispers came from the mild man, who glanced timidly at the passengers his wife was pushing against.

Then: "Nonsense! Yer could find me a seat easy enough if yer wanted

More agonized whispers from the husband and more loud demands from the wife. There was great local relief when an irreproachably dressed young man politely gave up his seat. As the woman dropped heavily into it she beamed on him with "Any one can see you're not my 'usband, sir."-Manchester (England) Guardian.

The Boethick Indians.

The Boethick Indians of Newfoundland, at one time the aboriginal inhabitants of the island, can now only be counted by one or two skeletons and a few skulls, so completely have they been swept away. The French employed the Mic Mac Indians of Nova Scotia to fight against and exterminate them. The Boethicks were a peaceable and quiet race, given to hunting and fishing. They used canoes made of birch rind and of skins of deer, like the Eskimo cayak. They had no pottery and used utensils of birch rind sewed together, but they employed soapstone dishes as lamps, their form being similar to those among the Eskimos at the present day.

They carved deer and walrus horns and the bones of the seal into ornaments, which they wore on their dresses, and ornamented their heads with combs. The carvings are in triangular patterns, and out of the large collections in the museum at St. John there are no two ornaments having the same pattern. Their stone implements were more rudely constructed than those of the western Indians.

Pat and the Jockey.

Pat went to a race course the other day and fell in with a number of sporting friends who were betting on the races. He was urged to bet, but steadfastly refused until he saw two of his friends win a large sum on one of the races. Finally, after much urging, he put half a crown on a horse, from which moment he became deeply interested.

As the horses came past the judge's box Pat's fingers clutched the back of the seat and his eves were wide with excitement. The horse on which he had bet finished sixth. Without a word, but with a look of deep disgust, he got up and hurried down to the paddock where the jock ye were. Calling the youngster who had ridden that particular horse aside, Pat inquired in deeply injured tones:

"In hivin's name, young man, phwat detained you?"-London Chronicle.

Snake Bite and Whisky.

There is not on record an authenticated case of snake bite cured by whisky. Plenty of individuals bitten while under the influence of liquor have died, and large amounts of alcohave failed to save life in cases. Only about one in six of those bitten by venomous snakes dies. The remaining five are cured by anything they happen to have taken. Stimuation is excellent, but the giving of whisky to drunkenness by lowering the resistive vitality has undoubtedly been a causative factor in many deaths supposedly from snake bite that would otherwise not have occurred .-- American Medicine.

The Matter Again Considered by Republican Senators

FRIENDS OF RECIPROCITY

Claim That Much of Prestige and Future National Standing Is at Stake-Burrows Supports and Defends Attitude of Beet Sugar Men

Washington, June 21.-Senator Hanna is receiving many congratulations on his notable victory for the Panama route. Had he not taken the subject up with earnestness and vigor when he did it is probable that the country today would have found itself committed to the Nicaragua project. The momentum which that route had acquired in American sentiment was very strong, and it took forceful action and a series of happenings to turn it aside.

hand. Summer Sketching class (at the shore and vicinity) directed by Mrs. C. C. Dodge. An analysis of the vote on the most far-reaching business question that has come before the senate in years shows that, counting the pairs, the Republicans contributed 10 votes towards Nicaragua, and the Democrats three towards Panama, with each side supplyfng one man who was absent and unpaired. Elkins was the Republican who did not make up his mind, while Rawlins of Utah doubtless balanced convictions and party loyalty by remaining neutral. Jones of Arkansas, Teller of Colorado, and McLaurin of South Carolina were the Democrats who stood squarely for Panama on the decisive vote. It is a most notable fact, showing the power of party cohesion, that of these four Democrats who dared to break over, two have already been defeated for re-election, while Teiler and Rawlins will have hard fights in November to secure victory in their respective states.

The 10 Republicans who tried to prevent a decision of this case include two senators each Pennsylvania, Oregon and Minnesota, with Hawley of Connecticut, Platt of New York, Perkins of California and Stewart of Nevada. On the final vote on the amended bill there were six senators voted because they do not believe in any canal at all-Vest and Duboiswhile the other four-Bate, Cockerill, by the defeat of Nicaragua that they The practical unannity, however, by which the senate decided that it would, under the circumstances, have the Panama canal, strengthens the outlook of victory in the house. Morgan's support of the amended measure will have an influence with Nicaraguan exfremists there. They will now be confronted with the choice of Panama, or of postponing legislation, and if really desirous of a canal, no matter how strongly they may prefer Nicaragua,

No fear need be entertained of the efforts. It reads: failure of the house of representatives to accept the Panama route. Strength for that route developed so rapidly in a few days when the subject was there before as to secure 110 votes for the Morris amendment that now substantially the same idea will have the nearly solid Republican support, and also that of the Democrats who really want immediate canal legislation. The arguments which have brought the senate around so well will be equally effective in the house, should a prolonged contest develop there. But of this there is small chance.

There was a very sanguine feeling expressed at the cabinet meeting yesterday as to the success of the canal propostion. Secretary Hay had a long conference before the meeting with Senator Morgan and other senators and all the advices that had come to the White House before the cabinet meet-ing went to assure the president that some canal legislation at the pending session is a certainty, and almost as strong was the evidence that legisla-

Philippine civil government bill continued yesterday in the house from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m., and at a session held last night. The speakers were given close attention. Mr. Jones (Va.) concluded his speech begun Thursday. The other speakers were Messrs. Hamilton (Mich.) and Kahn (Cal.) for the bill and Mr. Patterson (Tenn.) against

No business of importance was transacted by the senate in open session, except to agree to a conference report finally disposing of the military academy appropriation bill.

Sums For Public Buildings Washington, June 21.—The conferees of the two houses on the sundry civil bill have reached an agreement. The conference report gives what will doubtless be the final enactment of congress concerning public buildings, appropriations in which Massachusetts is interested. These are for expenditures during the coming fiscal year only, and not necessarily the total cost of the enterprises involved. The postoffice at Lynn gets $1200. Amesbury postoffice $10,000, Holyoke, $40,-000, Marblehead $5000, Northampton $10,000 and Quincy $12,000.

We have two plain glasses of even size. Their rims, if put on top of one another, apparently close hermetically. When we pour any fluid, preferably water, slowly over the top of the two glasses (as shown in figure) we expect

Business Is Quiet In the East, With Prosperous Conditions In the West

New York, June 21.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Trade at the east is more quiet, owing to the advancing season, and the bad effect of prolonged labor controversies is being felt in certain lines. Reports from the interior and the far west are more encouraging, bountiful harvests being expected, while the light stocks carried over from the previous season assure profitable prices.

The best indication of continued prosperity is the fact that quotations do not recede even in the lines where at present there is only a moderate degree of activity.

There is no evidence of yielding on either side in the coal strike, and the sympthetic strike cannot become a factor for some weeks, even if it is decided upon. In some industries the week has brought advances in wages and evidences of better feeling.

Uncertainty regarding their ability to secure pig iron at reasonable prices is making producers of steel cautious in accepting contracts that call for delivery at even remote dates.

Work Done to Advance the Race In the United States.

George Foster Peabody has bought and presented to the Brooklyn Colored Young Men's Christian association a fine old mansion costing about $8,000. Evening educational classes for colored young men will be prominent in this association, which now has 250 members pledged. Mr. Peabody has promised liberal aid in erecting a building for the colored association in his native city, Columbus, Ga., when it shall have developed to require it. For years membership in many of the city and other associations has been open to negroes, but very few of these young men avail themselves of the privilege. In New York city, where almost no colored members were enrolled, an association was organized last year with 225 members, where the employment bureau, educational classes and dormitory are leading features. The classes were immediately filled with negroes ambitious for self improvement. The colored associations are growing, as the international committee has two field secretaries supervising this movement. There are now twenty-eight in the cities and sixty-three in colleges, with 6,000 members, but without employed secretaries in charge these are not very efficient. Five such men were relded last year, mostly in northern cities, and three men are in preparation at the training school.

Elizabeth arose "I must go," said she.

"Must you? Where is that little sunbonnet of yours, then?" She got up to look for it. "Here, let me tie it on for you. Are you sure you can't stay awhile longer? Then come back real soon, Elizabeth, and tell me about your wedding finery. Are you going to stand under a wedding bell? I'd like to hear about that even if there ain't no earth ly chance of my ever standing under one myself. But what am I talking about? I had my chances with the rest, and I wouldn't take 'em. Look at all these years I've had to live alone because I wouldn't take 'em." And she sighed as she followed the girl to the

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Popic For the Week Beginning June 22-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Practical humility.-Matt. xxiii, 1-11: Isa. lvii, 15. Humility is one of the most beautiful and desirable of all the Christian graces. At the same time it is in some respects one of the most difficult of virtues to cultivate and develop. The self seeking spirit is large within us and written large in all the world about us. The world usually practices anything else than humility, and it seems more often to bestow its best favors upon the least humble rather than the most humble. The result is that, being human, it is no easy thing even for Christians to develop the spirit of humility to the extent that they Humility to be worthy the name must necessarily be practical. It must be manifested in action as well as declared in words. The Pharisees no doubt preached humility; but, alas, how far from practicing it they were All their works they do to be seen of men. They make broad their phylacteries and enlarge the borders of their garments and love the uppermost rooms at feasts and the chief seats in the synagogues and greetings in the markets and to be called of men "Rabbi, Rabbi." And there are many Pharisaical representatives of humility today. They preach it, but do not practice it; they pretend it, but do not possess it; they try to use humility as a cloak to hide their pride and ambition. What they want most they pretend to want least. They proclaim from the housetops that only the humble should be exalted and then pretend to be humble that they may be exalted! They argue that the office, the position, the honor, should seek the man and then decry all desire for such sings, they that may be sought. Such humility, of course, is false. If genuine, humility will manifest itself practically. It shows itself in its humble attitude toward God and in the humble service of men. The greatest becomes the servant of all. Though difficult of cultivation, yet the spirit of humility should be prized and sought after. It is most pleasing to God. God leveth the humble, but He knoweth the proud afar off, and He keeps them afar off. Only by humbling ourselves as a little child can we ever enter into the kingdom of God. The humble only shall dwell with God, "for thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy, I will dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble and to revive the heart of the contrite ones.'

Humility may be developed in sev eral ways, (1) by remembering the dis ambition, (2) by contemplating the example of Christ-"He humbled him self" as no other, "wherefore God hath highly exalted Him;" (3) by seeing our selves as God sees us. The publican ting. Is that your wedding ring? Take judged himself by God's standards and couldn't even raise his eyes to heaven. Who could under the same test?

A Year For God.

Life regarded as a stewardship is at once simpler and more rewarding than any purely selfish life can be, and when it is for God the opportunities of time take on a dignity which lifts them high above all petty motives and disheartening fears. A year devoted to God's service may not bring us clear vision of results attained, but it will assure us the best use of time, freedom from weakening regret and the peace of heart which is not the least of the conaitions of emciency. In Christ's thought the order of devotion was of the highest importance. What comes first in Me? His counsel is that the kingdom of God and His righteousness should have the right of way. He feared the influence of a primary absorption in the cares of life. He contrasts the love and service of winning goods for self with the love and service of God. No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other or else he will hold to one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon.-Congregationalist.

The Footpath to Peace.

To be glad of life because it gives you the chance to love and to work and to play and to look up at the stars; to be satisfied with your possessions but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world except falsehood and meanness and to fear nothing except cowardice; to be governed by your admirations rather than by your disgusts; to covet nothing that is your neighbor's except his kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends and every day of Christ, and to spend as much time as you can, with body and with spirit, in God's out of doors-these are little guideposts on the footpath to peace .-Henry Van Dyke.

Faithfulness.

Faithfulness at times is no easy thing. Sacrifice and love are close neighbors. The gospel is an invitation not to a banquet, but to a harvest They who ring the changes on the one magic word belief ought ever to remember the associations that first surrounded it. Belief is a word born of water and of blood. Its divine sense was coined upon the altar, and the old meaning is still a part of it.-Presbyterian Journal.

Many Princes Coming to the United States This Year.

FAMOUS CHINAMAN EXPECTED.

Prince Cheng Will Arrive In August. Grand Duke Boris of Russia Expected In July - Siam's Crown Prince Comes In September - King Menelik's Brother a Likely Visitor.

A year which has been memorable for international amenities will be rendered still more famous this summer and next fall, when several members of imperial houses will be entertained in the United States, says the Wasaington correspondent of the New York World.

Count Cassini has already informed Secretary Hay of the intentions of the imperial visitor. The secretary will be at his summer home at Lake Sunapee, N. The embassador has taken a handsome cottage at Bar Harbor, and some brilliant entertainments will be

The grand duke will visit New York, Boston and Philadelphia, but it is not likely that he will go to Washington. He will land at San Francisco, where he will be met by Mr. Zelenoy, second secretary of the Russian embassy. After spending a few days in the metropolis of the Pacific coast he will cross the continent, making leisurely stops in such cities as interest him.

As to Catching.

"A catcher who is able to 'hold' the would seem to have all the necessary requirements. As a matter of fact such attributes are rudimentary.

"Baseball, as it is played today, requires conderable cerebral activity, and it is in this department of the game that a catcher must show his worth. He usually signals to the pitcher what balls to pitch. Hence a eatcher can break up the 'hit-and-run suit of ten persons, among whom are game' if he can detect when it is about several distinguished Chinese states to be played. He gives the pitcher the men and scholars. Prince Cheng will pitch out sign, the ball is thrown two feet away from the plate, where it cannot possibly be hit, and the base runner is thrown out.

######

To Prevent Blunders.

"A complete understanding among the infielders prevents such blunders, and, while such plays look easy in theory, they are among the most difficult feats performed on the diamond.

"The correct position to assume in handling ground hits often worries young players. Some always try to keep their feet together, thinking that the ball cannot get past them when in that position. Better action can be secured with the feet apart, for if the ball is not picked up cleanly there is and with the feet together it is difficult to keep one's balance."

"Mugsy" McGraw's Troubles.

The ever turbulent "Mugsy" McGraw, captain-manager and general Pooh Bah of the Baltimore Americans, has been having more than his share of trouble this year, and he is staying awake nights in an endeavor to conjure a scheme to haul the Orloles to the top of the first division. McGraw's team thus far has been a disappointment to himself and his followers, and the fault can truthfully be said to lie with himself. "Rough house" tactics are unpopular everywhere, and the sight of a captain and manager being ruled out of games because of an ambition to become the "king scrapper" of the national game does not tend to instill confidence and ambition in the rank and file of a team. Then, again, the encouragement of contract breaking is not a particularly admirable practice, and McGraw should not expect much sympathy because of the loss of the great leapfrog player, Jimmy Sheck-

But "Mugsy" is a good ball player-do not mistake that. He knows the grand old game as do few others, and he plays to win at all times. When the season ages a bit and the first flush of enthusiasm has passed, McGraw will probably calm down and become a good boy. And that is what all baseball devotees want to see, the genuine article of baseball, clean and fast. One would naturally suppose that "Mugsy" would have learned by this time the futility of trying to intimidate umpires. It is an old dodge and never did any one good. The holder of the disks will "square the deal" sooner or later, and the sooner the ball tossing fraternity recognizes this the better.

A Rejected Novel.

Before he had achieved fame the French novelist Xavier de Montepin, on concluding a long and elaborate tale of adventure took it, full of hope to a publisher, who promptly declined it on even the most advantageous terms, to the writer's poignant morti fication. Twenty years afterward this identical publisher besought at his hands a sensational story, one of those serials which were the delight of grisettes, offering any price within reason. "Well," said De Montepin, "I will oblige you, but my terms must be somewhat heavy. I want £4,000." After many protests it was paid.

In telling the story De Montepin used to add, "The best of the business was that it was the very same story which he had previously rejected and which I had in various directions endeavored in vain to dispose of."

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The production of Richard Bripsley Sheridan's famous comedy "The Rivals," at the Castle Square Theatre next week, will make a dan's famous comedy "The Rivals," at the most notable addition to the immense repertoire of the stock company at this house. This comedy had its first performance at Covent Garden, London, Jan. 17, 1775, and was originally played in this country at the John St. Theatre in New York June 9, 1786. The Boston public saw the play for the first time at Boston public saw the play for the first time at the Board Alley Theatre, near the present Practical House Painter. Hawley street, where it was given by the first dramatic company known in this city, The Harpers, Nov. 14,1792. The popularity of 'The Rivals' has been continuous for over a century and in spite of many so called "grea productions," in which the play has been sacri ficed in the interest of the players, is best remembered by the present generation in the version given by the old Boston Museum stock company which will be used in the Castle Square performances of the coming week. The cast will be as follows: Sir Anthony Absolute, James L. Seeley; Capt. Jack Absolute, Charles Mackay; Faulkland, Edward Wade; Bob Acres, John T. Craven; Sir Lucius O'Trigger, Robert Elliot; Fag, William J. Hassen; David Lindsay Morison; Boy, Master Joseph Pollock; Mrs. Malaprop, Fanny Addison Pitt; Lydia Languish, Katherine Clinton; Lucy, Mary Sanders. Following "The Rivals" on Monday, June 30, comes a production of "The Corsican Brothers" in which some unusually fine scenic and mechanical effects will be shown.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

For the week commencing June 23, the Keith management announces as the central feature of an usually strong vaudeville a grand revival of the always popular tableaux vivant. This production is made under the personal supervision of Sig. Albert Operti, one of the best known artists in this line of work in the world, and it is claimed that everything in connection with the pictures will show a great advance over previous productions. Some eighteen tableaux will be shown. The Fadetets will continue their delightful concerts of popular music, and some of the entertainers who will appear are: Charles Dickson (Quincy Adams Sawyer) and company, in "The Salt Cellar;" McIntyre and Heath, blackface funmakers, in a new sketch; Ray L. Royce, the clever mimetic comedian, and the marvelous Seymours, acrobats and tumblers. The bill is the strongest of the season, so far.

EXTRA COST OF LIVING

Compelled Miners to Ask For Higher Wages, Which Could Be Paid Without Increasing Cost of Coal to Consumer-Strike Costing Millions

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 23.-President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America yesterday issued an address to the public for publication in the newspapers today. It is partly a reply to the letters of the operators declining to accede to the demands of the Briefly summarized, the address says that every possible means was resorted to in the effort to prevent the strike; claims that the cost of living has increased to the point where the miner was compelled to ask for higher wages; denies the allegations of the operators that the productive capacity of the mine workers has fallen, but on the other hand has increased; quotes official figures to substantiate the contention that the employers can pay higher wages without increasing the cost of coal to the consumer; asserts that the coal carrying railroads, which control about 85 percent of the mines. absorb the profits of their coal companies by charging exorbitant freight rates; claims that a ton at the mines means anywhere from 2740 to 3190 pounds instead of 2240, and says that more men are killed and injured in the anthracite mines of Pennsylvania annually than were killed or wounded during the Spanish-American war. The address also says that in the event the union is crushed, which, it adds, is not likely, a new organization would rise from its ruins. It concludes with another appeal for arbitration of all questions in dispute.

The strike rounded out its sixth week without incident. The strike of 1900, when the men won a 10 percent increase, lasted exactly six weeks. In that struggle the lives of several persons were sacrificed, but in this strike shooting of a boy two weeks ago, who is now slowly recovering.

The following figures indicate the estimated cost of the anthracite coal strike in the six weeks since it began: Loss to operators in price of coal, $15, 520,000; to mine workers in wages, $7,-770,000; to employes other than miners made idle by the strike, $1,920,000; to the business men of the coal region, $5,200,000; to business outside of the coal region, $3,000,000; cost of maintaining coal and iron police, $400,000; cost of maintaining non-union workers, machinery, $1,500,000; total, $35,395,000.

> Parade About Mile Long.

Street Grounds.

Sig. Sautelle's circus which is to show on the River street grounds this afternoon and evening, gave an excellent street parade at 10 o'clock this morning and for an hour the streets catch a glimpse of the long line. The show arrived in Quincy early Sunday, and in its own specially constructed train of 21 cars. On the grounds Sunday everything was hustle and bustle, cleaning and washing wagons, etc., and to the credit of Mr. Santelle it can be said there was no loud talk or profanity used, everything moving along in harmony. The parade left the show grounds at 10 o'clock and moved through the principal streets of the city presenting many new features. Everything looking spank and clean. The horses with the show are beauties and show their wine is rough or smooth, but his sense good keeping. The parade a mile long consisted of two bands, an organ and steam caliope, six open dens containing wild animals, numerous clowns and mounted people. The parade makes good Mr. Sautelle's word that it is the biggest 25 cent cents show on the road. The Ledger representative had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Sautelle and found he was an old newpaper man having worked on the Brooklyn Eagle in 1860 to '62, and is a hale fellow well met. The representative was shown through the sea of canvas by the genial press agent Mr. Strause. The afternoon performance The red ribbon which superseded the opened with a packed house and indications point to a bigger one tonight.

PREVALENCE OF SMALLPOX Responsible For Omission of Religious Services In Cambridge

Cambridge, Mass., June 23.-In obedience to the request of Mayor McNamee the churches of Cambridge with two or three exceptions were closed yesterday. It is necessary to go back prior to the founding of the First Parish church on Feb. 1, 1636, to find an omission of public religious services. Notices posted on the church doors cen veyed the mayor's request to prospec tive worshippers and in the instances where the same was not respected the gatherings were small. The reason for all this is the prevalence of smallpox and the fear that a great many people have been infected. Four additional cases were taken to the pest house yesterday and many persons were placed under medical scrutiny. While Mayor McNamee has requested that no gatherings be held in public halls, the police have been told to see that such are not held. Vaccination is being conducted quite generally. and in the districts in which smallpox is found a house to house canvass is under way with compulsory vaccina

WISCONSIN A CLOSE SECOND

Hard Struggle For Six Crews For Four Miles In Big Varsity Race-Rowed Under Splendid Conditions, but No Records Were Touched

nell has won the greatest triumph of her history in boating. The Ithacans literally swept the Hudson, winning all three events in the inter-collegiate regatta, the 'varsity, the freshman and the four-oared races. In each race the crews coached by Courtney had to fight all the way from start to finish for victory. In only one of the three races did the Ithacans dare at any time to let down on their speed. The Wisconsin boys won the second honors of the day and to them belongs great credit for the splendid fights which they made in the 'varsity and freshman races, in both of which events they finished a very strong second to the Ithacans. In all three races Columbia finished third. In the four-oared, Pennsylvania was second, but in the 'varsity the Quakers finished in fourth place and in the freshman race they were fifth.

Syracuse university beat the Quakers out for fourth place in the freshman event and in the 'varsity Syracuse fought Georgetown in the last few lengths, beating the boys from Washington by less than a yard at the finish line. In none of the races were the records touched.

The races were all rowed under splendid conditions. The crews had a fair wind with them and a ripping tide to help them on. Courtney says that his varsity eight had power enough to have lowered the record of 18:53 1-5 made by Cornell a year ago if they had been harder pressed. The Ithacans make public the fact that a week ago they came within four seconds of the record and that they are sure they would have done even better Saturday afternoon If they had had to fight a little harder on the last mile. They admit that the freshman race was a surprise, but they say they were confident of winning the four-oared event.

The Badgers, plucky as usual, make no complaint. They are satisfied that the fastest eight won in both the 'varsity and the freshman events, while Columbia is thoroughly satisfied with the showing made by her light crews. The New Yorkers did not expect to win the 'varsity race; they were doubtful about the freshman race, but they did beneve they would win the fouroared and perhaps would have done so but for the breaking of an oarlock. The Quakers have little to say. Pennsy's most conservative admirers did not expect a much better result and they have no excuses to make. The Georgetown boys were greatly disappointed in the 'varsity race, for on Friday night they were betting that hey would whip Columbia

The story of the big 'varsity race is the record of a hard struggle for all six crews for four miles. For almost a mile the shells were lapped in a severe struggle. Over the second mile Cornell began to gather her lead, but Columbia hung to Wisconsin for second place with a deadly grip, while Georgetown was almost nose and nose with the New game won by the English team. Yorkers, with Pennsylvania and Syracuse only a few feet behind. This was the order of the boats right up to the last mile, where Pennsylvania spurted and finally Syracuse jumped ahead of Georgetown only a few yards from the

Over the last two miles Cornell widened the gap between her and the Badgers little by little, but twice the boys from Wisconsin spurted and pulled the Ithacans back. Columbia hung to Wisconsin up to the three-mile flag, and even at the beginning of the last half-mile Wisconsin was leading the New York boat by only a length and a half. Georgetown held fourth place when the Quakers pulled away. The finally dropped back to sixth and last place in the struggle.

Time for the 'varsity eight-oared race, 4 miles-Cornell first by three lengths; time, 19:05 3-5. Wisconsin second, 11/2 lengths; time, 19:13 3-5. Columbia third, 13-4 lengths; time, 19;-18 3-5. Pennsylvania fourth, 3-4 length; time, 19:26. Syracuse fifth, 2 feet; time, 19:31 2-5. Georgetown sixth, time, 19:32.

Rome, June 23 .- The reply of Captured Everything In Races | Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, to the presentation by Governor Taft of the Philippine islands to the Vatican of his instructions from Secretary of War Root, was received by Governor Taft Saturday night. It has been translated into English and, after due consideration of the cardinal's answer, Judge Taft says he does not deem it proper to permit its publication at the

IN AN INSANE ASYLUM

Miss Toppan Will Spend the Rest of Her Life

A VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY

By Reason of Insanity Rendered In the Case of the Nurse Who Admitted Administering Poison to a Patient-Had Also Tried to Kill Herself

Barnstable, Mass., June 24.-Miss Jane Toppan, a nurse, was found "not guilty by reason of insanity" of the murder by poisoning of Mrs. Mary D Gibbs of Cataumet, before a special sitting of the superior court here yes terday. The time occupied in the trial of the woman on so grave a charge was scarcely six hours from the opening of the court until Miss Toppan had been sentenced to spend the remainder of her natural life in the Taunton insane asylum.

Thus closed a case which had nany remarkable features, and which, looking back over the history of murder trials in Massachusetts, seems to stand alone. The reason for the quick disposal of the case was the contention of counsel for Miss Toppan that she was insane. The position of the government was outlined by Attorney General Parker in his address to the jury, after it had been impanelled, when he said that it would be shown that Miss Toppan had confessed that she had administered poison to Mrs. Gibbs. When the government presented its case, the lensational incident appeared in the testimony of Dr. Stedman of Boston, an alienist, who said that Jane Toppan told him, in the presence of other medical experts, that she had caused the death of Mrs. Gibbs by giving her a poisonous dose of atrophine and morphine; that she administered the drugs in the form of tablets or pellets, and that more than one dose he understood Miss Toppan to say that she gave more than one dose of the pel-

When the defense put its medical experts on the witness stand the contention of moral and mental irresponsibility of the defendant was maintained. Dr. Lathrop of Lowell told of Miss Toppan's attempt to commit suicide by use of drugs, and of his treatment of her. He related what she had said to him; how she had declared she wanted

This suicidal attempt also was referred to by the government in the testimony of State Officer Whitney. He told of a conversation with Miss Toppan at Amherst, N. H., in which she said that the morphine pills used at Cataumet were bought by her at Mrs. Gibbs' orders. Whitney then told her that the one thing he did not understand was that after she (Miss Toppan) had attempted suicide she did not tell the physician the nature of the drug. Miss Toppan, he said, replied that as she was unsuccessful she wished to try it again.

From the outset counsel for Miss Toppan, Messrs. Bixby and Murphy, did not cross-examine the witnesses. On the other hand, Acting District Aftorney Swift did put some questions, to clear up certain points, to his own witnesses.

Resting as the case did upon the testimony of alienists as to the defandant's mental condition, the testimony of Drs. Jelly, Stedman and Quinby was of peculiar interest. They said that in their opinion, based upon several examinations, Jane Toppan was insane on Aug. 13, and is now suffering from a form of degenerative insanity. Having defective control and irresistible impulse, she is irresponsible for the crime of which she is charged.

On the conclusion of the expert evidence both Attorney General Parker and counsel for Miss Toppan stated to the court and jury that the gravity of the case was based on the importance of the testimony of the alienists. Mr. Bixby further asked the court, Judges Braley and Bell, that it instruct the Jury to report a verdict of not guilty for reason of insanity. The wort did so and the jury-retired. In 27 minutes the jury returned with a verdict as ordered. Miss Toppan was then called to the bar and ordered committed to Taunton insane asylum for the remaining days of her life. She was taken there today by Deputy Sheriff Brad-

BRYAN'S BROADSIDE Gives Ample Evidence That He Wants

Nothing to Do With Cleveland Lincoln, Neb., June 24.-The absence of W. J. Bryan from the Democratic harmony dinner at New York is explained by a statement given out by him last evening. At the outset Mr. Bryan says there is no such thing as Democratic harmony where former President Cleveland is concerned. He

"The banquet given on the evening

York city was advertised as a 'harmony | view of a reward. meeting,' but it turned out to be what might have been expected of such a gathering, an ovation to the chief guest, former Democrat, Grover Cleveland. There can be no such thing as harmony between men like him and those who believe in Democratic principles and he is frank enough to say so. He boldly called upon members of the party to abandon their convictions and accept the construction which he placed upon Democratic principles. He even taunted the party with being a sort of prodigal son and invited it to give up its diet of husks and return to its father's house." Mr. Bryan says that Cleveland secured his nomination in 1892 by a secret bargain with the financiers. He scathingly arraigns the Cleveland administration, and says that "instead of waters foul vapors arose-poisonous to those who lingered near. "Having debauched his party, he was offended by its efforts to reform and gave comfort to the enemy. And rew, still gloating over his political crimes, he invites the party to return to him and apologize for the contempt which it has expressed for him. Will it? London, June 24.—None of the special envoys who arrived here yesterday, though they included princes of the greatest European dynasties, aroused as much interest as did Ras Makonnen. the victorious Abyssinian general and special representative of King Menelik. In picturesqueness and barbarian splendor the Ethiopian commander and his suite paled even the brilliancy of the Oriental princes, whom London has become accustomed to during the past

Makonnen, who has black, curly hair and a beard, wore a cloak of white silk, pantaloons, a shoulder cape of heavy white satin bordered with gold. and a broad-brimmed green felt hat. Three native chiefs who accompany him were scarcely less gorgeous in their apparel, while an African priest, carrying a heavy silver crozier, was the general's constant companion. Ras Makonnen's native followers carried guns and spears. Among the other arrivals yesterday were Prince Henry of Prussia, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir presumptive to the throne of Austria; the prince of the Asturias, Crown Prince Gustaf of Sweden and Norway. Buckingham palace was beautifully a brilliant reception, which was attended by the members of the suites of all the foreign potentates now in London. Joseph Chamberlain and his wife received the colonial premiers and other distinguished visitors from Great Britain's colonies at their London residence last evening. The crowds were so great last night in Trafalgar square and in the various thoroughfares leading from this point that the omnibuses found it almost impossible to proceed. The congested condition of traffic above ground was practically repeated on the various underground routes and the travel resources of the 2-penny tube and the steam underground lines were heavily taxed. Passengers on these lines had to wait long before they were able to board the over-crowded trains. Among the national observances on coronation day which have received the approval of the king is the suggestion that at 8 o'clock on Thursday evening every British subject in the united kingdom and the colonfes, whether in the street, at home, in a theatre, in church or elsewhere, shall uncover and join in singing "God Save the King." The promoters hope that wherever Britons are assembled in America they will join in singing the national anthem.

A full and strictly private rehearsal of the coronation ceremonies to be held in Westminster Abbey took place there yesterday afternoon, in which everybody, with the exception of the royal personages and the participants in the musical and religious features of the duties. The rehearsal lasted for two hours and after it was over the musical service for the coronation was rehearsed in full in the church house ad-

Good Afternoon.

The movement to have the Quincy electrics run through to the Dudley street terminal should be pushed. We read in a Boston daily that through cars from distant points like Lowell Lexington and South Framingham wil run into Boston in the fall as far as stations of the Elevated and they are now running from Marblehead, 17 miles distant; Lynn, 10 miles; Arlington and other towns. The Lowell cars will run as far as the Sullivan square terminal, where they will afford their passengers a free transfer to and from the Elevated trains on the same basis as any other cars running to that terminal. These cars now run from Lowell through Billerica and Lexington, a far as Arlington Heights, where al passengers have to alight and take sur-

Constables are of such minor importance that their names do not appear in the list of city officials in the City Book or City Manual, which however includes special police, weighers of coal, hay, grain, etc. Probably the true reason for the non-appointment of Mr. Faxon is the same as the non-appointment of N. Many Improvements and Enlarge ments Being Made.

That the granite business in Quincy today is good, must be apparent to any who will make the trip through the cutting district. Every manufacturer reports that trade this year has been exceptionally good, and that while the rush of Memorial Day orders is over they still have plenty of work. As a rule the months following May are fully as busy as that month or the two previous months. So it is this year. There are many orders for memorials for early fall shipment and there is not a manufacturer but what has a good lot of orders on hand.

The larger part of the orders are for medium sized work, although there are some few large sized jobs in this city. There is one advantage in cutting medium work which makes it fully as profitable as large work, and that is the liability of spoiling the stone is less, and if perchance the stone should be spoiled the loss would be much less.

"KILL AND BURN" ORDERS

Admitted to Have Been Issued by the Were Justified-Probably Found Guilty of "Indiscretion"

Washington, June 24.-There may be a surprise in store for those persons who have jumped to the conclusion because General Jacob H. Smith has been assigned to a post of such importance as the command of the department of Texas, that therefore the verdict of the court martial which tried him must have been acquittal. As a matter of fact, there is very good reason for believing that that was not the verdict, but that the court found him guilty of conduct sufficiently grave to call for at least a sound reprimand from the presi-

This belief must stand, for the present, on the same footing as its opposite, since only the secretary of war and the president have the keeping of the facts; but the signs point to its truth. There is a report that the decision they have arrived at may be promulgated very soon. This is unlikely, however, as the president is understood to be waiting for the arrival of the papers in the Waller court martial, in order to see what additional light they throw upon the Smith case, before pronouncing final judgment in the lat-

It must be borne in mind, in considering th Smith case, that Smith, when faced with his reputed orders to Waller, made a plea analogous to "confession and avoidance" in civil practice. He admitted having given Waller oral orders to "kill and burn," to encumber himself with no prisoners and the like, but pleaded that these were justi-civilized nations. The gravamen of his offense was therefore his gross-perhaps criminalindiscretion in giving sweeping orders which by the inflexions of his voice and other attendant conditions might easily have led a junior officer into the commission of great cruelty, and especially the untimeliness of issuing any orders of that sort immediately after a surprise and massacre like that which had inflamed the minds of the American troops against the people of Samar. Of this indiscretion the best qualifled observers have no doubt the court found the general guilty; and, though it may not have made the penalty as severe as some of his critics here would like, the way is unquestionably open for the president to put an adequate finishing touch upon the incident, which will leave its lasting mark as a warning in the future. The assignment of Smith to a post of responsibility here is readily reconciled with this view. Smith had asked to be relieved and transferred before his troubles began, and arrangements had been made accordingly. When he came home to carry out the rest of the

"There will be no arbitration, that is certain. We will operate our mines again with the men that are on strike They will be only too glad to come back, and no strike leader will be able to keep them out."

Mine Officials' Opinion

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 24.-Independent operators and superintendents were interviewed yesterday on President Mitchell's address to the public. In the opinion of most of them the address is "cleverly written" and will appeal to those persons who are not familiar with the conditions in the mining regions. There is nothing new in the strike situation.

Situation at Paterson Paterson, N. J., June 24.-It is estimated that 20 percent of the employes of the silk mills for whom looms were ready yesterday stayed away from work. No general strike of the silk workers has yet been ordered. It looks as if conferences leading to an amicable settlement would be arranged shortly. The requisition papers for McQueen, who was arrested yesterday in New York, have been prepared and will probably be placed before Governor Murphy today.

A FOURTH OF JULY MENU. Comfort and Patriotism Around the Festal Board.

In spite of the temperature at this season Fourth of July dinners, luncheons and similar festivities are always notable features of the day's celebra-In many homes, whether the dinner is a special affair or not, the dinner table is always decked with the national colors. Then, too, so many pretty little decorations are now provided that one can give a festal air without much work or expense. Tiny flags, bonbon boxes in the form of giant firecrackers, drums, Liberty bells, wee maids in the guise of the Goddess of Liberty and numerous other devices help to make the A pretty way to utilize the national colors is to arrange six or eight candlesticks with red, white and blue candles in a large circle on the table under the chandelier and to attach loosely to them from the chandelier red, white and blue ribbons. Groups of tiny American flags, with the emblems of the new possessions, should adorn the chandelier.

The following menu is suggested: Little Neck Clams. Cold Bouillon.

Broiled Whitefish, Sauce Tartare. Pineapple Sherbet.
Roast Lamb. Green Peas.
Cucumbers. Radishes. Olives.
Lobster Salad. Crackers. Cheese Watermelon. Coffee. Bonbons.

The pineapple sherbet can be served in the shell of the fruit. If this is to be done, care should be taken in select ing a large one with a full yellow top Cut a slice from the top, leaving the spines on, and carefully scoop the pulp from the interior. Set the shell with the top on the ice until time to serve Place a large grape leaf on the plate fill the shell with the sherbet and stand it on the leaf. Place the top on for a

The watermelon should be cut in two and a thin slice taken from the end of each half, so that it will stand. The top edges can be decorated with the tiniest flags.

The best way to serve a melon is to scoop the interior out with a large spoon. Bonbon boxes in some patriotic device can be placed at each cover. Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

John Jay's Vow For the Fourth. Let us, standing by our fathers' graves, swear anew and teach the oath to our children that, with God's help, the American republic, clasping this continent in its embrace, shall stand unmoved, though all the powers of slavery, piracy and European jealousy omnibus territorial bill-a measure to should combine to overthrow it; that we shall have in the future, as we have had in the past, one country, one constitution and one destiny; that our sons may gather strength from our example in every contest with despotism that time may have in store to try their virtue and that they may rally under the stars and stripes to battle for freedom and the rights of man with our olden warery, "Liberty and union, now and forever, one and inseparable."-John Jay, July 4, 1861.

The Liberty Bell's Echo. Like a voice of invocation Rose the stirring incantation, And the heart throbs of a nation Timed them to the measure grand, For the bell with eye of sages Read unwritten history's pages, Saw the glory that the ages Should bestow on Freedom's land: Saw the struggle flerce impending.

Man 'gainst man his right defending; Saw the peace the combat ending, Saw and shouted it abroad, And the strong tones upward springing, Note to note in triumph winging, Seemed like angel voices singing Hallelulahs to the Lord! Long ago it told that story

Rung by ringer bent and hoary: Now, like prophet clothed in glory, High it hangs, its mission done, And it speaks its failing favors In a voice that breaks and quavers Like an old man's song that wavers When life's thread is nearly run. But through silent cycles reaching,

But through shent cycles reaching,
Pregnant with a soft beseeching
That our hearts should heed its teaching.
Comes a memory of its lay—
Comes an echoed bell note creeping, And the quick tears upward leaping Show we shrine in reverent keeping Freedom's messenger today.

morning the officer of the guard at Buckingham palace informed a representative of The Associated Press that he understood there was no new development in the king's condition.

At that hour the palace was everywhere closed and there were no signs of life about the building except the sentries outside and a small lot of mesengers and reporters awaiting a pos-

London, June 25.-With dramatic suddenness King Edward VII has been stricken down upon the eve of his coronation. He now lies in a critical tate at Buckingham palace.

If last night's progress is maintained he will probably tide over the effects of his severe operation, which has successfully removed the local trouble. But should any complication occur, such as septic peritonitis or blood-poisoning, it is feared his majesty's present physical and nervous condition would prove unequal to the strain involved. There is, consequently, intense anxiety as to the

The king's doctors believe that his najesty would have been dead before low except for the operation. His ondition became so alarming Monday night that at one time is was feared death might ensue before the surgeon's knife could afford him relief. Intense swelling of the extremities, accompanied by alarming symptoms of mortification, constituted the emergency which demanded an immediate operation. To the last the king tried to avoid this, and he was willing to be carried to the abbey for the coronation ceremony in order that it should occur

The influence of Queen Alexandra was enlisted, however, and at an early hour in the morning the royal patient was prepared for the operation which, best surgeons, was fraught with grave

While the operation was being performed the great central courtyard of serted and an impressive silence reigned throughout the building. Then the word was passed around that "all had gone well.

Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour then went in to congratulate Queen Alexandra and afterward an informal and perhaps historic discussion occurred between the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught and Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour and several other members of the cabinet.

Before the end of the afternoon over 2000 callers had inscribed their names on the visitors' book at Buckingham palace. All the royal princes called personally on the Prince of Wales and bade him good-bye. The majority of them will leave London today for their | tinuously offer. respective countries.

A brief notice has been published in The Gazette as a result of which the entire state social and business arrangements throughout the country are paralyzed. The order is dated from the earl marshal's office and reads as "I have to announce that the solemnity of the coronation of their majesties, King Edward VII and Queen Alexandra, is postponed from the 26th to a date hereafter to be determined." The best informed opinion places the date of the coronation in about three months' time, providing King Edward progresses well in the meantime. In spite of the royal wish that the provincial celebrations be carried out as arranged, many towns have abandoned the festivities which were to be large cities hurried meetings were called and it was decided to carry out all the charitable arrangements as previously made.

the united kingdom from John O'Groats to Lands End will not be lighted. They Will be kept intact, however, in the hope spirit. She was always fearful of what might happen. Her majesty took her part in the festivities at Ascot and elsewhere without revealing any sign of her inward auxiety, and when she was told yesterday that an operation was imperative and that the coronation would have to be postponed, she quietly answered: "Have I not felt that this would happen," and asked "how does the king bear it?" Upon receiving an assuring reply Queen Alexandra exerted herself to appear cheerful and to devise means to lessen the king's grief and disappointment. The idea was mooted in some influential quarters that with a view of preventing the disappointment of the public Queen Alexandra should be crowned alone next Thursday and the king should be crowned in a comparatively private manner upon his rewas rejected as a procedure calculated to mislead the public mind as to the King Edward is in a room facing the | purely relative importance of the queen consort.

> The pope and the King of Italy and other monarchs have cabled auxious inquires concerning King Edward's progress, and despatches received from all parts of the world reflect the intensity of feeling occasioned by the unexpected news of his majesty's illness and sympathy with the British nation. Rumors are affoat that although the necessity of surgery in his majesty's case was obvious the actual operation was misdirected. The symptoms of great pain and high temperature pointed to appendicitis, but when the appendix was revealed it proved to be healthy, and the unexpected existence of a large abscess in the caecum was discovered. Whether or not there is any foundation for these rumors, the bulletins have seemed to indicate that the surgeons were satisfied, in the first instance, with the evacuation of the abscess and that they made no attempt to remove the appendix or other structures which might contain the germs of future danger, probably preferring to defer such operation to some future period. The London morning papers refer editorially to the dark shadow which Las fallen over the nation, and to its, rtterly unprecedented character. While fulness, they have difficulty in concealing their anxiety at the danger. They exhort the public to abandon all dignity of the nation.

staff, accompanied by the Lancers, escorted the men who were given honorary degrees from Boston to Massahusetts hall, where they were reeived by President Eliot and the board

Before that time the overseers met in University hall to confirm the degrees voted by the president and fellows of the college. During the day the vacancies caused by the expiration of terms will be filled by election. The polls will be open to those eligible to vote until 4 p. m. This will probably be the last election under the old system of choosing overseers, as the legislature has recently voted to give the corporation and board of overseers power to change the system.

During the noon hour several men were lying under a tree near a long wide plank, which had been carelessly thrown on the ground nearby the sewer trench. A passer by chanced to notice a man trying to balance himself on two shovels as one would on a pair of Music Hall Block, stilts; and out of curiosity paused to see the result; the laborer, after gaining his equilibrium, started walking POSTS! POSTS! POSTS on the side of the iron shovels, and gracefully crossed the plank from end to end without stumbling once. It was a feat worthy a greater reward than the cheering of the few idlers who happened to be fortunate enough to see

The refusal of the Mayor to appoint Henry H. Faxon a constable of the city is bringing out some ancient London. history which shows that, at the beginning of the year Mr. Faxon desired the administration of Mayor Bryant to be a success, and that he endeavored to cooperate with him. Now, Mr. Faxon, says the refusal of the Mayor o reappoint him clearly shows his vindictiveness. The following is a copy of letter sent to Mayor Bryant during he first week of his administration. Quincy, January 8, 1902.

Hon. Charles M. Bryant, Mayor of Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir:--In the important position which you hold as Mayor of our city you will be confronted with many perplexing problems chief among which s the enforcment of the laws relating o the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Our citizens have indicated by the largely increased "No" vote that they desire a strict enforcement of the law which has resulted in untold blessings to the people to Quincy during the past twenty years. It requires honest and inremitting work to keep the rumsellers beyond our city limits. This cannot be accomplished if there is lack He has already replied to an expert in of competency and integrity on the part of police officials:

In order that you may become familiar with the liquor statute I send to you herewith a copy of my latest book on the subject together with other documents giving valuable information, and of which I ask your gan, who quotes title pages and coloappointed on the labor clause in the careful consideration. I take pleasure phons of ancient books with amazing in pledging you my assistance and that of my secretary in unravelling any knotty legal problems connected with your office.

Very truly yours, Henry H. Faxon.

The average person who picks up railroad time folder does not realize the enormous amount of work which the preparation of such a publication Quincy, Mass involves. The big Burlington System, for instauce, has a general time folder made up from sixteen different division operating time tables. The folder contains 2,000 names of towns, gives the schedules of over 500 trains, and whenever there is a change in time, sixty thousand figures have to be carefully checked and corrected.

Great Consolidator Makes Addition to His Library.

From the realms of finance J. Pierpont Morgan has turned to books, rare books, says the New York Journal. Just as he does things completely and quickly in his business, he has converted his library by one purchase into a book lovers' marvel. Mr. Morgan has bought thirty-two volumes printed by Caxton, three by Rood and several by Wynkyn de Worde, Lettou, Machlinia, Pynson and Notary, all early printers of England.

Mr. Morgan's treasure trove was i the collection of William Morris, th gentle poet of socialism, that made the Kelmscott Press a school of handi craft admirable and useful. Patiently one by one, Mr. Morris collected his in To pay for them he deprived himse often of clothes, of coal and of food At his death they passed into the brary of a Mr. Bennett-almost u known to book lovers here who wa not wealthy enough to keep them. Mr Morgan has bought them from him i

But while Mr. Morgan's library now extraordinary it is in some r spects surpassed by that of Rober Hoe. Mr. Hoe has one book printed by Caxton which Mr. Morgan; may not buy. In exchange for it Mr. Hoe would not take the thirty-two Caxtons of Mr Morgan's library. They may be found elsewhere. Mr. Hoe's invaluable Caxton is unique. It is the "King Arthur" that no other library-not even that of the British museum-owns. Mr. Mor gan's happiness as a book lover is thus imperfect.

Mr. Hoe also has books of France England and Italy that Mr. Morgan envies. But Mr. Hoe has only seven of the books printed by Caxton. And Mr. Hoe has been at his task of col lecting books patiently, with profound learning, for years and years. Mr. Mor gan surpasses him in the department of incunabula, or first books printed in Europe, almost by accident

Mr. Morgan has not time to read these books nor the intention ever to read them. He has bought reprints of them by Haslewood and by the Kelm-Mr. Morgan has not time to read them by Haslewood and by the Kelm scott Press for the irrepressible stu dents who will ask to consult them Chinese vases who said to him that he did not read his books: "No. Do you serve soup at your dinners in your eggshell, rose back plates?"

Mr. Morgan intends that his library shall be the most valuable private if brary in the world. In this effort he has the aid of his nephew, Junius Mor precision.

PLEA FOR KNEE BREECHES

Senator Depew Says Court Contum Wins Trade For United States. Senator Chauncey M. Depew, recent ly interviewed by the New York Even ing Journal's London correspondent or the knee breeches question, said: "The United States has become one

We had a member of congress once who refused to wear a dress suit or socks because he found he could associate only with people who did not wear dress suits and socks, and then he discovered another limitation in that he had to wash his feet. "Mr. Reld in a recent speech proved by precedent that the wearing of court dress by Americans had existed from the foundation of the government and that we had never departed from it. We don't conform to the requirements ourt on a default warrant and was fined $10.54. of all the courts to which our embassadors are accredited. The only concession we make at court is the wearing of knee breeches and stockings." When told that Mr. Morgan wore knickerbockers at the Choate dinner, he smiled without comment. Then he "When we send representatives to a foreign government for the purpose of maintaining friendship and amicable relations, it is not so much for objects of peace or war as for getting trade If you begin by offending the customs and traditions which foreigners exact from other guests, you will be handicapped as against the nations who do not so offend. Also you will not ac complish so much. Franklin discovered that when he went to France. I we had not sent a special embassy to the coronation, while all other nations did, there would have been ill feeling.'

Artificial Eyelids.

The latest surgical triumph, according to the London Science Siftings, is the grafting of a new set of upper and lower eyelids to the eyes of a man who lost his original set in a fire. The accident had left both eyeballs entirely unprotected, and there was danger of the $8 per month. victim losing his sight entirely. It was resolved to replace them by grafting 8 rooms and all modern conveniences. four new eyelids, if possible, by taking the skin from the hip of the patient. It was necessary to proceed slowly, but he experiment was successful from the start. The four new eyelids perform street. their normal functions naturally.

Schwab Made King Edward Laugh. King Edward laughed heartily at a story told him by Mr. Schwab, the stee trust president, says the New York Herald. "I was taking the reins from the colored driver of my buggy one day in Pittsburg," said Mr. Schwab, "when I overheard a poor woman on the sidewalk say to her little daughter, 'That's Mr. Schwab. 'Which one?' queried the child artlessly. Since that time, your majesty, I have never been able to help I thinking I must be a great man."

A "Lot" of Land.

A Hartford lawyer is of the opinion that the term "lot" as applied to a parcel of land is an American product, not derived from any other uses of the word. He says: "I have been reading up some of the old histories of my state, of Long Island and other colonial sections recently, and I find that the term 'a lot of land' was originated in the colonies; that it is today consid- Toppan as a subject. Jane Toppan Has No Equal Jane. as a Murderess

NURSED FRIENDS TO GRAVE

By Administering Morphine and Atropine to Gratify Her Passion For Witnessing Their Death Struggles, Which She Endeavored to Intensify

Boston, June 25.-Jane Toppan, murderess and degenerate, committed to Taunton insane hospital yesterday as the outcome of Monday's trial, wherein she was found not guilty of murder, by reason of insanity, of Mrs. Mary D. Gibbs of Cataumet, has killed by subtile poison at least 50 other persons, according to her own confession.

Her case is one of extraordinary circumstances. A nurse by profession, enjoying the confidence of an unlimited acquaintanceship, of seeming lovable disposition, skilled in the uses of medicines, especially of narcotics, she was at heart a maniac whose delight at times was to see her patients writhing in death's agony. And her work did not stop there for, having baffled medical skill so that the attending physician would assign a natural cause of death, she would seem to recover her normal mental poise and sorrow with the living anteroom. for the loss of a loved one.

Jane Toppan's crimes were revolting beyond all description, but the details perhaps will never be known, for the lips of her counsel are sealed. Her confession was not made as a story of wholesale murder, but has been drawn out little by little, from time to ime when her counsel have talked with ber in Barnstable. To the common wealth's officers upon whom the burden fell of prosecuting her for murder, the terrible nature of her crimes was known and step by step they followed her movements as she had nursed, not into health, but to the grave, members of families in which she had admis sion as a friend and companion She was indicted last spring for the killing of Mrs. Gibbs, her sister, Mrs. Harry Gordon of Chicago, and her father, Alden P. Davis, of Cataumet and her trial on Monday, the shortest on record in this commonwealth, was for the murder of the first named. The case rested on the testimony of alienists who not only pronounced Jane Toppan to be insane, but to be a degenerate. They said her impulses irresistibly compelled her to murder her patients in order that she might enjoy the sight of their struggles. They told of her confession of killing Mrs. Gibbs by administering morphine and atropine, hiding the effect of the former by use of the latter.

is too bad that That confession, pronounced in open court, was a mild incident to the revelations of yesterday, and which her senior counsel, Judge P. M. Bixby, does not deny. To him she first admitted killing the three persons named in the indictment, and then of other persons until the list entire numbers 31. She told how she kiled each, saying she used morphine and atropine mixed in mineral water or whiskey. Sometimes she used injections, as in the case glow of live wood embers indicates of the deaths at Cataumet. She did not remember how each individual was killed, but where they were poisoned the drugs were those mentioned, because they were from a vegetable base and they can scarcely be detected after

To the alienists, to whom she made a confession of the Cataumet cases, she spoke without reserve, describing deliberately the most indelicate details, believing that it was the knowledge cussed the cases as if a student of medicine or surgery at a clinic. She implied to them that it was to gratify an abnormal passion that she put patients to death, and during the interval of ebbing life and the departure of natural heat from the body it was her passion also to handle the bodies of her

In the presence of death she would gleefully fondle the patient, stare into the eyes as if it were to see the inner workings of the soul, do all possible to intensify the agony of the patients and then when the end came she would become herself again.

The alienists, listening with wonder to the story, were forced to study Jane she embodied the worst types of deno doubt of her mental condition.

While murder was Jane Toppan's greatest crime, there were many lesser selves deplorable. She told of setting fires in homes in which she was a nurse or visitor and intimate acquaintances or obtained one way or another, she was in the habit of making lavish presents to her friends.

To her acquaintances she was generally of happy disposition, but whenever anything went wrong she would give way to grief, intense in its outburst in tears. REBUFF FOR OXNARD President Tells Him That Nation's Promise to Cuba Will Be Kept Washington, June 25 .- Mr. Oxnard, the beet sugar champion, was among the callers at the White House yesterday. He got little satisfaction from the president, who reminded him with much spirit that the penalty of obstructing the attempt to do justice to Cuba by reciprocity legislation would simply be the substitution of a treaty for a bill, and in the treaty, of course, no provision could be made for abolishing the differentials.

Mr. Oxnard inquired if the president was opposed to the abolition of the differentials, and was assured that it made no difference in the world to him whether they went off or stayed on. The main thing was that Cuba should get the advantages which the United States government was morally pledged to grant ber, and that the fight for this would be kept up forever if need be. Mr. Oxnard ventured to inquire whether the president was sure that a treaty could be ratified. The president answered that he believed it could. The beet magnate's face wore a mournful expression as he left the president's

PHILIPPINE PROBLEM

Gives Rise to Some Hot Language In the House

LANDIS SCORES DEMOCRATS

For Urging War With Spain and Then "Running Away"-Pays Respects to Cleveland-Virginian Thinks Buencamino Shed "Crocodile" Tears

Washington, June 25 .- Two notable speeches marked the closing of the general debate on the Philippine civil government bill yesterday. They were made by Mr. Landis (Rep., Ind.) and by Mr. Williams (Dem., Miss). There were big demonstrations after each concluded.

The other speakers were Messrs. Ball Tex.), Jones (Va.), Shafroth (Col.) and Crumpacker (Ind). The latter closed the general debate for the bill.

Mr. Landis argued that the Demo erats could not shift from their shoul ders their share of the problem that confronted the country in the Philip pines. They urged on the war with Spain and they helped to ratify the treaty which gave the Philippines to the United States.

Mr. Landis engaged in a sharp pas sage with Mr. Clark (Mo). He de scribed Mr. Clark, after war was de clared, as charging up and down the aisle boasting that the Democrats had taken the Republican party by the scruff of the neck and dragged it into

"That's what we did," shouted Mr Clark.

"And then when the war came with its problems, consequences and responsibilities," flashed back Mr. Landis 'you turned your backs and ran away. A tremendous burst of applause greeted this reply. For fully a mirrute it continued unchecked by the presiding offi

"There is not a word of truth in that statement," retorted Mr. Clark, when the applause died away. "And that is not all," returned Mr.

Landis, "they not only turned their backs and ran away, but they are running yet." "That statement is not true, either," cried Mr. Clark.

When Mr. Landis referred to Mr. Clark's former criticisms of Grover Cleveland, the Missouri member corrected him and declared, "the second election of Grover Cleveland was the greatest calamity that has befallen the human race since the fall of Adam." "Didn't you vote for him?" queried

"Yes," responded Mr. Clark, "and that is one thing I expect to pray to Almighty God to give me absolution for on the day of judgment."

Mr. Landis gave a description of the Missouri delegation and Mr. Clark singing "Grover, Grover, Four Years More of Grover." Recent events had shown, he said, that the Democratic managers were looking for a new leader. Who was it to be? The "peeress leader" apparently move from a $5000 to a $25,000 house and retire from public life, "It looks very much," asserted Mr. Landis, "as though Grover Cleveland was to be the man and if he is the gentleman from Missouri again will be heard in the chorus, 'Grover, Grover, Four Years

More of Grover.' Mr. Landis questioned the advisability of giving the Filipinos a branch of the legislature. He did not think they were yet fitted for the exercise of such power. He concluded with an eloquent peroration in which he declared that it was his belief that the Angle-Saxon race was destined ultimately to rule and triumph throughout the length and breadth of the

He was given a most flattering ovation when he took his seat. Members thronged the aisle near him and congratulated him.

Mr. Jones (Va.) at this point utilized a few minutes, as he said, to expose the record of Buencamino, a member of the civil service commission at Manila, who appeared before the insular committee and who on Monday made a pilgrimage to McKinley's tomb at Canton. 'Mr. Jones read a letter written to him by Sixto Lopez, quoting Buencamino in 1895 as extolling Spain and Weyler, and denouncing Dr. Rizal, the Filipine martyr, in celebration of whose memory Buencamino is now attempting to inaugurate an exposition at Manila.

"I see by the morning papers," Mr. Jones continued, "that yesterday this man Buencamino visited Mrs. Me Kinley and shed tears; that he visited McKinley's tomb and again shed tears. This is very remarkable, because in a memorial to congress last year this miserable creature charged that the commencement of hostilities was due to the direct orders of President Mc-

Nature joined with man in perfecting the details of the program of unusual interest. From first till last there was a grand outburst of enthusiasm among the great body of under-

The formal program was not unlike that of long custom, but the features were the conferring upon President Roosevelt of the honorary degree of doctor of laws and later his speech at the alumni dinner, in which he told of ing upon matters of national interest, and prefacing it all with a tender, in behalf of the American people, of sympathy to the English people in their present sorrow. than has been indicated by the last bulletins. He has made a decided improvement, and the feeling at Buckingham palace is very hopeful. The king is able to take nourishment; he had scrambled eggs and a little hock and soda last evening, and he personally opened several telegrams. The absence of complications creates hopefulness in all quarters, although several days must pass before the possibility of danger can be eliminated. The representative of The Associated Press has ascertained, with regard to the brief and to some extent wague character of the bulletins, which give no information as to the king's temperature, pulse, etc., and which for these reasons have been much complained of in some quarters, that this is not due to a desire to conceal any- by the archbishop Monday evening. thing or to apprehension of the result of the king's illness. The doctors had has not yet decided to take any steps the case of the late President McKinley in mind, and, in view of the fact the crisis has not yet passed, they were determined to couch the bulletins in the most guarded language so that the hopes of the public should not be unduly

Notwithstanding the fact that this is the intended coronation day, and that London is now even more crowded with people than it was yesterday, the scenes witnessed on the streets last night were in marked and pleasant contrast with those of Tuesday evening. The reckless rejoicing which was then so disgracefully prominent was quite unheard last night. Traffic pursued its way unimpeded, and even the most popular thoroughfares were comparatively deserted. No illuminations dispelled the natural gloom which settled over the metropolis. The moon failed to penetrate the darkness over the city, and a rather cold wind was blowing.

Quiet and depressed, the crowds waited outside Buckingham palace for the night's final news of the sovereign. For several hours they kept their patient vigil, wandering aimlessly, but with palpable anxiety, about the open space which fronts the royal residence. For some reason or another a feeling pervaded the crowds that if the king lived until last night he would live to be crowned.

Inside the palace all was quiet. Queen Alexandra, who had been in the ricinity of the sick room the entire plained inflammations which occur with day, dined with a few members of the royal family. The callers who came to the palace in the course of the evening contented themselves with driving up to the outer gates, where they alighted and walked in to inquire at the equessies' entrance for the latest news. There they met only liveried servants and small knots of reporters. With the exception of these callers and the noblemen who have the entree to the court, everybody was rigidly excluded from the palace by the police.

He said to condition is even more satisfactory a representative of The Associated Press that he had good hopes for the king's recovery, and that he was sure every Englishman was deeply touched with the sympathy of the United States in the present calamity, "although," Lord Gray added, "such kind expressions of feeling are only what I should expect after my recent pleasant experience of American hospitality."

> Today, instead of a day of coronaion and rejoicing, is one of prayer and intercession. At noon all England was praying that the life of the king be spared. Thousands of persons visited Westminster Abey for the sake of viewing, even from the street, what would have been the centre of the national festivities. Neither inside nor out has the abbey been touched and everything there remains as it was when with cruel mockery a dummy king was crowned The Duke of Norfolk, the earl varshal, whatever.

> Material and other results of the postponement of the coronation are cropping up hourly. Steamers from all parts of the world, which timed their sailings to bring in passengers for the coronation, are reaching England constantly. Whe the news of the king's illness is received on board there is consternation.

Litigation is already commencing over contracts made with regard to seats, accommodations and other arrangements dependent upon the coronation and the naval review. The many steamers which were chartered to witness the review will not be needed and this point alone is likely to make lots of work for the lawyers. "he British fleet will remain intact at Portsmouth until next week, but several of the foreign war vessels will leave there today.

The British Medical Journal says: Should the king's symptoms pursue the course they have hitherto followed. there is good reason to hope for his majesty's restoration to health. It is inevitable that his convalescence should be somewhat prolonged, but we believe if no complications arise that there is no reason to fear his recovery will not be complete. The condition of the parts made clear at the operation was such abscess was due to one of those unexremarkable frequency in the neighborhood of the vermiform appendix, and that it was not due to any organic disease of a more serious nature or to any malignant growth. Up to the present there is no indication of the occurrence of any complication and should none arise his majesty may live for many years. The Lancet, while declaring it is impossible to disguise the seriousness of the king's condition, says: His majesty is suffering from perityphlitis and nothing else. Unfortunately, the symptoms of perityphlitis may be entirely masked and this is was that absolutely prevented the necessity of an operation from being apparent until Tuesday. At present there is no symptom of malignancy in the king's case.

Only four of the thirty-three cities of the State have a larger per cent, of debt to their assessed valuation. A review of the figures presented shows also that the 4 P. The object of advertising is not alone to create business. It is equally its object to retain business. Too many merchants lose sight of this, and as a consequence permit their competitors, who remember the fact, to get ahead of them in the long run. -- Print-

The statistics of Massachusetts railroads, where electric roads are most numerous, show that in spite of com petition the steam roads are gaining passenger patronage more rapidly than the electric lines. Much of the business of the trolley lines is created, and in educating people to travel they contribute to the traffic of the steam roads. - New Bedford Mercury.

Proceedings in the higher courts of Massachusetts are sometime carried to the point of being, perhaps, a trifle far-fetched in their dignity, but that is not altogether a bad thing. Here we have "the honorable judge" and "the learned counsel," and "my brother in the law," and "the court in its wisdom knows," etc., etc. It is calculated at times to see a trifle heavy, etter than the fighting sarcastic, hurlyburly methods prevailing in some courts in other states in this country that the Massachusetts courts take on new dignity in consequence, and their officers are in the public mind high above the ordinary throng to whose bickerings they pay attention. Usually President Roosevelt can ride from one end of Pennsylvania avenue, in Washington, to the other without awakening the least curiosity from the passing public since they are so accustomed to seeing him mounted for riding, says the New York Times. The scarlet coated rider stopped and looked up the driveway, but did not enter. The people took it for granted that the president had forgotten his guest and walked along to take a closer view of his majesty. Just then he set a pair of clumsy heels into his horse and rode slouchily down the avenue, leaving the people to discover that they had been following an advertisement for a new cigarette just come

DECISIVE ENGAGEMENT

Places Venezuelan Government In Bad Position

1700 TROOPS SURRENDER

After a Five Hours' Fight With Revolutionists-Government's Demand For Second Payment of Duties by Importers Causes New Tangle

Willemstad, June 26 .- Advices from Venezuela, under date of June 20, say President Castro recently tried to occupy La Vela (on the gulf of Coro). He sent General Colmenares with a large force of troops to attack the town, by sea, hoping that General Ayala would assist by land and catch the revolutionists, who are there commanded by General Riera, General Matos' first lieutenant, between two fires. But for unknown reasons there was no assistance by land and General Colmenares, after three hours' fighting, was compelled to re-embark his troops and abandon the attack.

During the morning of June 20, General Riera left La Vela and with 1500 men attacked Coro, the capital of the state of Falcon, nine miles distant. After five hours' battle General Ayala, first vice president of the republic and commander of Castro's army, and General Telleria, president of the state of Falcon, 17 generals and 45 colonels surrendered, with five guns and 1682

The moral effect of this victory is incalculable on all the country, as President Castro lately represented in bulletins that General Riera was flying with only 10 followers.

Deserters and fugitives are entering Cumana and Barcelona by the hundreds. The new disaster complicates General Castro's position in Barcelona, the headquarters of President Castro's largest army. General Velutini, the chief commander, quarrels daily with General Castro (who is a brother of the president) and he will abandon the command. The situation is more than critical. The government is compelling importers at Carupano to pay again the duties collected on goods received during the late occupation of the town by the revolutionists. The first payment was made to the revolutionists, which causes a new diplomatic incident.

Yale Wins the 'Varsity Race With Harvard

WAS FOUR LENGTHS AHEAD

With Crimson's Crew Fagged Out at the Finish-Contest Between Freshmen Results In a Dead Heat-Four-Oared Race Won by Harvard

New London, Conn., June 27.-Row ing within 10 seconds of record time the Yale 'varsity crew yesterday after oon lowered the colors of the fastest eight that Harvard has yet produced. Yale won by four boat lengths. Yale's time was 20:20. Harvard's, 20:23. In the four-oared race the colors of Har-Cambridge four won by 21/2 lengths. In the freshman race Yale's crew led over the last mile until within a few feet of the finish, where the Harvard crew by a magnificent spurt jumped their shell up even with the blue. judges were compelled to decide that the race was a draw. Twenty-five thousand people saw the

Elis row to victory in the big 'varsity race. But while the crowd was great it was the presence of President Theodore Roosevelt which made the crowd unique in the history of Yale and Harvard races. The president saw the finish of all three races from aboard the Dolphin, which was anchored just above the finish line. After a stormy night and morning which seemed to mean postponement of the races until Friday the afternoon developed into a cloudless day of almost perfect weather for shell racing. The four-oared race was rowed a few minutes before 3 o'clock. The wind at this time was blowing a gale and Referee Meikleham decided to postpone the freshman and 'varsity races. At 5:45 o'clock the referee steamed over the course and notified the crews to get ready. By 6:07 both crews were at their stakeboats. At 6:09 the ref eree's pistol flashed and the two big shells leaped away from their stake boats. Harvard got the best of the start and in 10 strokes had the nose of her shell a quarter of a length ahead the blue's boat. The crimson eigh had the best water over the first quarter mile and her men made all out of it that they possibly could. At the half-mile flag the boats were almost even. Over the next half-mile the race was a desperate struggle. The boats zigzagged for a minute and a half and then the blue shell began to creep ahead. Yale reached the first mile flag two seconds before Harvard. The Elis were two-thirds of a length ahead. It had been a terrible fight, but Yale had finally gotten the lead. From the end of the first mile to the 11/2-mile flag the boats scarcely changed positions. Over this distance Yale had gained but half a second. On towards the two-mile flag the powerful eights swung with mechanical precision. but all the while Yale's shell kept creeping a little bit ahead.

At the two-mile flag, which is half way point in the race, Yale was leadit down to 31. Harvard, seeing Yale relax, jumped her's up to 34. But desecond between the two-mile and the 21/2-mile flag.

Over the next half mile the blue's crew picked up just another second in the struggle for the supremacy. At the three-mile Yale led by two good lengths. There was very little difference in the power in the two boats, but between the two strokes there was a decided difference. Yale did her work with more ease than Harvard. The Harvard men jammed their oars into the water, while Yale's went in smoothly, but firmly. Yale reached a little further back on the catch than Harvard and chopped her stroke off a little quicker at the finish. Harvard's stroke was more exhausting than Yale's.

The crews entered the long avenue of yachts in grand style. Harvard's coxswain dashed water in the face of McGrew, who was rowing up to the limit of his power. Although there was still another mile to go it was now plain that Yale had more strength left than Harvard and that, barring an accident, the victory would be for the blue. Little by little Yale increased was nine full seconds ahead of Harvard, which means practically three full boat

It was now a spurt for the last half mile of the race. Yale raised her stroke to 33 and then to 34. Harvard held her's at 34 for a minute, but had to drop it at last to 32. The Harvard coxswain | panied by heavy rains and high winds made a bad mess of his steering over this last part of the race. Long before the crews reached the 31/2-mile flag it was apparent that Jackson, the Har-

eight almost squarely onto the flag-pes so that the oars banged against it, and the beat lost the benefit of two or thre seconds of time. Harvard was placky despite the fact that she was far be hind, and gradually her men struck their pace again and rowed it out. M. Grew was reeling in his seat and Jackson again and again dashed water in his face. It was only a question of how many lengths Yale would have at the finish. Suddenly the flag dropped

The blue's time was 20:20, just 10 seconds lower than the record made by the famous Yale crew of 1888. Harvard's time was 20:33, which gave to Yale the victory by four good boat lengths.

Just as the finish flag fell and Yale's men stopped rowing, Daly, the bow in the Yale boat, dropped limp over the side of the shell. It looked as though he would fall overboard before Waterman could throw water on him and revive him. He finally got into his seat and rowed over to the launch with the rest of the men. Harvard's oarsmen were all literally pumped out at the finish. The story of the freshman race is easily told for the first mile. The Yale boys got the best of the start and held Yale finished the mile just one length ahead of their Harvard cousins. Just beyond the mile flag the Harvard boys began to spurt. Little by little they cut down Yale's lead until at the 11/2-mile flag they were leading Yale by almost a length. The boats zigzagged between the strokes for the pext minute until they were almos even. Then Yale weakened a little, but soon she regained control of her boat and once more the shells were practically even.

The Harvard boys put their stroke up to 36 and Yale raised her's to 32 in ne of the grandest fights ever seen or any river between freshman crews The flags at the finish dropped and no one could tell which had dropped first. The watches made it a dead heat in 10:13 and a moment later the judges announced that the race was a draw The Yale freshmen had rowed the two miles in just two seconds slower time than the Yale 'varsity. The four-oared race was a victor, for Harvard from the very start. The Harvard four got the lead at the crack of the pistol and never lost it. At the end of the half-mile Harvard was lead ing Yale one length and at the mile there was open water between the boats. At the end of the mile and a half, Harvard was a length and a quarter ahead. The Harvard four spurted and increased this lead to a trifle over two lengths at the finish. Harvard's time was 11:1914; Yale's

RAPID RECOVERY.

Cheering Reports from the Bedside of King Edward---He Enjoys a Cigar.

London, June 27.-The following | Westminster Abbey accompanied by a bulletin was posted at Buckingham palace at 11 o'clock last night:

London, June 27.-Those around King Edward continue to be astonished at his rapid recovery. The slightly annoying symptoms mentioned in the bulletins issued at 11 o'clock last night are quite inconsequential compared to the fact, which The Associated Press has learned, that his majesty again took food last night and was afterwards allowed to smoke a cigar.

Queen Alexandra sat with her husband all the evening and only left him after he had fallen into a peaceful Mention by the king's doctors of the care with which food is administered to the patient and of the return of pain in the wound can safely be taken as merely an earnest of their conscientious intention to make public the slightest adverse symptoms, however unimportant.

The king's courage and good temper are remarkable, and yesterday he personally wrote several telegrams and one or two notes

As evidence of the king's persistent refusal to efface himself from his connection with state affairs, and it corroboration of the statement that the physicians are satisfied with their patient's condition, The Associated Press learns that besides personally opening telegrams Wednesday evening, King Edward then insisted upon a final inspection of the honor list. There was one appointment of considerable importance which had not been definitely decided at that time. The king approved this nomination and gave the final order to the department interested, thus saving one of the recipients of honors from severe disappointment. King Edward is better in every way than he was Wednesday night or vesterday morning. The return of pain in bis wound is not accompanied by any appreciable increase of temperature. In fact the doctors are inclined to regard the patient's pain and his appetite as healthy symptoms. Following the expressed desire of the police know is that the case has some-Prince of Wales, the arrangements for | thing to do with organizing the comilluminating the city, which involved electric and gas lights, will be allowed to remain and will be utilized "immediately it is authoritatively announced that the king is out of danger." By the king's personal desire, the royal pardons of offenders in the army will go into effect just as if the coronation had occurred. This last intimation suitably brought to a close the day which was to have been notable in English history, and which, from the viewpoint of the public, has passed in that mediocrity which is attached to all things that are neither wholly good nor wholly bad.

The most striking feature of coronation day, as it is still called, was the universal substitution of services of intercession for those of rejoicing. These services occurred throughout the country and on board the great fleet that lies unreviewed in Portsmouth harbor. Yet even these lacked pathetic and dramatic elements. In the face of yesterday's favorable bulletins tears and litanies were out of place. The crowds that packed the streets of the metropolis until midnight last night evidenly appreciated this and there was a general sense of rejoicing. With the favorable progress of the king there is much discussion as to how | had hopelessly involved the institution, the coronation will eventually be effected. While nothing has in any way been definitely settled, it appears that it will consist of a drive direct to

Hundreds of visitors to London flocked to Westminster Abbey yesterday and until late at night erowds of spectators stood gazing at the place where Edward VII should have been crowned. The artificial coronation annex, which is one of the few parts of the abbey not hidden by stands, attracted special attention.

Providing King Edward maintains his present rate of improvement, London will soon be emptied of its holiday crowd and the postponed coronation will be looked forward to as an occasion for sedate thanksgiving, bereft of

Entering Washington from Foster.

a Close Call

There came near being a serious acci dent this morning at the corner of MRS. ALICE LITCHFIELD desires to Washington and Foster streets. As it was, the fish wagon of ex-Councilman Edgar F. Hayden was smashed and Mr. Hayden and his assistant, Alfred W. Brown, were severely shaken up.

Mr. Hayden came out of the resi dence of George D. Langley and got into his team and started toward Washington street. He realized what a dangerous crossing it was, and says, is 16 feet wide by 30 feet deep, with a that he was watching one side for the kitchen extension 11 by 111/2 feet. car and the Brown boy the other. The 9.20 car for Quincy Point was approaching and the borse was hurried to get across. He was not quick enough, however, and the car struck the team and overturned it.

Mr. Hayden was thrown some distance and landed heavily in the street. The Brown boy was not thrown so far. He quickly jumped up and started to run, but did no get far before he collapsed. A superficial examination showed that neither of them had Quincy, Mass broken bones but were severely shaken up, especially Mr. Hayden who is a heavy man. Young Brown was the recent gold medalist at the Adams Academy prize declamations. Both were taken home in a carriage. The wagon was not badly smashed.

Dr. Barbour Welcomed.

A very pleasant evening was spent by many at the Wollaston Baptist church, Thursday night. The people of the society extended invitations to both young and old, to welcome Dr. Barbour who has been for ten months on a missionary trip about the globe. The social opened with a selection by a few members of Edward Hewitson associates, after which Rev. Preston Gurney in a few words welcomed Dr. Barbour in a cordial manner. Dr. Barbour responded with a half hour's talk on his voyage. As it was impossible to give a detailed account, he only mentioned few incidents which occurred to him on his travels and the pecularities of the va-Half House, 4 rooms, No. 15 Brackett street, rious people he came in contact with on his gospel mission. Charge Bad Faith on Our Part In the Treatment of Cuba

Boston, June 27.-The New England Anti-Imperialist league held a public neeting in Faneuil hall last night, with Bourke Cockran of New York as the speaker. One of the objects of the neeting was to formulate a demand that representative Filipinos be permitted to come to this country and lay their case before the American people. It was well attended and enthusiasm was manifested in cheers at salient points of the speeches, and for Senator Hoar, although there was one slight ripple of friction by a deep-voiced r : n who for a time persisted in calling for cheers for "Theodore Roosevelt, the grandest man who ever lived." He subsided, however, and the gathering was all attention to Mr. Cockran's words. Mr. Cockran spoke with great earnestness. He alfuded to the war as having been forced on a reluctant administration by a people passionate with the desire to free Cuba from Spanish oppression, and then he took Cuba as the text for his remarks upon the effects and distinguishing characteristics of imperialism. He charged bad Life insurance written and over $273,000,000 faith in the treatment of Cuba, for in placed during 1901, Paid Policy-holders, in 26 years, over $8,000,000 | faith in the treatment of Cuba, for in the face of a promise of independence Assets, end of 1901, over 48,000,000 | lacome, during 1901, nearly 29,000,000 | lacome, during 1901, over 48,000,000 | lacome, dur had, he said, been deprived of the very essence of independence, the authority to preserve order among themselves and to make treaties with foreign powers. Our oppression of the Cubans, he contended, had been more scientific, more drastic, and more terrible than that of Spain, because it was being undertaken for the purpose of enriching a syndicate. The treatment of the Filipinos by the United States, Mr. Cockran declared, was the blackest page in history. for we had turned our guns upon them after accepting them as allies.

Nuptials Interrupted

Boston, June 27.—Demonstrations against the bride-elect by relatives and countrymen prevented a wedding at St. Joseph's Catholic church in the west end last night. The bride-elect was given police protection for a while, and later she and her fiance were enabled to meet and then disappeared, it is said, to go to New York on the midnight train for the purpose of having the marriage ceremony performed. The young woman was Jennie Finkelstein, aged 22, and the man of her choice, John Reagan, aged 25. The relatives of the young woman could not be reconciled to her marriage outside the Jewish faith and they made all manner of trouble

MISS C. FOLLETT SPEAR,

Government Bill

ALMOST STRICT PARTY VOTE

Differs In Many Particulars From Measure Passed by Senate-Amendment to Ultimately Grant Self-Government Meets With Defeat

Washington, June 27.-At 8 o'clock last night, at the end of a nine-hour session, and of a debate lasting night and day for a week, the house passed the Philippne civil government bill, practically as it came from the committee. It was a party vote 141-97, with the exception of Mr. McCall (Mass.), who voted with the Democrats. The minority substitute for the establishment of a temporary government in the isands and their permanent independence as soon as a stable government could be established, was defeated by 95 to 136.

The debate during the day was at times of a lively character. The Democrats offered a multitude of amendments, but all were voted down, including one to prohibit slavery or involuntary servitude in the islands.

The greatest interest attached to an amendment offered by Mr. McCall to declare the policy of the United States to develop the capacity of the Filipinos for self-government and pledging the faith of the United States to grant them self-government. He supported the amendment in an eloquent speech and the Democrats challenged their political adversaries to declare their future policy. The amendment was lost, 89 to 128. It was a strict party vote, except for Mr. McCall and Mr. Littlefield (Me.), who voted with the Democrats for the amendment. The substitute for the senate Philippine civil government bill differs from the bill as it passed the senate in many minor particulars, but princially in the following:

The house substitute provides for a complete system of civil government, with a legislature to consist of two houses, one of which shall be a popular assembly elected by the Filipino people. The senate bill contained no such provision. The house substitute also amplifies "the bill of rights" enumerated in the senate measure and adds to the number of issues which can be appealed to the supreme court of the United States. The house measure also defines with greater detail than the senate the rights of citizenship of those residing in the islands, and provides that all residents shall receive the same protection from the United States in respect to their relation with foreign governments as is accorded to citizens of the United States.

One of the most important differences between the senate and house bills is that relating to coinage. The senate provided a silver standard somewhat in extension and perfection of that now in existence. The house measure provides a gold standard system, with the gold dollar of the United States as the standard unit of value for the islands. The main coin is to be the peso, made in silver, but of a gold value, and this is to be divided into subsidiary pieces of money bearing devices emblematic of American sovereignty. Provision also is made for a system of paper currency, banks and for a complete financial sys-

In dealing with the grant of franchises, the house bill places many more restrictions on such grants than the senate bill. Both bills provide for acquiring the friar lands and for the issue of bonds sufficient to pay for these lands, the senate provision making the interest rate 41/2 percent and the house 5 percent. Both measures contain extended provisions relative to timber lands, harbor and internal improvements, and for two delegate commissioners chosen by the Filipinos to represent them in Washington and have the privilege of the floor of the house.

When the senate convened yesterday a bill was passed directing the secretary of the treasury to bestow medals upon First Lieutenant Jarvis, Second Lieutenant Bertholf and Surgeon Call, all of the revenue cutter service, members of the overland expedition of 1897, for the relief of the whaling fleet in the Arctic regions. Consideration then was begun of the general deficiency appropriation bill, it being read for committee amendments.

Consul Ayme at Washington

Washington, June 27.--United States Consul Ayme called upon Acting Secretary of State Hill yesterday and spent two hours in reciting the tragic events at Martinique connected with the volcano outbreak. Mr. Ayme shows plainly the effect of the intense physical and mental strain he was under during the first days of his voluntary labors in Martinique. He probably will go to Chicago for a month's rest.

SENATE CANAL BILL

Ready For President's Signature Washington, June 27 .- The house House Passes Philippine Civil passed the canal bill yesterday afternoon exactly as it came from the senate, and it accordingly goes to the president for his signature. There were but seven votes in opposition, the vote standing 252 to 7.

It is seldom that the defeated side in a controversy feels so happy as the advocates of the Nicaraguan canal route. They profess to believe that the bill which has been agreed to will untimately result in a Nicaraguan canal, since they maintain that the conditions for the Panama canal cannot be complied with. They say that Morgan's allegation of the inability of the French company to give a valid title will be sustained; they also hope much from the unbusinesslike characteristics of the Colombian government.

Dewey Talks on Manila

Washington, June 27.-Admiral Dewey made a statement before the senate committee on the Philippines vesterday concerning the early operations at Manila, when he was in command of the American naval forces in Philippine waters. The admiral's statement contributed an important addition to the hstory of the surrender of the city of Manila. This consisted of a positive statement by the admiral to the effect that the city had been surrendered to him at the time that when the city did surrender it was in pursuance of a definite understanding between himself and the Spanish governor general. The admiral told of his relations with Aguinaldo and said b never recognized the government of the Filipinos. He took little stock in the usefulness of the natives.

I hope the fleet will always the same time, brings it into closer relations with our comrades of the British navy. The fleet is immediately to hoist the British flag at the mastheads and to fire a salute of 21 guns and give three cheers for the King of England.' This command was at once carried out by all the German ships in the harbor.

A Japanese Hero.

I reall to mind a story of an officer Accepted By the House and Now in the Japanese emperor's army which was besieging a fortress. Its number was small and a relieving army was coming up. It was of immense moment that they should know how long the fortress could hold out. If it must capitulate for want of supplies within a week they could stay and win the campaign for the emperor. A young Japanese nobleman volunteered to go into the fortress and ascertain how long it could hold out. He disguised himself, and in passing learned that it had food and water for only two days

As he was going out with this precious information he was detected, and the enemy said to him, "We are going to crucify you, but we will let you off on one condition-that you go to the wall and tell your people that we have supplies for a week." He said, "Very well," and went to the wall. His wife and children in the besiegers' camp saw him, his friends were there also, and he held up both his hands and said to them: "There are supplies for but two days. Continue the siege and you will take the

Many years ago before the days of railroads a nobleman and his wife, with their infant, were traveling across Salisbury plain. As the story is the Spanish fleet was sunk and that told in Mr. A. P. Russell's "Characteristics," they were overtaken by a severe storm and took refuge in a lone shepherd's but.

The child had taken cold before they could find shelter and the nurse began at once to undress it by the warm cottage fire. As she pulled off one rich silken garment after another the shepherd and his wife looked on in a wed silence.

At last the process of undressing was completed and the little naked baby was being warmed by the fire. There It sat, with all its splendid outer husks peeled off, its little body beginning to be mindful of this high honor which, at glow in the hut by the fire. Neither Side In Great Coal Stree Shows a Disposition to Yield

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 28.-Tody ends the seventh week of the grat anthracite coal mine workers' strie. The lines remain tightly drawn ad neither side shows the slightest esposition to weaken. The predicton that the strugsle will be one to a firsh still holds good. That a settlement of the strike may be reached without bth sides fighting to a bitter end, however, is by no means an impossibility. Wile no information can be had on the natter it is still believed here that some outside party is going over the sitation with a view of finding a wayof bringing the miners and operatorstogether. If such is being done it is not likely that any move will be made util after the special national convention of the mine workers next mouth atludianapolis. It is not unlikely that its report of Labor Commissioner Wight to President Roosevelt may sugjest some way that may lead to a setle

Considering the great number of pen who are idle the strike is a remarkably quiet one. Including those who lave been laid off by reason of duil time or account of the suspension, it is stimated that fully 165,000 persons arout of work in this comparatively small section of the state.

AH GRIM and HIS

PRIZE LETTUCE Copyright, 1900, by Caroline Wetherell

Ah Grim had a garden surprise In shape of a lettuce the size Of a big poplar tree, And a marvel to see. It won him at fairtime a prize. There were some bad boys in that land Who thought it would be simply grand, With axes to toil. That lettuce to spoil And shatter its leaves on the sand.

Just then big Ah Grim hurried out. The boys ran with squeak and with shout: "Here he will not get us! We'll hide in the lettuce; Its leaves are both ample and stout!" But when the sharp dressing was made, Oh, my! Were those bad boys afraid? With sputter and groan They made themselves known And humbly for pardon they prayed.

The program for the afternoon and evening of July 4th, which is the date set for the first concert, includes many new composition. Not only compositions that are classical but compositions that are of the popular kind. Sousa has written a new march in com- Judge Takes Faircloth - Williams memoration of the coronation of King Edward of England. It is called "The Imperial King Edward." The afternoon will be given over to the younger people and pretty little nursery rhymes will be played, while in the evening the program will be one especially arranged for such a day as interspersed among national melodies, dainty gavottes, charming minuets and tandard selections and overtures.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Popie For the Week Beginning June 21 -Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle, Topic.-National prosperity .- Prov. xiv, 31; Deut. vi, 10-13.

Never in the history of our country was our national prosperity greater than it is today. Our political domain is more extensive than ever before, and our prestige among the nations of the world has reached its highest point up to the present time. We are in the midst of an industrial prosperity that seems almost like a dream. Egypt's seven years of plenty were not to be compared to the unbounded extent and the unrivaled character of our national industrial condition. Religion, the arts and the sciences are also prosperous in our land, and we can say with genuine enthusiasm, God "hath not dealt so with any other nation." The present is therefore a most opportune moment in which to make a thoughtful and prayerful study of the subject of national prosperity.

The topical references suggest two important facts upon this subject.

1. National prosperity is a blessing from God. God is the God of nations as well as the God of individuals. He raiseth up one and bringeth down another. That the prosperity of a nation is a gift from God is the direct teaching of the Scriptures. It was God who in Canaan was to give the Jewish nation goodly cities, which thou buildedst not, and houses full of good things, which thou filledest not, and wells digged, which thou diggedst not, vineyards and olive trees, which thou plantedst not." Nor is prosperity less from God because it comes usually indirectly through His blessing upon nature and the works of our own hands. Presumption and pride should not possess us in our hours of national prosperity, but rather humbleness and trust in God, the Giver of all good gifts. As warned to beware lest it should forget that it was the Lord who brought it out of Egypt and made of the people : great nation, so we should be on our guard "lest we forget." 2. National prosperity can only b

continued by fidelity to God and to the righteousness that is pleasing in the sight of God. "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." "The nation that forgets God shall perish." If becoming proud and presumptuous in their prosperity the American people become unjust, immoral, godless, extravagant and reckless, leaving the paths of righteous ness, of judgment and of equity, what a crash there will be. Prosperity pro duced by divine favor will give way to adversity, the result of divine condemnation. We may well wonder what is to be the outcome of the present unpar alleled conditions in our country, and in our speculations we may rest assur ed that just as certainly as night fol lows day if as a nation we forget God, disregard his laws, trample under foot His day and neglect His house disaster will come. Our prosperity will be swept away in a night, and darkness, disaster and despair will cover the land. The supreme national duty of the hour is to keep close to God. A Parable.

There is a story of a king who gave a great quantity of thread to some workmen to weave, telling them to be sure to come to him when they had any trouble with it. The day came when upheld by aggressive dignity, while focused on the bit of bunting at the all were to bring their work to the king. She was asked the reason, and her answer was: "I did as the king told me. Whenever I got into the least bit of a tangle, I went to the king. and he helped me." Things about us. and we ourselves sometimes, seem to get into tangles. Like the little girl, let us learn to take all these little tangles to the great King, and He will unravel them for us. Prejudice.

Prejudice never reasons, but moves and sways the mind and action from some instinctive or sudden or biased impulse. It has its seat in ignorance weakness or idieness. It is a blindness of perception and relation which leads to personal and public injury. It acts as a hindrance to truth, knowledge and to progress. It is a neutralizing force that resists and modifies the most co gent arguments, the most powerful dis courses, the most moving appeals and the most stirring considerations.-Pres byterian.

London, June 28 .- "It's the best Jet" was the popular comment with which the bulletin posted at Buckingham palace at 11 o'clock last night was greeted. A small crowd waited be fore the palace until the builetin was brought out and when the good news became known there were cheers. After learning the contents of the buletin the crowd at the palace quickly dispersed, and the rejoicing which was already apparent in the crowded *treets increased in keeping with the terms of the latest report.

The 11 o'clock bulletin was as follows: "His majesty's condition is in all respects satisfactory. The Ling has had a comfortable day and has made substantia improvement."

The Prince and Princess of Wales dined at Buckingham palace last night in company with several foreign royal personages. The diners returned early to their homes.

The unanimity among prominent physicians, when questioned in relation to the case of King Edward, is quite remarkable. All the professional opinions gathered are distinctly favorable and hopeful. The doctors questioned regard the danger of peritonitis to have now almost passed and believe his majesty's recovery to be entirely Liverpool was illuminated last night in recognition of the good news.

The Daily Mail this morning says that all King Edward's functions are working admirably. The drainage pipe has not yet been removed, says the paper, but the king's general progress is very sure and steady. His diet already includes soup, fish and baked apples. It is probable that the next week the number of daily bulletins will be diminished. It has been informally settled, says the paper, that as soon as it is safe to do so his majesty will be moved to Cowes and placed on beard the royal yacht for his period of convalescence. Referring to the bill passed by the house, Mr. Teller said: "When the differential was taken off there was a great falling off in interest in recip rocity on the part of the sugar trust.' Mr. Platt said this was a question of political policy and one of the most important of such questions presented to congress in many a year. It had engaged the attention of some of the wisest and most far-seeing of states-

AMNESTY FOR FILIPINOS

Will Free Aguinaldo and Other Political Prisoners

At Which Time the Islands Will Be Transferred From Military to Civil Authorities-Criminal Offenders to Be Dealt With by New Government

Washington, June 28 .- At a meeting of the cabinet yesterday the terms of an amnesty proclamation to the Filipinos, which it is contemplated to issue on July 4, were agreed upon. Secretary Root will cable it to Acting Governor Wright for his inspection. If it meets the latter's approval, nothing will remain but for the president, if the Philippine civil government is a law on that day, as is now expected it will be, to issue on Independence day a formalproclamation setting forth terms of amnesty for all political offenders in the islands, including Aguinaldo and those held at Guam.

The proclamation is based on the general objects of the Philippine government bill, namely, to restore peace in the archipelago and substitute a civil for a military administration. That bill is now in conference and the proclamation will not be published until | yesterday, put the muzzle to his head the Philippine government measure has been agreed upon by both houses and the president has affixed his signature

While the proclamation is subject to changes in text, the general language of the document is pretty well mapped out. There was a general discussion yesterday of the treatment that should be accorded the political prisoners of the islands. There is no intention, it is stated, to release those prisoners convicted of other than political offenses, the benefits of amnesty being limited to those in custody as a result of breaches of military law, leaving criminal offenders to the action of the proper authorities under the coming civil government. The purpose is to demonstrate that motives of humanity and generosity dictate our course toward the Filipinos

When the islands are turned over to the civil authorities they will not be left without adequate military protection, as no more troops will be ordered home for the present and every pre caution will be taken for the military safeguarding of the islands under the new civil administration.

BLAMES THE SUGAR TRUST Mr. Plant (Conn.), chairman of the PROCLAMATION ON JULY 4 Another subject under discussion at the cabinet neeting was the negoti tions for the purchase of the friars' lands in the Philippines. It is understood that Secretary Root feels great confidence in a successful outcome of Governor Taft's efforts at Rome

The cabinet meeting was held in the president's temporary quarters on Lafayette square and was the first time in 88 years that a regular session of the cabinet had been held outside the White House.

The conferees of the two houses of congress on the Philippine civil government bill held their first meeting at 2 o'clock yesterday and adjourned at 6 o'clock without having disposed of any important items of difference. It is expected that the conference will continue all today and possibly that it will run into tonight. Confidence is expressed that an agreement will be reached, and it is now understood that if necessary to accomplish that end some of the disputed points will be eliminated from the measure entirely, leaving them for future action by congress, but making sure of such provisions at least as can be agreed on by both branches of congress.

"I saw nore queer sights than were ever set own in the reports made to the governments of the various countries interested in the isthmian canal problem. We saw wild natives, crocodiles, and in the jungle on either side of the canal the tropical growth was just crowded with cranes and large berons, all of bautiful plumage.

"The way we came to make the trip was peculiar. Fifty years ago I vent on a journey around Cape Horn to San Francisco. We went in a clipper, and it took over three months. I thought on the fiftieth anniversary of that trip that I would go down and cross the Master Ralph W. They will have to build dams at various points of the Chagres river. "After lunch we went on up the canal and near the end found many of the Indians wild. We could not get near them at all, and if we started to make a landing near any of the plantations we were warned that trouble was brewing. They don't need much to eat, and they don't wear anything, so it is pretty easy for them to get along. A banana tree will bear one bunch of bananas, which they sell to the traders for a few coins.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL BILL

Will Bring the Appropriations Close to Billion Dollar Mark-Review of Measures Passed, Carried Over to Next Session, and Defeated

congress is now practically closed, so that it is possible to sum up the record of what has been accomplished during the past seven months, which constitute the first session of the Fifty-Seventh congress. The session has been marked by exceptional busines activity, with many questions of far-reaching general interest engaging attention. With the exception of the Cuban reciprocity bill, most of the larger subjects of general legislation have been enacted as laws. or will become such before the ses-

Notable among these larger measures is the isthmian canal bill, which consummates the efforts of a half century to link together the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific. Aside from its national and international importance, this bill probably involves a larger sum of money than that covering any other single undertaking by the government outside of war expenditures. The Philippine civil government bill is another measure of far-reaching importance, extending to our remote Pacific possessions a system of internal civil government, together with coinage, currency, banking, corporation, timber and homestead laws. Among the other important general laws enacted are those repealing the war revenue taxes; extending and makng more effective the Chinese exclusion laws; establishing a tariff for goods to and from the Philippines; extending the charter of national banks for 20 years; establishing a permanent census office: restricting the sale of oleomargarine by placing a high tax on imitation butter; providing a consular and diplomatic service for Cuba; establishing an extensive system by which the government will aid in the irrigation of the arid sections of the west.

The repeal of the war revenue taxes reduced taxation $73,250,000 and is said to be the largest single reduction of axation ever made in this country. By this step the last of the taxes imposed at the beginning of our war with Spain was wiped out.

The Philippine tariff act imposes 75 percent of the Dingley tariff rates on articles coming from the Philippines to the United States and also imposes on articles entering the Philippines from the United States the rates of duties established by the Philippine com-

The oleomargarine act results from several years of agitation. It places a tax of 10 cents a pourd on substances colored to imitate butter.

The irrigation act is of special importance to the development of the west. The irrigated sections are to be open to homesteaders, who are to be charged a proportionate share of the cost of the improvement.

The Chinese exclusion law continues exclusion "until otherwise provided by law," and also applies the exclusion "to the island territory under the jurisdiction of the United States."

Aside from these important laws there are a number of other measures of general importance which have passed one or both houses, but have not progressed to the final stage. These include the anti-anarchy legislation, which grew out of the assassination of President McKinley. The subject goes over until next December. A bill giving statehood to Arizona,

New Mexico and Oklahoma, passed the house and the senate has determined to take up the matter early in the next session. The ship subsidy bill received early attention in the senate, but the end of the session has come without the measure being reported to the house. The bill creating the Appalachian forest reserve has received favorable attention in both houses, but has gone over for final adjustment of differences until next December. The bill to establish a cable between the United States, Hawaii and the Philippines was retired by defeat in the house. Several other measures have advanced to a certain stage and have been halted without much prospect for further advancement. These include the bill for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people; a bill relating to the immigration laws; defining the meaning of conspiracy in injunction cases; creating a department of commence, to be presided over by a cabinet officer; the pure food bill, which, after extended hearings, was reported from the house comhas not been acted outin the senate. Among the other important measures of general legislation not heretofore named which have been fingly enacted as laws, are the following:

To prevent the sale of firearms.

opium and intoxicating liquors to the natives of certain of the Pacific isl ands; to promote the efficiency of the revenue cutter service, and to provide for the retirement of its officers; to refund the duties paid in Porto Rico on articles imported from the United States during the military occupation; appropriating $200,000 for the relief of the volcano sufferers at Martinique; authorizing the erection of Y. When Mr. Cannon submitted a general estimate of appropriations a few weeks ago, he made the total up to that time $691.445,000. Since then the canal bill has passed carrying a present appropriation of $40, 000,000 for the franchise and enough more for the rights of Colombia and for beginning the work to carry the total up to $50,000,000. The entire cost of the undertaking is approximately $184,000,000. Mr. Cannon's esti nate also omitted contracts for future expenditure, aggregating a large amount. This will carry the total for the ses sion, figuring in these future amounts. almost, if not quite, upward to the biliion dollar mark.

The appropriation bills have contained little general legislation, being confined chiefly to the regular needs of the various branches of the govern-

There have been several investigations during the session which have attracted much attention. An investigation of conditions in the Philippines has led to the examination of many wit nesses high in the conduct of civil and military affairs in the islands. Another inquiry has related to the condition of affairs in Cuba, especially as to sugar. Sensational charges made in connection with the purchase of the Danish West Indian islands led to an investigation which disclosed the groundless nature of the charges.

The exact time when the present ses sion of congress shall come to a close cannot be foretold until there is definite information as to when an agreement will be reached on the Philippine civil government bill. However, the general consesus of opinion places the adjournment on Wednesday

Sunday was again a day of intercessional services for the recovery of King Edward throughout the kingdom. In the morning a vast crowd of the general public gathered at St. Paul's cathedral. Besides these, there were present a representative gathering of government and colonial officials and uniformed olonial officers. The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and their children and Lord and Lady Lansdowne sat under the dome. Nearly 150 were present at the picnic Saturday of the First church Sunday chool at Houghton's pond and had a grand time. The children carried unches and the school furnished ice cream, peanuts and lemonade. Base ball and other sports were enjoyed unil 4.30 when all started for home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tinney and family of Granite street leave Quincy, Tuesday for their native home in Prince Edwards Island. They have lived here for a few years and have made through their kindness many friends who all regret their going. Their two little boys Frank and Ray, received a letter from their school teacher that is worthy being proud of. We all will miss them but yet we wish hem a pleasant voyage and future

BOER FORCES IN THE WAR. Commandant Kemp Says There Were

50,000 In the Beginning. A dispatch from Kimberley, Griqualand West, dated Monday, June 16, to the Washington Star, says: Commandant Kemp, General Delarey's lieutenant, who surrendered at Mafeking June 11, has arrived here. In an interview the other day he gave some interesting figures regarding the war. He said that about 50,000 Boers were in the field at the outset and that only 1,500 out of 5,000 men available fought at Colenso, where the Boer losses were Hewes & Potter, 1 1 2 0 2 0 0 0 5-6 not heavy. At Spion Kop, where the British suffered so much, the Boers had only fifty-three men killed. In one of the fights outside Ladysmith the Boers had fifty-six men killed and over 100 wounded. Their losses were heavier at Brankspruit and Vlakfontein.

The Boers were often worried by the British shrapnel and lyddite fire, but when intrenched they did not fear the shells. Members of the Boer forces often managed to get into Johannesburg. Krugersdorp and Pretoria, procuring valuable information, and frequently crossed the blockhouse lines at night. Commandant Kemp did not allow the Boers of his command to wear khaki,

JESSE'S ROCKET.

Story of the Ever Glorious Fourth of July. A carryall stopped before a small red house on a long, lonely country road, and a little white headed boy ran out from the woodshed to see who had

"May we have a drink of water from your well?" asked a lady on the back

There was a boy in front sitting by the gentleman who drove. He looked happy and excited

"What's your name?" he asked when the little fellow brought a dipper full of cold, sparkling water.

"Jesse Lee," was the reply. "I'm Arthur Brown. Do you know what day it is?"

"It's Wednesday," said Jesse. "It's Fourth of July! Don't you keep it? Haven't you got firecrackers and rockets and things?" "No," said Jesse. "We're going to my uncle's to stay all night, and we're carrying all our fireworks with us. Say, papa, how far does Uncle Jason live from here?"

"Two miles across lots in that direction," said his father, pointing west, 'but it' is five miles around the road." "Well," said Arthur, "if you look tonight over that way when it grows dark you'll see our rockets going up." "Well, I'll look," said Jesse very eariestly. "Papa, I mean to give Jesse one of our rockets, and then when he sees ours go up he can send up his, and I shall know he's looking. May I?" His father nodded, and Arthur drew rocket from his box and handed it to

"Now, remember," he called back as the horses started off. Jesse Lee had never seen a rocket be fore. He laid this one on the table in the front room and went many times that day to look at it. It was a mystery and a great delight. When his father came in from mowing and saw the rocket, he said he knew how to send it up, so Jesse awaited night with high expectations.

It was a quiet day on the little farm The sound of bells and guns in the nearest town could not reach this remote spot, but perhaps no town boy was happier than little Jesse, with his one rocket lying there upon the table.

Supper was over at last and the work all done. The sun had gone down, and Jesse took his place on the front gate to watch. He looked west and wondered how far two miles would reach. The dusk gathered, the night came softly down, and, oh, suddenly far away, a star shot aloft up into the sky and broke in a shower of brightness! "That's the first rocket," said Jesse's father. All the family were watching "There's another!" cried Jesse. "Shal we send up mine now?" "No: I'd wait a little," said his fa-"Wait till they stop awhile." One after another the beautiful things shot brightly up, and Jesse's heart beat tumultuously as he handled rapture. He had never known a joy like this before.

"He's sent his up!" cried Arthur, two miles away. "He sees ours, and he's sent up his!"

And then they renewed their own display of fireworks, candles, wheels, flower baskets and all the rest, with every little while a rocket. Every time he sent a rocket up Arthur said:

But there was no more answer from Jesse. His one rocket had signaled its message and was silent. He sat in his father's arms, a happy boy, watching for one beautiful starry light after another and when it was all over went

The Fourth Is Two Days Late. As a matter of fact, the passing of Mr. Lee's resolution effected the separation of the colonies from Great Brit ain, and the 2d of July is really Inde pendence day. It was this day, John Adams wrote his wife on the 3d, that future generations would celebrate. "The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the his tory of America," he wrote. "I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other from this time forward and forevermore."

CRASH OF STREET CARS Motorman of One Killed and Many Are Injured

Mariboro, Mass., June 30 .- With a crash that was heard a long way off two cars on the Marlboro and Fudson division of the Marlboro street railway came together Saturday evening and as a result one man is dead and 38 in-typed.

The accident is the most appaling hat has ever happened within the lin its of the city and a pall of gloom hangs over Marlboro and Hudson. The scene of the disaster was near the farm house of Jeremiah Shaughnessy on Pleasant street. There and pears to be no variation as regards the stories of the cause of the accident. Superintendent Ralph and lis assistant, Patrick Reilly, state the car which left Marlboro in charge of Conductor Felix Sawyer and Motorman William Moore should have waited at what is known as the Flag brook cross ing until it was passed by the special workingmen's car, which left Hudson in charge of Conductor Hugh McNiff and Motorman John H. Harris. The down car did not wait, and as it sped on both motorman and conductor little dreamed that their neglect to wait could have such terrible results.

was just around a slight curve, and at the foot of a down grade. The motormen and conductors and passengers had but little warning of the disaster, and when the motormen knew that a collision was bound to come, both stood to their posts like heroes, and Motorman Harris now lies dead, while grave fears are entertained of the recovery of Motorman Moore.

Men From the North Made a Determined Fight In the Face of Fire From Machine Guns-Foreign Residents' Lives In Extreme Danger

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 30 .- There has been much fighting here and great excitement prevails. Admiral Killick, commander of the Haytien fleet, disembarked a further detachment of troops and a large quantity of ammunition at 4 o'clock yesterday morning for the protection of General Firmin, one of the candidates for the presidency of the republic.

Since 6 o'clock yesterday morning there have been several lively engagements between the men from the fleet and the revolutionists from the north. Several machine guns were set up in a commanding position by General Firmin's forces, and an attempt was made to drive the men from the north from their position. Notwithstanding the fire from the machine guns, detachments of the northern revolutionists made several attacks on General Firmin's followers and the latter were eventually dislodged.

In the meantime the vessels under the command of Admiral Killick were bombarding Cape Haytien. This action was taken without previously having notified the foreign consuls here. There was a lively rain of shots down the streets of Cape Haytien all day long. The firing was particularly heavy be ween noon and 2 o'clock and between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At the moment of filing this dispatch the foreign consuls, under the protection of their various flags, are with General Firmin and are about to embark on the government gunboat Cretea-Pierot. They are under a rather heavy fire and in considerable danger.

The foreign residents of this port are at present exposed to the lawlessness and savagery of the combatants.

Deep regret is expressed that no warship of a foreign power is in the harbor at present to afford protection to foreign Great excitement reigns here and as

"Stars" and "Goats" at West Point. In the early days of the United States Military academy at West Point the men who stood high in the graduating class were called "stars," and the first ave names on the list of graduates have always been made onspicuous by having a star placed ifter them. The men who are less fortunate and who stand nearest the other end of the class are known as "goats.' The des-

Some years ago a member of the graduating class learned that he would be in the "immortal" section, and, wishing to spare his parents the chagrin of seeing him among the "low men," he telegraphed to his father, "Chances are I shall be an immortal," thinking that the term would be under-

Poison In Parsnips.

It is a curious fact that the common edible parsnip-Pastinaca sativawhen allowed to run wild becomes a skin poison, acting upon the cuticle somewhat after the manner of Rhus toxicodendron. Another peculiar fact is that it is especially poisonous when the dew is upon it, though when dry it is said to be perfectly safe. It produces in the former condition quite a smart rash.

Some years ago in a poisoning case which proved fatal the doctor in attendance kept the parsnips, regarding the identity of which there could be no doubt, as they contained the tooth marks of those who had eaten them. He subsequently planted them, and they grew to be the real garden parsnip. Just why these transformations from poisonous to nonpoisonous should take place has not as yet been made

Character In Laughter.

Clearly a person's character is shown by the manner in which he laughs, or, rather, by the sound which he makes, it is maintained by a European psychologist. The following, according to him, are unerring indications:

"Those who laugh in 'A' or who make a sound like 'A' are frank, loyal and fond of bustle and movement and are generally of a versatile character. "Those who laugh in 'E' are phlegmatic and melancholy. "Those who laugh in 'I,' as most children do, are timid, irresolute, candid, affectionate and ever ready to work for
